HONORARY FIREFIGHTER — On June 6, Kameron Fulson, age 4, heard a neighbor's cry for help and went to investigate. He found Ontario resident Marge Ridenour, who had fallen and was injured. Kameron told his mother and they called 9-1-1. Because of his concern for others and the action he took, he was named an honorary firefighter by the Springfield Township Fire department. A ceremony was held Monday, Nov. 16, at his home. (Top Photo) John Gray, Josh Bradley, Kameron Fulson, Jordan Bittner, John Brown, members of Springfield Township Professional Firefighters Local 3849, present Kameron with a plaque declaring him an Honorary Firefighter. MRCPL providing free meals for kids

The Mansfield/Richland County Public Library's Main library location will begin distributing free meal packs to all Richland County children.

The Children's Hunger Alliance will be sponsoring the meal distribution offered Monday through Friday from 3:30-4:30 pm. Two meals may be picked up on Friday (one for Saturday).

The children's department on the second floor of the main library will be the pick-up location for these take-home meals. This free meal program is open to all children under the age of 18 regardless of financial status, and customers need only provide the child's name to receive a free, healthy, shelf-stable meal.

The mission of the Children's Hunger Alliance "is to ensure that children without access receive healthy food, nutrition education, and physical activity." MRCPL is one of more than 250 programs throughout Ohio partnering with Children's Hunger Alliance to help provide nutritious meals to children who may not have weekday evening meals available at home.

Library Director Chris May says, "This partnership with Children's Hunger Alliance is one that I have been interested in for quite a while. We already know that the resources our library provides are essential to the mental development of the children in Richland County. The opportunity to supplement those resources with a healthy meal further strengthens MRCPL's mission to be a community center, open to all, supporting a vibrant quality for residents of our community."

For more information about the free meal program, visit mrcpl.org.

Richland Gives helps nonprofits

Richland Gives, an online giving event, began at 7 am on Nov. 16 and will culminate on Dec. 1 at 7 pm.

The event is designed to encourage everyone to contribute to local nonprofits they care about through a single giving platform/website. The Richland County Foundation is hosting the fundraiser to build capacity, grow philanthropy and make the community stronger.

Richland Gives will allow Richland County nonprofit organizations to raise funds and awareness as well as cultivate new donors and reinvigorate lapsed donors. Over 80 local charities are registered for the event.

Thanks to the generosity of donors at the Richland County Foundation, $34,000 in incentives will be awarded as grants to participating organizations, beyond what they raise from online donations.

A $1,000 grant will be given to the first 15 nonprofit organizations that raise at least $1,000 online via the Richland Gives website.

Additional prize grants will be awarded to the nonprofits during Richland Gives. For more details or to donate go to richlandgives.org.

Chicken with Artichokes

Ingredients

4 chicken breasts, flattened
2 eggs
1/2 cup flour
olive oil
1/2-1 cup bread crumbs
1/2 cup parmesan cheese
1 1/2 sticks butter
4 cloves garlic
1/4 cup white wine
1 lemon, juiced
1/2 cup chicken broth
1/2 cup heavy (or light) cream (optional)
2 Tbsp. capers
1 can artichoke hearts, drained

Instructions

Start by preparing the flour, egg and bread crumbs in 3 bowls (or pans). Add some salt and pepper to the flour and the parmesan cheese to the bread crumbs. With a fork, scramble the eggs.

In a cast iron skillet or large frying pan, heat enough oil to cover the bottom of the pan. Take the chicken breasts, one at a time, and dip in the flour, egg and bread crumbs. Cook until browned on both sides 5-10 minutes. Place on a baking sheet in 300 degree oven. (This will finish up cooking the chicken as you prepare the sauce). When the chicken is done and out of the pan, add butter to pan and melt, stirring up and pieces of chicken stuck to the bottom of the pan. When the butter has melted, add the garlic and sauté a few minutes but don't brown. Add the wine, lemon juice, broth, capers and artichoke hearts. Slowly heat and continue to stir. (Taste at this point to see if you want to add more salt and pepper — you may want just a pinch of both).

