news@tribune-courier.com 04.29.21

THE SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP FIRE DEPARTMENT PREVENTION BUREAU received a donation from Heather Hendrix, director of the Ontario Recreation Department, for assistance in the Haunted Trail at Marshall Park this past October. The Ontario Lowe's store manager Kenneth Kaiser has also been an instrumental partner to the local fire prevention programs with multiple donations in the past. With the donation from the Ontario Recreation Department and the help of Lowe's, the bureau was able to obtain approximately 100 carbon monoxide detectors. These devices will be installed in the homes of residents that are participating in the Springfield Township Smoke Detector Program. If anyone is interested in becoming part of this program call 419-295-5071 and ask for the Fire Prevention Officer Josh Bradley or Kirstin Gray. The bureau would like to thank both Hendrix and Kaiser for their continued support in fire prevention for Springfield Township and the City of Ontario. Pictured are Josh Bradley, Heather Hendrix, Kenneth Kaiser and Local 3849 President Jordan Bittner.

RichHistory Weekend is Saturday and Sunday

Richland County's history sites offer special events and activities on the first weekend in May each year, coming up May 1 and 2.

This year's events include several outdoor walking tours, a kayaking tour, DMI's popular Hidden History Tour, gold panning, outdoor cooking and back door preview tours at the new North Central Ohio Industrial Museum. The emphasis is on outdoor and large space activities, with pre-registration to limit group sizes.

Registration for all group activities is required, and all events, open houses, and registrations can be found at <https://richhistory.org/richhistoryweekend/> on the richhistory.org website or with the "RichHistory" mobile app on the "schedule" page.

RichHistory Alliance is the organization sponsoring RichHistory Weekend each year, formed as a partnership of museums and historical sites in Richland County in 2016. The mission is to collaborate, discover, preserve, and share history in Richland County. Members use their combined efforts to increase tourism and promote the many history venues in the area.

As of this writing, the 93rd Academy Awards just ended on ABC. Taking place at Union Station in Los Angeles and from various locations around the globe, this ceremony was unlike any other as so many live events have been in the year of a pandemic. The winners were mostly expected but many unexpected.

Nomadland was the clear frontrunner and took home three prizes with Best Picture, Best Director Chloe Zhao (only the second woman to win Best Director) and, in a surprising win, Frances McDormand took her third Oscar for the film in the lead actress category.

Lead actor was expected to go to the late great Chadwick Boseman for Ma Rainey's Black Bottom but Anthony Hopkins won for his amazing work in The Father.

The Father was not widely seen until about a month ago and Hopkins was just simply amazing as I wrote a few weeks ago. I chose Hopkins and was very happy he won. It may be the best performance of his career and this is nothing to slight Boseman who we lost too soon and was a tremendous young actor.

Korean actress Yuh-Jung Youn won for her wonderful work as the grandmother in Minari. She was my favorite performance of the category. Daniel Kaluuya took supporting actor for his brilliant work as Black Panther chairman Fred Hampton in Judas and the Black Messiah.

The ceremony itself was a mostly subdued and rather boring. It's too bad they did not show clips of the nominated performances, which is always appreciated, and it would be nice to have a host back one day.

Overall, I am very happy with the winners and Nomadland is a truly great and unique film that deserves to be seen in a year where we were all inside, a film about nomadic people who explore this great country really hit home with Oscar viewers and voters. Check out all of these moments and I would personally recommend The Father and Anthony Hopkins' brilliant performance.

Information released for Ontario charter

Submitted by Randy E. Hutchinson,
City of Ontario Mayor

The City of Ontario will have a Charter issue on the May Primary Ballot.

What is a charter?

A charter is the constitution of a city. It details the powers, duties and structures of a local government and the rights of its citizens. It determines the system of checks and balances in a local government. The charter is written by an elected charter commission.

Adopting this type of government is possible because Ohio is a 'home rule' state, which means that local governments are given certain powers to adapt government structure in order to better serve residents.

What form of government do we currently have?

Ontario currently operates under a statutory form of government, meaning that city government is structured under state regulations that are outlined in the Ohio Revised Code. Under statutory government, Ontario is limited in its flexibility when considering how its government operates.

For cities that do not have a charter, statutory government serves as the state's default form of government.

What is a charter commission?

A charter commission is the group of 15 city residents elected to frame the charter.

