LIGHT UP LEXINGTON was held Monday, Nov. 30 in the Village of Lexington. Santa (Dan Werner) made his way through the streets to visit with area residents. Among those he visited with were Addison and Brody Schroeder. (See more photos on page 4).

Libraries switch to curbside service

Mansfield/Richland County Public Library (MRCPL) has shut down facilities to the public and reverted to curbside service due to the rising number of COVID-19 cases.

Until further notice, MRCPL will no longer be open to the public and will revert to curbside service only at all nine locations. This went into effect Monday, Dec. 7.

Curbside service will be available Monday through Thursday, 10 am to 6 pm, Friday, 10 am to 5 pm, and Saturday, 10 am to 2 pm.

Additionally, lobby services at First Call 211 will move to curbside service only Monday through Friday, 9 am to 4 pm. The 24/7 2-1-1 hotline is always available to assist residents of Richland County.

“Out of an abundance of caution, we are closing our locations for walk-in service. After continuous conversation with Richland Public Health, we feel this is the best way to move forward as we prioritize the health and safety of our staff and community,” said Chris May, library director.

“Any customers with materials already on hold can pick them up via convenient curbside pick-up at any of our locations. Customers may continue to request materials online or over the phone directly from their preferred branch. Wifi service remains accessible in all branch parking lots.”

MRCPL encourages patrons to visit their website to take advantage of virtual programs, take-home craft kits for all ages and to utilize digital services.

Toy collection continues through Dec. 14

Springfield Township Fire/EMS, Ontario City Police and Crestline Police and fire have announced a partnership for a toy drive this holiday season.

Residents can drop off items at fire stations in Springfield Township/Ontario, 3700 Park Avenue or 400 Lexington-Springmill; the Ontario Police Department on Stumbo Rd. or at the Crestline safety buildings.

Items will be collected at the Ontario locations until Dec. 14.

The Ontario Menards store is also serving as a dropoff site. A box is located at the exit door. The new, unwrapped toys will be donated locally.

Red Cross schedules bloodmobiles

December may be the season of giving — but it’s typically a challenging time to collect enough blood donations. Add in a pandemic, and this year could be even tougher than usual. That’s why the American Red Cross is urging those who are feeling well to give the gift of life by donating blood this holiday season.

The need for blood doesn’t stop for holidays. Between Thanksgiving and Christmas, more than 1 million blood transfusions will be given in the United States. Donations of all blood types are needed to ensure hospital shelves remain stocked to meet patient blood needs.

Make an appointment to give blood, platelets or plasma with the Red Cross by downloading the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org, calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or enabling the Blood Donor Skill on any Alexa Echo device.

To encourage donations this holiday season, those who come to donate blood, platelets or plasma with the Red Cross Dec. 18–Jan. 4 will receive a long-sleeved Red Cross t-shirt, while supplies last.

Bloodmobiles will be held: Wednesday, Dec. 16, 1–7 pm, Richland Mall RSMO, 2209 Richland Mall, Ontario; and 2–7 pm, Planktown Country Market,

1921 Free Rd., Shiloh
Friday, Dec. 18, 10 am to 3 pm, YMCA, 750 Scholl Rd., Mansfield

Sunday, Dec. 20, 11 am to 5 pm, Richland Mall RSMO, 2209 Richland Mall, Ontario

Thursday, Dec. 24, 9 am to 3 pm, Richland Mall, 2209 Richland Mall, Ontario

Tuesday, Dec. 29, 8 am to 1 pm, Shelby YMCA, 111 W. Smiley Rd., Shelby

Wednesday, Dec. 30, 1–7 pm, Richland Mall RSMO, 2209 Richland Mall

Monday, Jan. 4, 1–6 pm, Belmont Community Church, 1119 Belmont Ave., Mansfield

As COVID-19 hospitalizations increase, hospital demand for convalescent plasma has also grown. COVID-19 convalescent plasma is a type of blood donation given by those who’ve recovered from this coronavirus. Their plasma contains antibodies that may help patients actively fighting the virus. Learn more about convalescent plasma and sign up to give at RedCrossBlood.org/Plasma4COVID.

