THE FALL COLORS are at their brightest as we end the first half of October. The view from Mt. Jeez, the highest point in Richland County, includes Malabar Farm and the surrounding area. It has an elevation of 1,306 feet.

Red Cross encourages donors to give during October

During Breast Cancer Awareness Month this October, the American Red Cross urges eligible donors to band together to provide hope and healing to patients fighting cancer by giving blood or platelets. In appreciation, those who come to give Oct. 15–Nov. 11 will receive a $5 Amazon.com gift card via email, courtesy of Suburban Propane.

Donors are asked to make appointments by downloading the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org, calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or enabling the Blood Donor Skill on any Alexa Echo device.

Donors of all blood types are urged to help ensure a stable supply for cancer patients and others this fall. To thank those who come to give in October, the Red Cross is also offering a $1,000 Amazon.com gift card to five winners.

Blood donations play a crucial role in cancer treatment. Cancer patients undergoing surgery and chemotherapy may require red blood cell or platelet transfusions. In fact, patients fighting cancer need more blood than those with any other disease, using nearly one-quarter of the nation's blood supply.

City of Ontario will collect leaves during fall pick-up

The City of Ontario will provide fall leaf pick-up service again this year. It will begin on Monday, Oct. 26 and end on, or about, Friday, Nov. 20, weather permitting.

There will not be a set schedule for when leaf pickup will be provided to each neighborhood. Workers will try to make a second round throughout the city, but this is not guaranteed, so leaves should be placed at the edge of the roadway (not in the roadway) as soon as possible.

The service is for leaf pick-up only. The city asks that residents do not place sticks, tree limbs or other yard debris among the leaves. These items will not be able to be collected. Pick-up service for sticks, tree limbs or other yard debris is provided in the spring.

For more information call Jeff Wilson at 419-529-2495.

The Red Cross is testing blood, platelet and plasma donations for COVID-19 antibodies. The test may indicate if the donor's immune system has produced antibodies to this coronavirus, regardless of whether an individual developed COVID-19 symptoms. Red Cross antibody tests will be helpful to identify individuals who have COVID-19 antibodies and may now help current coronavirus patients in need of convalescent plasma transfusions. Convalescent plasma is a type of blood donation collected from COVID-19 survivors that have antibodies that may help patients who are actively fighting the virus.

COVID-19 antibody test results will be available within one to two weeks in the Red Cross Blood Donor App or donor portal at RedCrossBlood.org. A positive antibody test result does not confirm infection or immunity. The Red Cross is not testing donors to diagnose illness, referred to as a diagnostic test. To protect the health and safety of Red Cross staff and donors, it is important that individuals who do not feel well or believe they may be ill with COVID-19 postpone donation.

Each Red Cross blood drive and donation center follows the highest standards of safety and infection control, and additional precautions – including temperature checks, social distancing and face coverings for donors and staff – have been implemented to help protect the health of all those in attendance. Donors are asked to schedule an appointment prior to arriving at the drive and are required to wear a face covering or mask while at the drive, in alignment with Centers for Disease Control and Prevention public guidance.

Lexington was once county champs

By Bob Carter

They were Richland County football champions in 1929! And they were from Lexington! Imagine the pride the team and the whole school felt for their team.

Unfortunately things didn't go all that well in coming years. The Lexington combination teacher and coach suffered that same bane as all high school coaches today. It's called graduation day! And away goes some of the best.

When a ball team wins, fans usually loudly cheer "what a great bunch of kids." When a team loses the remark is often heard to "fire the coach, he doesn't know what he is doing." That is the job hazard of a high school coach for any sport.

Many of the team members married and stayed in the Lexington area and may be someone's great or great great grandfather. Whatever happened to those 1929 gridiron heroes is only known by their decedents.

Go Lex! (And remember not to blame the coaches if things don't go well).

STUDENTS IN MRS. RHODES' Child Development class at Ontario High School designed 3D nurseries. Students had a list of items that are typically found in a nursery, and the items had prices and stores listed in real time. Students were shocked to see how expensive baby items can be.

Registration open for Richland Gives

Richland Gives registration for Richland County based nonprofit organizations is open through Oct. 31. It is free; however, nonprofit organizations must register each year. Richland Gives is designed to encourage people to contribute to local nonprofits they care about through a single giving website. The Richland County Foundation hosts the day to build capacity, grow philanthropy and make the community stronger.

