The Entertainment Examiner

By Ian Stumbo

Judas and the Black Messiah is a terrific new film based on a true story now streaming until the middle of the month on HBO Max and also in theaters where it will continue.

Daniel Kaluuya, who gave an Oscar nominated turn in the thriller Get Out, gives his best performance as Black Panther chairman Fred Hampton.

In 1968, Hampton leads the party out of Chicago recruiting people to their thinking and their organization. The FBI has been tracking them for a long time and when a car thief poses as an agent, the thief, William O'Neal (LaKeith Stanfield) is told he will not have to serve his sentence if he infiltrates himself with Hampton and becomes an informant.

The most interesting history movies to me are history that I did not live through, though not all history makes great movies. Thankfully, this movie does as co-writer/director Shaka King moves this story along with ease.

The movie builds and builds to its conclusion and is also very relevant to many ideas and current events from today.

Stanfield is in more of the film, and is also great, but Kaluuya electrifies and demands attention.

From the first scene in a small location trying to recruit members and meeting his girlfriend Deborah (Dominique Fishback) to a big speech he makes to different groups of people who have joined them, Kaluuya really becomes this character and should be given Oscar consideration if not be the front runner.

This is a great movie to watch if the events of the movie are unknown to you or you are a fan of recent history. The performances from the two leads, Fishback, Jesse Plemons as the FBI agent and a very makeup heavy Martin Sheen as J. Edgar Hoover, are well done. King writes an engaging story and makes these characters interesting as well which is so important to this movies success. This movie is so well done and definitely a must see.

Richland Academy extends closure to Feb. 21

The Richland Academy of the Arts Board of Directors and Executive Committee have decided under the guidance of the Richland County Health Department to extend the closure of RAA through Sunday, Feb. 21 because of COVID-19.

Richland Academy will be extending the Spring Semester into June to ensure that all classes and lessons will be made up.

All classes and lessons are tentatively scheduled to resume Monday, Feb. 22. Some private music instructors may opt to resume lessons in an online format until the academy can safely re-open.

Because of the Ohio Arts Council Cares Funds and the generosity of MG Energy, Richland Academy has been fortunate to have installed needlepoint bipolar ionization units throughout the facility to upgrade indoor air quality and to fight the spread of COVID-19.

In addition, the academy has invested in a new disinfectant sprayer where surfaces throughout the building are disinfected with the same disinfectant solution used in hospitals.

The academy will continue their deep cleaning procedures through the closure. Anyone with questions or comments can reach out by email to frontdesk@richlandacademy.com.

For more information on things happening at Richland Academy, or on financial assistance options, call Richland Academy at 419-522-8224 or visit www.richlandacademy.com.

The academy is located at the corner of 4th and Walnut St. It was founded in 1991 and is supported by the Ohio Arts Council.

Tracy's Chicken & Roasted Butternut Squash Soup

Ingredients

- Butternut squash, cubed
- Chicken broth, 64 ounces
- 3 carrots
- 3 celery sticks
- 1 medium onion
- 2 cloves of garlic
- 1-2 cups heavy cream
- 1 cup white wine
- 2 chicken breasts
- Jalapeno pepper
- 2 tsp. chopped sage, fresh

Instructions

Peel butternut squash and cube. Cut carrots, celery and onion into approximately the same size as the squash cubes. Toss vegetables with olive oil and put on a baking sheet in a 350° oven and roast until cooked thoroughly. While the vegetables are roasting, cut up the chicken and cover with salt and pepper. Either fry in a pan or place on a baking sheet and put into the oven along with the vegetables. Roast the jalapeno and remove the skin and chop, set aside. When the vegetables are done, add them to a soup pot with broth, wine and chicken and bring to a boil. Lower the heat and slowly add cream to desired consistency. Add jalapeno and sage and serve.

If preferred, this can be kept meatless. Use vegetable broth and omit the chicken.

Local author's book now available

CrossRiver Media has announced its newest book, An Unnatural Beauty: Rediscovering the Beauty of Holiness, by M. Esther Lovejoy.