What will the Citizens be voting on May 4th?

Ontario Residents will vote on two things:

1. They will vote 'yes' or 'no' on the question, "Shall a commission be chosen to frame a charter?"

2. They will then vote for 15 citizens on the ballot for the charter commission.

What happens if the vote passes?

If the vote passes, the elected commission will construct the city's charter, with the goal of having it on the ballot in November. Commission meetings will be open to the public and the commission will take resident feedback into account when drafting the charter.

The commission will then need to inform the public of what is included in the charter before it is voted on.

(The above information was taken from an article entitled, Defining A Charter, written by reporter Grant Pepper appearing in the Knox Pages news on Aug. 5, 2018)

PASTOR ROBERT KURTZ presents former Ohio Senate President Larry Obhof with Awake America Ohio's "Public Servant Award" at Mansfield Baptist Temple in the Madison area.

Obhof receives award for work to protect unborn life and religious liberties

Former Ohio Senate President Larry Obhof received Awake America Ohio's "Public Servant Award" for his work in the Ohio legislature, particularly during his time as the Senate's leader over the past four years.

Obhof was presented the award by Pastor Robert Kurtz of Mansfield Baptist Temple during a service on Sunday, April 18.

Awake America is a statewide and national organization, including Independent Baptist Pastors from around Ohio. The organization is dedicated to urging religious persons to get involved in civics for the purpose of preserving our liberties. Awake America gave Obhof the award in recognition of his work to protect unborn life and his efforts to preserve religious liberties.

During Obhof's tenure in Senate leadership, Ohio passed more than a dozen laws protecting unborn life. Among others, these included the Heartbeat Bill, the Pain-Capable Unborn Child Protection Act, and the Down Syndrome Non-Discrimination Act. The latter bill, which prevents aborting a child because of a diagnosis of Down syndrome, was challenged in federal court and was upheld by the U.S. Court of Appeals just this month. Obhof also spearheaded efforts in the last state budget process to significantly increase funding to pregnancies centers — an increase of more than 500 percent.

"Over the past decade the Ohio Senate consistently worked to protect unborn life," said Obhof. "I am proud of the work we did, from passing the Heartbeat Bill to providing greater funding to organizations that care for pregnant women."

Obhof was a leader in protecting religious liberties during the Covid-19 pandemic. In response to the pandemic, some States ordered the closures of churches and other houses of worship. In response to that trend, Obhof drafted legislative language which was signed into law last fall, which prevents any Ohio official from ordering statewide or regional closures of churches or other houses of worship.

"In the Ohio Senate, we bucked the trend that we were seeing in some other States," said Obhof. "Instead of closing houses of worship, we passed a law to protect citizens' First Amendment rights. We ensured that churches, synagogues, and other religious institutions would remain open, even during declared state emergencies."

Larry Obhof represented Ohio's 22nd Senate District (consisting of Medina, Ashland, and Richland Counties, as well as portions of Holmes County) from 2011-2020. He served as Ohio Senate President from 2017-2020.

Donors needed by American Red Cross

This spring as COVID-19 vaccines become more available and people resume some of their favorite activities, the American Red Cross is reminding the public that the need for blood remains. Healthy individuals are encouraged to make a blood donation appointment now. But what about those who've received a COVID-19 vaccine — can they donate?

As long as donors are symptom-free, feeling well and can provide the vaccine manufacturer's name, there's no waiting period required after receiving a COVID-19 vaccine currently authorized in the U.S. Additional blood donation eligibility information is available at RedCrossBlood.org/Eligibility.

Donors, especially those with type O blood, are needed to help ensure blood products are available for patients now and into summer.

Those who come to give blood, platelets or plasma in May will be automatically entered for a chance to win a travel trailer camper that sleeps five, powered by Suburban Propane. Those who make it in to give May 1-15 will receive a $5 Amazon.com gift card by email, courtesy of Suburban Propane.

Donors can schedule an appointment now to give blood and make it a summer full of life for patients. Appointments can be made by downloading the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org, calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or enabling the Blood Donor Skill on any Alexa Echo device.

The Red Cross is testing blood, platelet and plasma donations for COVID-19 antibodies. The test may indicate if the donor's immune system has produced antibodies to this coronavirus, regardless of whether they developed symptoms. Testing may also identify the presence of antibodies developed after receiving a COVID-19 vaccine.