The COVID-19 pandemic has adversely affected revenue streams for many local charities.

Each organization will have an individualized web page to promote their cause. The success of the event will depend on our collective enthusiasm and implementation. Leading up to the event the Foundation provides an online toolkit, webinars, mass media and social media coverage to make it easier for nonprofit organizations to participate.

Thanks to the generosity of donors at the Richland County Foundation, $34,000 in incentives will be awarded as grants to participating organizations, beyond what they raise from online donations.

A $1,000 grant to the first 15 nonprofit organizations that raise at least $1,000 online via the Richland Gives website beginning Nov. 16 at 7 am. Additional prize grants will be awarded to the nonprofits during Richland Gives.

Madison Township Trustees consider energy options

By Bud Motter

The Madison Township Trustees held a meeting Oct. 5 at township hall. During the meeting, the trustees heard from Andrew Burns from Independent Energy Consultants from Aurora.

Burns presented a detailed report on specifications for the current electric aggregation program and then presented a plan that he said the trustees should consider.

Burns says the current contract gives a 6 percent discount but rates can fluctuate.

Burns said he believes the township should consider one of seven companies and have a fixed rate. The information presented showed that Energy Harbor's rate was 5.06 cents per kilowatt hour for one year with an even better savings if committing to four years.

He said six of the seven companies have no early termination fee.

The trustees put off their decision until they can meet with Joe Jakubick from First Energy. The meeting was planned for Monday, Oct. 12.

The trustees will apply for another Ohio Public Works Commission (OPWC) grant. The money would be used to place 825 feet of 36 inch pipe in an underground storm sewer located on Manner Dr. It would replace a 24 inch pipe which is unable to handle the water.

The September fire report showed that the township responded to 240 calls, received 12 mutual aids and gave 25 mutual aids.

A total of 144 EMS runs were made and the township gave 13 mutual aid and received none. Twelve patients were transported in September, adding to the 1,942 total for the year.

The zoning report showed four new zoning permits, 18 inspections from citizen complaints, with 24 oral discussions and four written warnings.

There were 19 information requests.

The trustees entered into a contract with Mr. Rotter to replace two faucets in both restrooms at a cost of $2,039.90.

They will install two touch-less faucets in both restrooms. These are battery operated and will be mounted under the sink. Two mixing valves will also be installed. The price includes permits and inspection.

ANDREW BURNS from Independent Energy Consultants, Aurora, spoke to the Madison Township Trustees about energy options.

Mansfield Art Center presents “Daniel Ferlan: 20 Years” curated by Wynter Whiteside and Thomas Arlen Wagner

The Mansfield Art Center will present “Daniel Ferlan: 20 Years” curated by Wynter Whiteside and Thomas Arlen Wagner.

This exhibition represents the most comprehensive presentation of Daniel Ferlan’s career to date. Showcasing artworks from 1998 to present, it comprises 75+ pieces specifically choreographed into ‘eras’ of his work.

This visual timeline can be compared to a gigantic storybook that enchants and emerges the viewer into Ferlan’s reinvented folklore-like tales.

This mass display of work comprises an implosion of bold-lined, textured paintings to an appealing contrast of newer works that entail intricate, miniature characters placed strategically in Dutch-like landscapes. Hauntingly beautiful creatures and personal symbolic relics all loosely imply various art historical references, naturally formed within the artist’s psyche. Despite Ferlan’s work being highly introspective, the works are still able to be digested by any spectator, no matter what filter is applied.

Daniel Ferlan is a Fine Artist who resides in Columbus, Ohio and is a graduate of the Pittsburgh Art Institute. His choice of medium is oil on canvas and also draws prolifically in pencil or ink.

His work can be found in an array of private collections throughout the USA. Art collector Thomas Arlen Wagner has supported Ferlan’s creative vision since the beginning.

Initially attracted to his early impasto paintings, the transition into the meticulously detailed oil paintings all made conceptual sense to Wagner. “Ferlan’s work is a perfect representation of my collection due to their authenticity, curious depictions of life, and the dark playful energy they evoke”. A large portion of the art on view is from Thomas Arlen Wagner’s personal collection as well as borrowed from other private collectors. “Viewing Ferlan’s work from the past 20 years under one roof is a work of art in itself” states Mansfield Art Center’s Executive Director, George Whitten.