The Red Cross is testing blood, platelet and plasma donations for COVID-19 antibodies. The test may indicate if the donor’s immune system has produced antibodies to this coronavirus, regardless of whether an individual developed COVID-

The Entertainment Examiner

By Ian Stumbo

Mank, directed by David Fincher who also made such great films as The Social Network, Seven and Fight Club, tells the story of the classic film Citizen Kane told through its writer Herman J. Mankiewicz. He is played in another great performance by Gary Oldman, as the writer and is asked in the last years of his career and with his alcoholism at its height, to write what has become to many, the greatest film ever made.

Filmed in beautiful black and white, Fincher tells the main part of the story at a ranch in California after Mank, as he is known, suffers and injury and is mainly bed ridden writing this script with the help of a secretary (Lily Collins). Much of this story is told through flashbacks of Mank's life at different points in Hollywood, his association with MGM head Louis B. Mayer (Arless Howard) and becoming close friends with William Randolph Hearst's mistress (Charles Dance) Marion (Amanda Seyfried). Hearst was the main inspiration for Citizen Kane.

Oldman is one of our greatest actors, winning an Oscar a couple years ago for brilliantly playing Winston Churchill in Darkest Hour. He gives Mank such charm, wit and humor and shows a man who realizes he has written the best thing in his career yet facing his own personal demons. Oldman and Seyfried are great in their scenes together and much of this movie, from the opening to end credits, feels like something out of Old Hollywood.

Mank ended up being a movie that was more appreciated than loved. The movie was beautiful to look at and gave a lot of good history about the time in which it was set, including many elements that ended up inspiring Citizen Kane. The flashbacks took away at times from the forward movement of the story and were difficult to keep track of.

Despite this, the movie was more engaging than not, had assured direction and great performances. This movie is more for people who are interested in this period in Hollywood and in the making of Citizen Kane itself but more casual viewers may get something out of it too.

Renaissance cancels December lineup

Renaissance Performing Arts has canceled all December events amidst the rising numbers of Covid-19 throughout the community. Although the Renaissance has a thorough safety plan in place for its patrons, performers, volunteers, and staff, it believes these cancellations are in the best interest of the community.

The remaining events affected by the cancellation are Winter Wonderland Showcase on Dec. 12, and the Mansfield Symphony Orchestra's Holiday Pops concert on Dec. 19 and 20. Ticketholders for canceled shows will be contacted directly by the box office to arrange alternative options for their purchase.

Renaissance President, Chelsie Thompson, stated, "As heartbreaking as it is to forgo these events that are deep holiday traditions for so many, our community comes first and this is the best way that we can do our part in this once-in-a-lifetime year." When asked about future programming, Thompson commented, "We still want to bring joy to our community even if we can't do it in person, so we have a little holiday magic up our sleeves still. Stay tuned!"

The Renaissance is in planning for upcoming virtual events, which will be announced on the Renaissance website at www.RenTickets.org and social media platforms. For questions, or updates, please visit the Renaissance Facebook page, @RenTheatre, or contact the box office at 419-522-2726.

DAN FURHER'S father bought the first experimental Templeton manure loader after his borrowed tractor was returned. He used it for years.

THE LATE DAN FURHER was still using his Templeton Loader for more than 50 years after the company went out of business.

The "Super Duper Pooper Scooper"

By Bob Carter

Farm work is always labor-intensive. Cleaning manure out of a livestock barn was a most unpleasant chore for a man of the soil.

Bill Templeton came from a large farm in Pennsylvania and bought an old factory building on Plymouth St., in Lexington.

Although not an engineer, he was smart enough to design a hydraulic loader for farm tractors. It was just what farmers would need to clean out barns and perform other lifting chores around the farm.

Templeton didn't have much when he started. He didn't even have a tractor, so he borrowed one from the Furher Farm south of town.

Templeton was partnered with Jim Gorman when they were in the potato farming business near Bellville. That's where he met Furher.