Plasma from routine blood and platelet donations that test positive for high levels of antibodies may be used as convalescent plasma to meet potential future needs of COVID-19 patients. Convalescent plasma is a type of blood product collected from COVID-19 survivors who have antibodies that may help patients who are actively fighting the virus.

The Red Cross is not testing donors to diagnose illness. To protect the health and safety of Red Cross staff and donors, it is important that individuals who do not feel well or believe they may be ill with COVID-19 postpone donation.

At a time when health information has never been more important, the Red Cross is also screening all blood, platelet and plasma donations from self-identified African American donors for the sickle cell trait. This additional screening will provide black donors with an additional health insight and help the Red Cross identify compatible blood types more quickly to help patients with sickle cell disease. Blood transfusion is an essential treatment for those with sickle cell disease, and blood donations from individuals of the same race, ethnicity and blood type have a unique ability to help patients fighting sickle cell disease.

Donors can expect to receive antibody test and sickle cell trait screening results, if applicable, within one to two weeks through the Red Cross Blood Donor App and the online donor portal at RedCrossBlood.org.

Temperature checks, social distancing and face masks for donors and staff have been implemented to help protect the health of all those in attendance. Donors are asked to schedule an appointment prior to arriving at the drive and are required to wear a face mask while at the drive, in alignment with Centers for Disease Control and Prevention public guidance.

Legislation passed to support 179th

State Rep. Marilyn John (R-Richland County) announced that the Ohio House has approved House Concurrent Resolution 7, legislation that urges Congress and the U.S. Department of Defense to keep the 179th Airlift Wing in Mansfield and to utilize its expertise in support of the C-130J Super Hercules aircraft while awaiting a decision on the Air National Guard Cyber Wing.

The 179th Airlift Wing was organized in Mansfield on June 20, 1948.

In 1976, the 179th closed its tactical fighter mission, and the unit converted to the C-130B Hercules aircraft. Since then, the 179th Airlift Wing has been supporting variations of C-130 aircraft for over forty years.

Recently, the United States Air Force did not include Mansfield in the possible locations for support of the C-130J Super Hercules, the newest version of the C-130, and the only model still in production.

“Over the past 73 years, the men and women of the 179th Airlift Wing have honorably served the United States through many missions and countless deployments, home and abroad,” said John. “They have proven to be a great community partner for Richland and Ashland counties and an economic driver in our region.”

John also noted the 179th Airlift Wing has been recognized for numerous awards and has participated in humanitarian efforts around the world, including Restore Hope in Somalia, Operation Provide Promise in Bosnia, UN relief efforts and Operations Joint Guard and Forge in support of NATO operating out of Rhein-Main and Ramstein Air Base, Germany, as well as relief to those affected by hurricanes Hugo, Andrew, and Katrina.

“Given the unique history, personnel, facilities, and capacity of the 179th Airlift Wing, I strongly believe it should be kept in Mansfield and continue to support the C-130J Super Hercules aircraft or the Air National Guard Cyber Wing,” added John. “I sincerely thank my colleagues in the House for passing this important legislation.”

The resolution now heads to the Senate for consideration.

Voters in these precincts have been notified by mail of the new polling location name and address. The board does not expect to make any other revisions unless an emergency situation would arise.

RSWCD promotes Soil and Water Stewardship Week

The Richland Soil and Water Conservation District (Richland SWCD), in partnership with the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD), is celebrating Soil and Water Stewardship Week from April 25–May 2, 2021, focusing on the theme "Healthy Forests, Healthy Communities."

Richland SWCD is a member of NACD, which oversees the annual Stewardship Week program, now in its 66th year. Stewardship Week is one of the largest national annual programs to promote conservation.

The Richland Soil and Water Conservation District was formed to implement and assist landowners, government agencies and partners with a wide range of natural resource conservation programs.

On April 22, the Richland County Commissioners issued a Soil and Water Stewardship Week Proclamation and Richland SWCD gave away tree seedlings to the first 100 participants at the Earth Day Celebration held in conjunction with Richland County Solid Waste Management Authority at the Compost Facility, 441 Cairns Rd.. Participants also learned more about the importance of trees and the various composts materials available at the facility.