Lovejoy, a Mansfield resident and participant in the Asbury Revival at Asbury Theological Seminary, guides readers back to a scriptural understanding of holiness, revealing that holiness is not a what, but a glorious Who.

The Bible tells believers to be holy, but it seems an impossible task.

"Living a life of holiness is not optional or impossible. An Unnatural Beauty is a must read for every Christian who longs to reflect God's character through all they say and do," says Marlene Bagnall, author and conference director of Colorado Christian Writers Conference and Greater Philadelphia Writers Conference.

An Unnatural Beauty: Rediscovering the Beauty of Holiness (ISBN: 978-1-936501-55-7, $9.99) released Feb. 11 and is available from CrossRiverMedia.com and on Amazon. Filled with relatable stories and foundational principles, readers will discover the path to a deeper, more intimate relationship with God.

"Holiness is not an endless list of 'thou shalt not's.' With simplicity and warmth, Esther Lovejoy presents her case for holiness in the life of all Christians," said Timothy C. Tennent, president of Asbury Theological Seminary.

"This is not an impossible standard set by a demanding God, but rather the result of a response to God's own invitation to share in His divine nature."

Reverend John Kitchen, author and international pastor said, "You won't be bogged down in theory, rhetoric and debate. You will discover how to pursue the Holy One and to reflect the beauty of His holiness to those around you."

CrossRiver Media says it is pleased to publish a book that will lead readers back to a scriptural understanding of holiness and help them ignite and grow their faith. Readers will be saying, "This is the next book my Bible study class will be doing."

MAXWELL'S GARAGE brick building is where the great 1929 fire started. Almost half of Lexington's businesses were lost.

LOOKING WEST, only the barns on Short St. were saved. The village had no real fire department until after WWII.

The Big Fire of 1929

By Bob Carter

Lexington at one time had a reputation of not doing things until it was too late. Fire protection was one subject that would haunt the village for many decades.

When a devastating fire in 1885 wiped out the south side of E. Main St., Lexington had no fire department, only a bucket brigade.

A call to Mansfield for help resulted in a steam-fired fire pumper being shipped by railcar after a delay finding an engine to pull it over. It arrived too late as every building was already lost.

In 1907, the three-story candy factory caught fire and again the town had little fire equipment. A large crowd eating salvaged Carmel watched as rats ran out of the flames.

A fire burned two houses on Delaware St., and finally resulted in the town buying its first fire wagon buggy with a hand-powered pump. It cost a whopping $98 and proved inadequate when the three-story Beverstock-Cockley Mill burned in 1917. The loss was estimated at $200,000, which was big money in that era.

The last downtown fire was in 1929, when a major fire wiped out most of the north side of downtown, West Main St.

When two young boys noticed smoke coming from Maxwell's Garage on a Saturday evening, the church bells were rung — which at the time was the fire alarm.

A call to Mansfield for help was too little, too late and by 7 am Sunday morning, the north side of Main St. was gone.

Lexington had no public water system and the out-of-control fire burned down everything from the town square to the site of the present city building. Lexington would not have a water system until 1934 with WPA labor.

Hospice of NCO receives grant

The trustees of the Mohican Area Community Fund have approved a grant in the amount of $1,000 for Hospice of North Central Ohio. The grant is made possible through the successful completion of MACF's annual fund-raising campaign which provides support to local charities and non-profit organizations which serve the Greater Mohican community.

The grant will be used to support HNCO's "Camp Hope" children's bereavement camp. The four-day camp is held annually in June for children ages 6-17 at Pleasant Hill campgrounds.

HNCO created "Camp Hope" in 1996 to address a growing need to provide grieving children in the area with a safe and supportive environment to express their feelings and share their story. Since its inception, "Camp Hope" has served the needs of over 1,000 grieving children who have experienced the loss of a loved one through death.

Ralph Tomassi, HNCO's Chief Development Officer stated in a prepared statement: "this grant will have an immediate impact on supporting the work of a dedicated team of professional staff and trained volunteers who help facilitate this special camp. HNCO could not provide "Camp Hope" free-of-charge without the generous support of charitable gifts and grants. We are certainly grateful for the continued support of the MACF."