Wynter Whiteside is the co-curator of this exhibition. Whiteside is based in Columbus, Ohio and is an Independent Curator as well as a Fine Artist holding a BFA from Columbus College of Art and Design.

The Foundation gallery will premiere “The Dragging of a Dear”, Ferlan’s new work. This show is a beautiful prelude for what churns in the Upper Gallery. Due to the generosity of our sponsors, by Hudson & Essex and Cypress Hill Winery in Mansfield, this exhibition is free and open to the community.

The Mansfield Art Center is located at 700 Marion Ave., Mansfield.

Visitors will see on their arrival the new pavilion and education wing most recently completed through the generosity of donors. Hours are 11 am to 4 pm, Tuesday through Sunday. Masks and social distancing are required as well as reduced capacity due to the pandemic. For more information about the Mansfield Art Center, visit mansfieldartcenter.org.

ONTARIO MIDDLE SCHOOL'S Mrs. Garberich was chosen as the October MVP by OMS sixth grade teacher Zack Canfield. He said of her, “Some teachers just seem to have a knack for getting the most out of their students, and I am always impressed when I see the work that comes from the students in her classroom. When I think back to some of my earliest memories from when I started working at OMS, they include being amazed at the artwork of students posted all over the walls and in the displays of this building. Every year we see incredibly realistic self-portraits, pottery that could be sold in stores and right now, for example, colorful paintings of the leaves of fall. When I see what students are able to create in their art classes, I know that behind all of it is a teacher who works tirelessly to encourage her students to pursue creativity while helping them develop the skills necessary to create such fantastic products.”

Carbon monoxide safety message given for National Preparedness Month

With National Preparedness Month upon us and cooler fall temperatures on the way, Columbia Gas wants to remind Ohioans of important precautions for preventing carbon monoxide poisoning.

Carbon monoxide is created when fuels (such as gasoline, wood, natural gas, kerosene or oil) burn incompletely. It's tasteless and odorless, but can become deadly if too much accumulates without proper venting.

The most reliable way to know whether you have a carbon monoxide leak is to have fully functioning carbon monoxide detectors at home, especially in areas where someone sleeps. A good rule of thumb is to test the detectors once per month and replace the batteries every six months.

"Carbon monoxide can also accumulate if fuel-burning appliances malfunction," said Lisa Carmean, Vice President and General Manager of Operations for Columbia Gas of Ohio. "National Preparedness Month is the perfect time to have a qualified professional inspect these appliances in every part of your home to ensure they are installed and operating properly. This inspection can extend the lifespan and efficiency of appliances, but more importantly, it's a critical step that can save lives."

Those who are affected by carbon monoxide poisoning while awake often complain of a headache and other flu-like symptoms. They may also feel tired at home but fine while out. Carbon monoxide is generally deadliest during sleep when symptoms may not be recognized.

If the carbon monoxide alarm sounds, or if residents suspect either a carbon monoxide or gas leak, they should STOP what they are doing, LEAVE the area immediately and from a safe place CALL 911 and Columbia Gas at 1-800-344-4077. First responders and Columbia Gas will investigate the situation, identify the source of the leak and make it safe.

"Even if you don't have a detector but feel you may have symptoms, it's important to err on the side of caution and call right away," Carmean added. "Potential cases of carbon monoxide poisoning should never be ignored."

For more on how carbon monoxide can accumulate in different parts of the home, as well as information on appliances and other home safety measures, visit <https://www.columbiagasohio.com/safety/know-your-home>.

Additional Carbon Monoxide Prevention Tips:

- Buy and install carbon monoxide detectors; some models double as smoke detectors. The devices range in price from $20-$70 and are available at most big box retailers.
- Ensure there is a carbon monoxide detector on every level of the property and in every room where someone sleeps
- Provide adequate ventilation in your home when using stoves, fireplaces or unvented space heaters
- Never use a stove or oven as a source of heat
- Ensure appliances are installed in accordance with local building codes and manufacturer's instructions and specifications
- Don't burn charcoal or run a generator indoors or in an enclosed space
- Clean the chimney and check for blockage at least once a year before using the fireplace
- Open the garage door before starting a vehicle