His self-designed loader caught on and soon he was selling them all over Ohio and neighboring states.

Nineteen year-old Gene Wirick became the first salesman for Bill and traveled the country demonstrating and selling the loaders.

Bill's next design was a heavy-duty manure spreader. A few are still in service today, after more than 60 years.

The Allis Chalmers company offered a contact to build loaders which were painted Allis Chalmers orange. Bill refused the change (his were yellow) and they were sent elsewhere. That, and with a divorce from his wife who had owned the Pennsylvania farm money, ended the company sometime around 1954.

She was formerly both President and treasurer of the United Methodist Women (UMW) and a Sunday school teacher for over 50 years. Avalon also served on the Board of the Ontario Senior Center.

19 symptoms.

Red Cross antibody tests will be helpful to identify individuals who have COVID-19 antibodies and may now help current coronavirus patients in need of convalescent plasma transfusions.

Convalescent plasma is a type of blood donation collected from COVID-19 survivors that have antibodies that may help patients who are actively fighting the virus.

COVID-19 antibody test results will be available within one to two weeks in the Red Cross Blood Donor App or donor portal at RedCrossBlood.org.

A positive antibody test result does not confirm infection or immunity. The Red Cross is not testing donors to diagnose illness, referred to as a diagnostic test. To protect the health and safety of Red Cross staff and donors, it is important that individuals who do not feel well or believe they may be ill with COVID-19 postpone donation.

Each Red Cross blood drive and donation center follows standards of safety and infection control, and uses additional precautions including temperature checks, social distancing and face coverings for donors and staff.

Donors are asked to schedule an appointment prior to arriving at the drive and are required to wear a face covering or mask while at the drive, in alignment with Centers for Disease Control and Prevention public guidance.

National Wreaths Across America Day is Saturday, Dec. 19

Wreaths Across America (WAA), is a national non-profit whose Mission to remember, honor and teach, is in part carried out with the placement of sponsored veterans' wreaths at 2,500 participating locations across America, most notably, at Arlington National Cemetery, each December. Another highly anticipated piece of this annual event is the weeklong, miles-long parade of tractor trailers, wrapped vehicles carrying veterans and Gold Star Families, law enforcement and motorcycle riders, leading the escort of wreaths to Arlington for placement.

This year's annual escort of wreaths will have a different look and feel due to the necessary changes being made throughout the country for health and safety. The physical journey – which will include one tractor trailer load of wreaths hauled by Gully Transportation professional driver JD Walker, who is also a Gold Star Father and NAVY Veteran, 11 wrapped CHEVY vehicles carrying Gold Star Families, and nine police cruisers – will take place from Tuesday, Dec. 15, through National Wreaths Across America Day, Saturday, Dec. 19.

"For those who have had the opportunity to participate in the escort of wreaths over the years, it is truly an experience of a lifetime," said Karen Worcester, executive director, WAA. "The way we have been welcomed into communities, over the years, with flags waving and streets lined with children and veterans, is something we always wished every American could witness. And now, thanks to PenFed's support, we'll be able to offer this incredible journey to all those who wish to participate. We are both grateful and excited to safely share the mission with all who want to participate."

This year's escort will also be shared virtually for the nation to join along from the safety of their own homes. During the escort and leading up to its departure, viewers can follow along, learning about the mission and hearing stories from the people it impacts on Wreaths Across America's Facebook and PenFed's Twitter, Facebook, Instagram, YouTube and LinkedIn pages. The WAA escort will travel the route below – the nonprofit is asking Americans to plan to come out and wave your flags, share your signs and cheers of encouragement, as it travels through the communities.

The virtual event will be held Friday, Dec. 18, 6:30–8:30 pm.

PenFed Digital is the only group following Wreaths Across America's escort from Maine, where the wreaths are assembled, to the laying of the wreaths at Arlington National Cemetery and around the entire country.

Anyone can sponsor a wreath for $15 at <https://www.wreathscrossamerica.org/>.