Hospice of North Central Ohio has served thousands of families with compassionate end-of-life and Palliative care, bereavement programs and services since 1988. Headquartered at 1021 Dauch Dr., Ashland, Hospice of NCO serves more than 200 patients daily in Ashland, Crawford, Huron, Knox, Morrow and Richland counties who are living with chronic and terminal illnesses. Free continuous bereavement services are provided for hundreds of families of hospice patients and to anyone in the community experiencing grief. Call 800-952-2207 for more information.

St. Peter's School announces 2021-'22 tuition freeze and new AfterCare program

St. Peter's Catholic School announced that the school is freezing tuition rates for the 2021-'22 school year, the fourth consecutive year of no tuition increases, along with the launch of a new afterschool program for elementary students with working parents.

"Our goal is always to keep access to a high-quality Catholic education affordable for families in North Central Ohio," said Father Gregory Hite, local superintendent of St. Peter's School. "Not increasing tuition rates next fall will provide relief to many of our families impacted by COVID-19."

In addition to a tuition freeze, recent changes to the Ohio EdChoice Scholarship program will allow more families to receive a scholarship and financial aid to attend a school of their choice.

"That state legislature last year increased the income eligibility limit to 250% of the Federal Poverty Level for income-based scholarships," said Jason Crundwell, St. Peter's School Director of Marketing. "This means that a family of four making less than $66,000/year will qualify for a $4,600 scholarship for students in grades K-8 and a $6,000 scholarship for students in grades 9-12."

Crundwell also said that families making more than 250% of the Federal Poverty

Level could apply for traditional financial aid and scholarships through the school.

"We will work with families to find a financial plan that is equitable if they desire a high-quality education for their family," Crundwell said.

The Little Spartans AfterCare program will provide afterschool childcare for students in grades K-6 attending St. Peter's School. The program will provide a successful and safe environment for children where they will be able to play, complete homework, and take part in other stimulating activities.

"An after school program was one of the most requested items from parents in our school's strategic plan for the future," said Father Hite. "I'm happy that our administration has created a model that will provide an on-campus option for working parents."

Little Spartans AfterCare program will run from 3-5:30 pm each day after school. Space will be limited.

Due to COVID-19, St. Peter's will not have a traditional Open House this year but is offering prospective families the chance to tour the school on an individual basis. For more information visit www.mansfieldstpeters.org/school or call 419-524-2572 x2125 to schedule a visit.

THE ACADEMIC CHALLENGE TEAM at Ontario Middle School is getting a late start this year due to COVID. Thirteen students tried out for one of the eight places on Ontario's Middle School team. Snyder named 2020 Richland County Junior Fair Queen

Natalie Snyder, 2018-'19 Plymouth FFA President, was named 2020 Richland County Junior Fair Queen this past August.

Snyder started showing horses at the Richland County Fair through the Richland County Wranglers 4-H Club as a Clover Bud in open shows at the age of five.

"My first pony I ever took to the fair would listen to the announcer when they would say walk and trot, stop and back so all I had to do was sit there and hold on," recalled Snyder. "Then I started showing goats and it was a crazy adventure at first, but definitely one of my favorites. Taking animals taught me so much about responsibility and time management."

She has served as the Richland County Wranglers 4-H Club President for the past five years. Snyder explains how for the past two years she has been working closely with the younger members teaching them how parliamentary procedure works, studying questions for book judging and so much more. "My start in 4-H shaped me into the person I needed to be for my leadership role in FFA."

Snyder started FFA her freshmen year of high school at Plymouth in 2015. She was a part of the forestry soils, and equine teams, participated in the Job Interview and Public Speaking CDE where she placed at the state level multiple times. Although she joined 4-H at a young age, she was a part of the 4-H atmosphere for even longer.

"I was born and raised in Richland County, attending the fair for as long as I could remember and even before then," said Snyder.

"My 4-H advisor likes to tell me a story of how she was holding me at my first 4-H meeting just weeks old, and how I have never missed a meeting since."

"Joining FFA and 4-H and taking leadership roles brought me to where I am today. I am currently studying agricultural communications at The Ohio State University Agricultural Technical Institute (ATI) in Wooster.