October 15, 1863 — The H.L. Hunley, the world's first successful combat submarine, sinks during a test run. Horace Lawson Hunley developed the 40-foot submarine from a cylinder boiler. It was operated by a crew of eight — one person steered while the others turned a crank that drove the ship's propeller. The Hunley could dive, but it required calm seas. It was tested successfully in Alabama's Mobile Bay in the summer of 1863 and then placed on a railcar and shipped to South Carolina. During a test run, a crewmember became tangled in part of the craft's machinery and it dove with its hatch open; only two men survived. The ship was raised and repaired. Its inventor stepped forward to restore confidence in his creation. On Oct. 15, he took the submarine into Charleston Harbor for another test. In front of a crowd of spectators, the Hunley slipped below the surface and did not reappear. Horace Hunley and his entire crew perished. The Hunley went back into the water. On Feb. 17, 1864, the ship approached the U.S.S. Housatonic and struck a torpedo and then backed away before the explosion. The Housatonic sank and the Hunley became the first submarine to sink a ship in battle. However, the Hunley sank before it returned to Charleston, taking yet another crew down with it. The vessel was raised in 2000, and is now on exhibit in Charleston.

Milkweed seed pods being collected

Richland Soil and Water Conservation District (Richland SWCD) is partnering with the Ohio Pollinator Habitat Initiative (OPHI) to collect common milkweed seed pods to help foster habitats for monarch butterflies.

Milkweed seed pods are starting to mature to the point where they can be harvested. Community members can start scouting fields and if pods appear slightly gray and are dried out they are ready to pick. Seeds inside should be brown before harvesting.

Last year's massive statewide seed collection effort was spearheaded by the Ohio Pollinator Habitat Initiative (OPHI), which is working to get the word out about why monarch butterflies are disappearing and help partners create monarch habitats. The disappearance of milkweed, the only host plant for monarch caterpillars, across the U.S. has contributed to the 80 percent decline of the eastern monarch butterfly population over the last 20 years.

Those who wish to help with this project should collect the pods in a brown paper bag and drop off in the green and yellow container located outside the Richland SWCD office, 1495 W. Longview Avenue, Mansfield, through Nov. 5.

Tip for Collecting Milkweed Seed Pods:

- Become familiar with common milkweed to avoid harvesting pods from similar plants such as hemp dogbane and swamp milkweed.
- If the center seam of the pod pops with gentle pressure, they can be picked.
- Don't collect pods that are already open, as they might be infested with insects.
- Place collected pods in paper bags or paper grocery sacks. Plastic bags collect unwanted moisture.
- On the bag, write the date and county in which collected.
- Keep the pods in a cool, dry area until delivered to the RichlandSWCD office.
- Only collect from your property or property you have been given permission to go on; do not trespass.

During the winter, seeds from this year's milkweed seed pod collection will be removed from the pods and returned to Richland SWCD in the spring to be distributed for planting. Those who want free milkweed seeds with planting instructions, can email Theresa@Richlandswcd.net. For more information call 419-747-8686 or visit <https://richlandswcd.net/>.

October recognized as SIDS Awareness Month

Part of the effort to reduce infant mortality is increasing awareness about Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) during October. Parents and caregivers are urged to remember the ABCs of Safe Sleep: Alone, Back, Crib. The following recommendations from the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) may decrease the possibility of SIDS and are based on science and extensive research. Follow these guidelines:

- Always place your baby on his or her back for every sleep time.
- Always use a firm sleep surface. Car seats and other sitting devices are not recommended for routine sleep.
- The baby should sleep in the same room as the parents, but not in the same bed (room-sharing without bed-sharing).
- Keep soft objects or loose bedding out of the crib. This includes pillows, blankets, and bumper pads.
- Don't use wedges and sleep positioners.
- Pregnant women should receive regular prenatal care.
- Don't smoke during pregnancy or after birth.
- Breastfeeding is recommended.
- Offer a pacifier at nap time and bedtime.
- Avoid covering the infant's head or overheating.
- Do not use home monitors or commercial devices marketed to reduce the chance of SIDS.
- Infants should receive all recommended vaccinations.
- Supervised, awake tummy time is recommended daily to facilitate development.

Richland Public Health has a page on Safe Sleep at <https://richlandhealth.org/personal/safe-sleep>. Included on the page is information on prenatal and newborn home visits for pregnant women and new moms. Those scheduling a visit from a public health nurse may be eligible for a free Pack-n-Play crib. Call 419-774-4540 to make an appointment.