"Educating the public about the importance of our connection to our natural resources in our daily lives is an essential part of what conservation districts advocate for in their communities," said NACD President Michael Crowder. "Trees and forests are critical to providing clean air and water, healthy soil, shade, abundant wildlife habitat, jobs and valuable products we use every day."

Richland SWCD can assist residents in learning more about trees and the species native to the area. Richland SWCD can also provide insight on tree planting, care, and maintenance, as well as information on how to protect trees from invasive species.

"Conservation districts have a long-standing history of working with state and private forest owners in helping promote and safeguard our nation's forested lands," Crowder said.

Free, downloadable Stewardship Week resources celebrating the theme "Healthy Forests, Healthy Communities" are available on NACD's website at www.nacdnet.org/store/.

For more information about Stewardship Week and conservation contact Richland Soil and Water Conservation District at 419-747-8685 or Theresa@richlandswcd.net.

Holy Trinity Farmer's Market to return

The Holy Trinity Farmers' Market will return for its 12th season on May 25. The market will once again be held each Tuesday from 3-6 pm, in the west parking lot of the church located on the corner of Cook Rd. and Lexington Ave.

The market producers are passionate about what they do and work hard to bring a fresh, delicious product to the market, whether it is a wide variety of seasonal produce, breads and baked goods, maple syrup, jam, jelly, herbs, tea, chicken, vegetable plants or more.

Many of the producers have participated in the market for several years and a few have been with it from the start. They love to talk about their food and welcome questions and comments.

The market will be looking for a few new vendors this year. Currently, the market is looking for a new producer for homemade dip mixes and snack mixes. Fresh cut flowers may be needed also. The market is careful to avoid flooding the market with "like" products. All items approved for the market must be grown or made by the producer selling the product and located within 15 miles of this local market. No auction, re-sell or craft items accepted.

In fairness to all producers, no one may show up the day of a market without prior approval. All producers must make contact with market Manager, Cindy L. Shasky, to express interest, discuss market policies and guidelines and be pre-approved for set up.

The market follows the Ohio Dept. of Agriculture's Food Safety Divisions requirements for "Cottage Foods". Baked goods and other Cottage food production items must be properly labeled. Potential producers are encouraged to review guidelines on the ODA website for more information.

Visit the Holy Trinity Farmers Market Facebook page to view pictures of past markets. For more information contact Cindy at 419-709-4468 or holytrinityfarmersmarket@yahoo.com.

May recognized as Mental Health Month

Submitted by Sherry L. Branham,
MPA, associate director

The theme for "May is Mental Health Month 2021 in Richland County" is one simple word "RESILIENCE."

In the wake of the COVID-19 Pandemic Richland County has demonstrated the four principals of Resilience: Perseverance, Adaptability, Increasing Knowledge and the Strength to move forward.

In 2021, the behavioral health system "Persevered" despite restrictions created through this worldwide pandemic. Publicly funded agencies provided services to over 8,000 Richland County youth and adults for treatment of mental illness and substance use disorders.

The system "Adapted" and agencies quickly developed new ways to deliver essential services to people in need, through telephone services, video chats and sanitized face-to-face meetings.

We "Increased Knowledge" during this time of transition through electronic communication and greater reliance on media. We enhanced the "Know It Before You Need It" initiative and increase community knowledge of available services before people need them.

Now we are building a new initiative referred to as "The Good Neighbor" movement, encouraging the community to begin "safely" expanding their social circles and sense of community as we emerge from the challenging time. And lastly, we are "Moving Forward" as we begin to deal with the impact of the pandemic, we find our services in greater demand.

Access to care is the key. To that end we will be piloting, up to, two Behavioral Health Urgent Cares. These will allow access to initial assessments and brief, solution-focused counseling six days a week and up to four evenings per week on a walk-in basis. We know that when someone decides they need help it is essential that they can access care quickly and conveniently.

We are still in the development stages but hope to have the doors open on these Behavioral Health Urgent Cares on Au. 2, 2021. As a community we encourage Richland County residents, government agencies, public and private institutions, businesses, and schools to recommit to our community. This can be done by increasing awareness and understanding of mental health, by communicating the steps our citizens can take to protect their mental health and by filling the need for appropriate and accessible services for all people with mental illnesses.

The schedule will include: May 1-31, Catalyst Life Services will have Helpline available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. If you or someone you know is dealing with a mental health or addiction crisis please call 419-522-HELP (4357).