"I plan on graduating with my associates in Agricultural Communications in the summer of 2021, and then I'll be going onto graphic design school and also study web design. I am so excited to see what the future has in store for me, but I am also super excited to represent Richland County this coming year as the Junior Fair Queen and Horse ambassador, both things I have been working towards for such a long time."

"I can't thank my friends, family, fellow exhibitors, 4-H and FFA advisors, and so many more people I could name.

I am so excited for this new journey and hope fairs will be in full swing in 2021 as I proudly represent our county."

Snyder's 2020 Junior Fair projects were Pen of Market Broilers, Pen of Market Rabbits (first place in the meat class, first place in the showmanship class, fourth place in pro showmanship), 2020 horse project and Rm's Chips of Chocolate.

February 18, 1930— Pluto, once believed to be the ninth planet, is discovered at the Lowell Observatory in Flagstaff, Arizona, by astronomer Clyde W. Tombaugh. The existence of an unknown ninth planet was first proposed by Percival Lowell, who theorized that wobbles in the orbits of Uranus and Neptune were caused by the gravitational pull of an unknown planetary body. Lowell calculated the approximate location and searched for more than a decade without success. In 1929, using the calculations of Lowell and W.H. Pickering as a guide, the search for Pluto was resumed at the Lowell Observatory. On Feb. 18, 1930, Tombaugh discovered the tiny, distant planet by use of a new astronomic technique of photographic plates combined with a blink microscope. His finding was confirmed by several other astronomers, and announced on March 13, 1930, the anniversary of Lowell's birth and of William Herschel's discovery of Uranus. The surface temperature is estimated at approximately -360 Fahrenheit and the average distance from the sun is nearly four billion miles. It takes approximately 248 years to complete one orbit. It also has the most elliptical and tilted orbit of any planet, and at its closest point to the sun it passes inside the orbit of Neptune. After its discovery, some astronomers questioned whether Pluto had sufficient mass to affect the orbits of Uranus and Neptune. In 1978, James Christy and Robert Harrington discovered Pluto's only known moon, Charon, which was determined to have a diameter of 737 miles to Pluto's 1,428 miles. Together, it was thought that Pluto and Charon formed a double-planet system, which was of ample enough mass to cause wobbles in Uranus' and Neptune's orbits. In August 2006, however, the International Astronomical Union announced that Pluto would no longer be considered a planet, due to new rules that said planets must "clear the neighborhood around its orbit." Since Pluto's oblong orbit overlaps that of Neptune, it was disqualified.

Always... Patsy Cline will be filmed for home viewing in March

The Renaissance Theatre's popular production of Always...Patsy Cline, starring Kelly Knowlton, is set to be filmed by the new division of the Renaissance Theatre, Ren Studios, for at-home streaming. The musical will premiere Saturday, March 13, with additional performances on Saturday, March 20 and 27.

Since its premiere at the Renaissance, Always...Patsy Cline has proven to be a sold-out hit, time after time. It has been revived three times since the original production in 2010.

Starring Kelly Knowlton as Patsy, and Miss Ohio 2020, Caroline Grace Williams as her "biggest fan", Louise Sager, the show contains such Patsy Cline standards as "I Fall To Pieces," "Sweet Dreams," "Walkin' After Midnight," "You Belong to Me," "Back in Baby's Arms; and "Crazy."

The story takes place between 1961 and 1963 and follows the friendship between Cline and Seger, who maintained a correspondence until Cline's death in 1963. Notoriously guarded and with few close female friends, Cline chose to share her joys and woes with Seger, though the two had only briefly met one time.

"After the success of filming and streaming Cinderella and Dreamgirls, we wanted to continue to offer our patrons the opportunity to enjoy our productions from the safety and comfort of their own homes," says Renaissance Artist Director, Michael Thomas. He adds that to capture the magic and intimacy of a live performance, the Ren would need to go beyond just setting up a video camera at the back of the theatre and hitting "record." "It's more than simply filming a stage performance. It is beautifully shot and edited just as a film would be - and the audio is engineered so that every word and lyric is crystal clear."