Each sponsorship goes toward a fresh balsam veteran's wreath that will be placed on the headstone of an American hero as we endeavor to honor all veterans laid to rest on Saturday, Dec. 19, as part of National Wreaths Across America Day. Text WREATH to 20222 to sponsor a wreath for Arlington National Cemetery right from your phone.

By Ethan Staley, Clear Fork FFA

This fall, the Clear Fork FFA Chapter from Bellville has been very well represented in the show ring at a national level.

In October, four of our members made their way out to the American Royal in Kansas City. Savannah Harriman and her brothers Hayden and Logan represented us very well competing with their market lambs and placing very well.

Also, they have competed at many jackpots with their lambs even winning their breeds.

Colton Boyer has built a small herd of Herefords over the past few years for his SAE (Supervised Agricultural Experience). This year he raised a few heifers of his own and wanted to see where they would rank in the country so he took them to the American Royal to compete.

Then in November several more of our members made their way to the North American International Livestock Exposition in Louisville, KY. Caroline Tilton has been exhibiting cattle at the North American for a few years now. With her shorthorn heifer she was able to be prized with her Bred and Owned Division Champion.

On the sheep end of the North American facilities, Luke Raudebaugh had his Shropshires. He has been raising sheep for six years. His sheep placed at the top end of their classes. Ethan and Dawson Staley exhibited their spring born ram "X-Factor". They were crowned with Grand Champion overall Katahdin Ram of the North American.

FFA makes 2020 changes

By Ethan Staley

This year, doing the vegetable table for the Bellville Street Fair was a little different due to the given circumstances. Luckily we were still able to put up a very nice table. This year the theme was to educate people about what FFA really is. The junior and senior members of the FFA worked very hard to get everything prepared for the table. We were very fortunate to still have the opportunity to set up the table for the community and to advocate what FFA is all about. We got first in the judging contest and are looking forward to next year's street fair!

Good news. Rates just got lower.

FCC allocates over $170 million to expand broadband access

U.S. Sen. Sherrod Brown applauded an announcement by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) that it will invest $170,038,205 to expand broadband access to more than 400,000 rural Ohioans. The FCC today announced the results of its auction of investments to companies that will expand access to broadband in Ohio, including rural and underserved communities that have long been pushing for greater broadband infrastructure.

Brown introduced legislation with Sen.

Rob Portman (R-OH) earlier this year, the Rural Broadband Acceleration Act, that would speed up the process of getting these types of investments from the FCC to Ohio communities faster.

"By expanding access to broadband internet, we can make it easier for Ohioans to make a living, learn online and keep in touch with loved ones," said Brown. "Especially now, amid the COVID-19 pandemic, connectivity is more important than ever. Today's announcement is good news for our state and our ability to remain connected."

In July, Brown introduced legislation to make sure Ohio students have reliable broadband internet during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Ohioans who live in low-income areas are too often at an economic and educational disadvantage due to little or no access to reliable broadband internet service. Addressing this disparity is critically important now when so many Ohio schools are announcing they will begin the school year with e-learning in place.

KCCC Preschool receives Step Up To Quality Five-Star rating

The Knox County Career Center Preschool has been awarded the Step Up to Quality (SUTQ) five-star rating for the sixth straight year from the Ohio Department of Education.

SUTQ is a five-star quality rating and improvement system administered by the Ohio Department of Education and the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services. SUTQ recognizes and promotes learning and development programs that meet quality program standards that exceed preschool licensing and school-age child care licensing health and safety regulations. SUTQ program standards are based on national research identifying standards which lead to improved outcomes for children.

All Early Childhood (ECE) and Preschool Special Education (PSE) programs funded by the Ohio Department of Education (ODE) are mandated to participate in SUTQ and are required to achieve a rating of 3, 4, or 5 to maintain state funding, as well as administer and report on the Early Learning Assessment for all ECE and PSE funded children.

Jeremi Jarosz, KCCC Preschool Director, said, "I am very grateful to an administration team who has supported the preschool and my staff in maintaining our five-star rating. There are many requirements that go into maintaining the highest level. We need to fulfill many requirements, including education of staff, smaller teacher to student ratios, ongoing education, utilizing specific curriculum, and completing the Early Learning Assessment." Jarosz added, "Every year we have to submit the required documentation. This year, we also had an onsite visit to make sure we are doing everything we say we do."