The creative team at Ren Studios include executive producer and second unit director Ryan Shealy, cinematographer and editor Ryan Shreve, sound/lighting design and sound editor Aaron Nicolas, production manager Abe Swanger, costume designer Linda Turske, technical supervisor Nik Demers, sound assistant Brien Carpenter and director/cusical director Michael Thomas.

For tickets visit rentickets.org. Tickets are $10 and the stream is available to watch all day on March 13, 20 and 27.

The Renaissance Theatre is a performing arts theater located at 138 Park Avenue West, Mansfield. For more information about the Ren, visit rentickets.org or contact renaissance@mansfieldtickets.com. Follow the Ren on Facebook, Instagram, or YouTube.

OhioHealth Mansfield Hospital and Shelby Hospital expand visitation policy

OhioHealth Mansfield Hospital and OhioHealth Shelby Hospital announced that one visitor is now allowed per patient at both hospitals, emergency departments, surgery and invasive procedure areas.

Each patient will select a designated visitor for the duration of their stay, who may visit daily. The visitor may come and go once per day.

Outpatient centers including laboratories, imaging and rehabilitation centers and OhioHealth Physician Group practices will continue to not allow visitors with limited exceptions.

All visitors will be required to wear a mask provided by OhioHealth over their nose and mouth while in an OhioHealth facility, except while eating, and be asymptomatic of COVID-19 symptoms.

The following exceptions will be made for patients in unique medical situations:

- Patients that have tested positive for COVID-19 — No visitors allowed with exceptions for end-of-life situations.

- Patients receiving behavioral health care — Adolescent patients will continue to have parent or guardian visitation. A visitor process for adult patients will be begun later this month and will be based on treatment plans.

- Patients receiving end-of-life care — Acute end-of-life patients may have up to three visitors at any given time, and no maximum number of visitors per day.

- Patients receiving neonatal, pediatric, adolescent care - Minor patients may have two parents or guardians visit.

- Visitors with disabilities who need assistance - Caretakers for visitors who are disoriented, disabled or in need of an interpreter are permitted.

- Maternity patients are limited to one support person, who may stay at the hospital for duration of the stay, but if they exit, they will need to re-enter next day. If the mother is a minor, she may have a parent or guardian visitor in addition to the father of the baby. Care sites with NICUs will follow Nationwide Children's Hospital visitor management policy.

OhioHealth Hardin Memorial Hospital, OhioHealth Marion General Hospital, OhioHealth O'Bleness Hospital, OhioHealth Mansfield Hospital, OhioHealth Shelby Hospital and OhioHealth Berger Hospital began to allow one visitor on Feb. 10.

OhioHealth Riverside Methodist Hospital, OhioHealth Grant Medical Center, OhioHealth Doctors Hospital, OhioHealth Grady Memorial Hospital, OhioHealth Dublin Methodist Hospital and OhioHealth Grove City Methodist Hospital moved to the one visitor policy on Feb. 15.

Ohio National Guard teams begin assisting with COVID-19 vaccinations

The Ohio National Guard has begun supporting the Ohio Department of Health, Ohio Department of Aging and several community partners to administer COVID-19 vaccines, as part of efforts to ensure eligible Ohioans have the opportunity to be vaccinated.

"Our joint task force supporting the state's COVID-19 response has assembled vaccination teams of medics and nurses. They will work with local and state partners to expand vaccination capabilities to reach more Ohioans with this important tool in our battle against the virus," said Major Gen. John C. Harris Jr., Ohio adjutant general.

The focus will be on those most susceptible to COVID-19, including older Ohioans and those who are immunocompromised.

"This is important to our general population and the start of us getting out to our communities to fight the COVID-19 pandemic," said Ohio Air National Guard Major Shelly Brackman, a clinical nurse and officer with the joint task force's medical team.

The program follows the state's phased approach to administering the vaccine. The Ohio National Guard has been assisting in the state's COVID-19 response since last March, and currently there are about 1,000 Soldiers and Airmen deployed to support missions such as sample test collection, personal protective equipment (PPE) and vaccine warehousing and food distributions.