CACY gives tips for preventing and dealing with cyberbullying

Many schools are virtual and youth are spending more time online for academics and interacting with their peers. This unprecedented time has the potential to increase cyberbullying behavior. Cyberbullying is using a form of technology to intentionally hurt or harm someone else.

Community Action for Capale Youth (CACY) has released some tips and information if faced with a cyberbullying problem.

What can parents do?

Start talking with your child about what cyberbullying is and how to handle it if it happens to them or if they witness it. Keep the use of the computer in an open room where visible.

If your child is cyberbullied through online schooling, contact your child's school. If they are cyberbullied on a social networking site, check the site for ways to report/ block. Remind your child that they are not alone and together you will find a solution.

What can teachers do?

Always promote a respectful environment. Know the signs of cyberbullying and be on the lookout for them during virtual learning. Is the student withdrawing?

Are their grades suddenly dropping? Are they not joining live classes? Let students know it's okay to report this kind of behavior to you. Implement the school's anti-bullying policies even in a virtual environment.

What should students do?

If a student is being cyberbullied or witnesses it, encourage them to tell a trusted adult. If happening during school, reach out to the teacher. Take a screenshot or picture of the incident or save the messages to show an adult.

For more information visit www.pacer.org/bullying/.

Holiday Fair continues at Mansfield Art Center

The Mansfield Art Center is currently presenting the 51st Holiday Fair showcasing the area's local artists and artisans and their unique gifts. The theme this year is "Making Spirits Bright" to bring a fresh joyous spirit to the community in these trying times.

Traditionally, the kickoff for Holiday Fair is the Preview Party. Having to buck that tradition this year to keep everyone safe, the art center is offering a "Let's Wine About a No Preview Party" Swag Bag for a $50 donation sponsored by Park National Bank. The bag will include a handmade limited edition glass ornament from the art center glass studio.

From the stunning art in the Upper Gallery and Gallery Shop to the "Art to Go" craft kits for kids in the Foundation Gallery, attendees will find fine art, fine crafts, jewelry and unique gifts for their holiday shopping.

A new feature this year will be hand blown glass ornaments and items from the ceramic and glass studio. Many local Ohio artists will be featured as well as merchandise selected by the art center's buyers.

"This is an opportunity to shop for unique and one-of-a-kind gifts at the local level," according to George Whitten, executive director.

"Womens Day Into Evening Event" will be held during the Holiday Fair open to all women in the community on Thursday, Dec. 10, from 2-8 pm. This is a free event sponsored by the Richland County Foundation Women's Fund with a percentage of sales proceeds going to the Richland County Foundation Women's Fund. The Holiday Fair is sponsored by Michelle and Jeremy Swank of Strategic Wealth Management and runs until Dec. 30.

With the new art education wing completed as well as the new Pavilion, the Mansfield Art Center is running a variety of classes and workshops for all age groups and skill levels in our existing art education wing and ceramic and glass studio.

"We are working diligently to follow our mission to enrich the lives of all children, families, and adults, through the arts," said Susan Gentile, marketing/development director.

The Mansfield Art Center is at 700 Marion Ave., Mansfield, Ohio. Holiday hours are Sunday, Tuesday and Wednesday 11 am to 5 pm; Thursday, Friday and Saturday 11 am to 6 pm; closed on Mondays.

Visit mansfieldartcenter.org for more information on classes and the holiday fair.

As many schools turn to and continue remote learning, we ask that parents and caregivers send photos of online schooling. This can include art projects, desk decorating and anything students are enjoying during home learning.

EQUIP deadline is January 15

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) announced Friday, January 15, 2021, as the deadline to submit applications for Ohio's Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP).

EQIP is a voluntary conservation program which helps producers make conservation work for them. NRCS provides agricultural producers with financial resources and one-on-one help to plan and implement improvements, or what NRCS calls conservation practices. Using these practices can lead to cleaner water and air, healthier soil and better wildlife habitat, all while improving agricultural operations. Through EQIP, you can voluntarily implement conservation practices, and NRCS co-invests in these practices with you. Together, NRCS and producers invest in solutions that conserve natural resources for the future while also improving agricultural operations.

Financial assistance is now available in a variety of agricultural categories such as cropland, pasture operations, and organic. Several special projects are also available which address water quality, forestry management, improving pollinator populations and wildlife habitat, pasture improvements and many more.

Applicants should be farmers, or farm or forest landowners and meet eligibility criteria. To participate in USDA conservation programs, contact your local NRCS conservationist as soon as possible. Be sure to check the status of your Service Center when you reach out to us. For offices with restrictions on in-person appointments, we are still available by phone, email, and through other digital tools. Your Service Center's status is available at <https://www.farmers.gov/coronavirus/service-center-status>.

Applications signed and submitted to NRCS by the January 15 deadline will be evaluated for fiscal year 2021 funding. Visit Ohio NRCS website under "EQIP Funding Categories" for more details. To learn more about EQIP or other technical and financial assistance available through NRCS conservation programs, visit Get Started with NRCS or contact your local USDA Service Center.

AU, NCSC sign agreements to form new transfer opportunities

Representatives from Ashland University and North Central State College met virtually Monday morning to sign two new articulation agreements that formalize two new transfer opportunities for NC State Graduates to complete their Bachelor's Degrees at Ashland University.

AU Provost Dr. Amiel Jarstfer and North Central Vice President of Academic Services and Chief Academic Officer Dr. Karen Reed formalized agreements that will allow for a seamless transition for NCSC students who have an Associate of Arts with a Psychology focus to complete either AU's Bachelor of Science, or Bachelor of Arts, degree in Psychology.

In addition, NC State graduates with their Associate of Business, majoring in Visual Communication Media and Technology-Graphic Design can now transfer to Ashland University to complete a Bachelor of Arts with a major in Fine Arts with a Graphic Design Studio concentration.

"NCSC students enjoy going to Ashland University," Reed said, "and this makes their trip so much easier... I'm just grateful. Truly, we have so much to be thankful for."

AU Art and Design Department Chair Dr. Dan McDonald said his department recently welcomed an NCSC student and looks forward to being able to use the articulation agreement to make the transition smoother and more streamlined. "I am excited to see what these students will bring to the program, and this agreement makes their transition seamless," he said.

"Ashland University is one of our closest, strongest partners," said NC State Dean of Liberal Arts Deb Hysell. "I am looking forward to sending many more students to AU to continue their studies."

RPH issues toy buying guidelines

Christmas is a time especially for children, and for children this means toys. Each year, more than 3 billion toys and games are sold in the United States with 65 percent of these sales occurring between Thanksgiving and the day before Christmas.

Although toys are fun and educational, they can be dangerous. Poorly designed and constructed toys, or toys that are inappropriate for your child's level of development can cause serious injury, and in some cases, death.

Richland Public Health and Safe Kids USA offer the following tips and suggestions:

If there is an age warning, stick to the recommendation. Do not buy "older" toys for young children.

Remember that young children may be especially vulnerable to choking on small parts and toys containing these should be avoided when buying for this group.

There are various things you can check on the toy:

- sharp edges or hidden spikes
- loose facial features, wheels, tires and other small parts: These should be securely fixed to the toy
- secure seams: if the stuffing is accessible, a child could choke on it
- any cord on a pull along toy should be at least 1.5 mm thick
- any holes or gaps into which children could put their fingers and suffer harm from the mechanical parts inside
- brittle plastic which could shatter into small sharp pieces
- folding mechanisms: How much damage would they do if a child's finger were caught in them?

Richland Public Health cautions that items with painted surfaces may contain lead paint. Consumers should sign up to receive products recalls with the Consumer Product Safety Commission at www.cpsc.gov.

For questions or concerns about lead paint in toys, call Environmental Health at Richland Public Health, 419-774-4520.