Turn off the heat and add the cream if you have decided to include it. (I like cream because it tones down the lemon and capers and adds just a slight touch of sweetness). Stir well.

When the chicken is done (depending on the thickness this may be 15-20 minutes — you want an internal temperature of 165). Place on a platter and add the sauce over the top.

RCRPC gets results from follow-up survey

Richland County Regional Planning Commission distributed a follow-up COVID-19 Local Government Impacts Survey to analyze the economic, operational and fiscal impacts eight months into the pandemic. Seven Townships, one city, two villages and six county departments responded to the survey. Though the response rate to the survey was lower than the initial round, the results highlighted some interesting data. All respondents find themselves prepared in case of another shutdown and nearly half of them have or are in the process of working on a recovery plan.

From an operational perspective, respondents are planning to make some of the changes implemented during the crisis permanent, including remote meetings, contactless resident services online and maintaining extra cleaning. The fiscal fallout of the pandemic has impacted budgets. Almost all respondents have completed budget forecasts with 35% respondents predicting a 5-10% loss in revenues and 30% expecting 10-25% loss. Local government CARES Act funding has helped with some of the associated costs incurred due to the pandemic. Technology upgrades, support of safety personnel, and retrofitting buildings were the most popular use of the CARES funds.

The Postmistress of Lexington pictured in the 1890s

Delamater was Lex's postmistress

By Bob Carter

She was all dressed up and ready for her picture to be taken. A chair was brought outside for her to sit. It was a big day for Harriet Delamater and memorable to boot. Harriet was the postmaster, or in her case, the postmistress of Lexington, for many years.

Her daughter is pictured standing behind her and the photo was taken in front of the Post Office building which also housed a retail shop. They lived upstairs and the building was attached to the old tavern but was torn down when the new bank and post office building was erected in the early 1900s. It now houses Vidonish Studios. The old tavern remains to this day and is the oldest building in Lexington.

In Harriet's day, the position of postmaster had to belong to the same political party as the president. If a Republican was elected, out went the Democrats or vice versa. The fact that Harriet lasted for years may be because she needed the job for her support and the local folks liked her or no one wanted the post anyway.

This system lasted until 1910 when President Taft issued an order that postmasters be put under Civil Service. In 1917, President Wilson all the second and third class post offices (which would include Lexington) under the same rule.

There was no home delivery. You wanted the mail, go to the post office. There were other early area offices at Steam Corners and at the water powdered mill near the Buckhorn Tavern at what is now the west end of the Clear Fork Lake. Little Washington and Alta had an office too.

Richland Area Chamber program will promote local small businesses

Several Richland County area business groups will again be promoting businesses in the Richland County area through a Small Business Saturday prize program.

The event highlights locally-owned small businesses and will feature a simple opportunity for shoppers to win a prize through a new no-contact registration.

The event takes place on Nov. 28. Shoppers will have two ways to win:

On Nov. 28, shoppers are invited to visit participating local small businesses and simply scan the QR code with their cell phone. This will automatically open the prize entry form to submit basic contact information for prize notification. Although shoppers can shop as many stores as they wish, only six entries will be permitted for the prize drawing, one per store.

There will also be $500 worth of prizes for shoppers who enter the selfie contest. On Nov. 28, take a selfie while at a participating business, tag the business, include hashtag #SBSRichland2020, and make the post public.

Ashley Meyer, Member Services Coordinator at the Richland Area Chamber & Economic Development states, "We are excited to unveil the new QR code program as a way to keep our community safe and still get people out to support our local retailers on Small Business Saturday. Without the OSU/Michigan game to compete with this year we hope to see even more people supporting local on Small Business Saturday!"

Several days prior to the event, participating stores will be listed on the Chamber website - richlandareachamber.com.

This event is supported by Medical Mutual and is being held in conjunction with the Ontario Growth Association, Shelby Area Business Group, Be Focal Buy Local, Downtown Mansfield, inc. and The Clear Fork Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Red Cross urging donors to give

The American Red Cross and country music star Martina McBride have joined together this holiday season to remind people to take care of one another, sharing comfort and joy with hospital patients through the gift of blood donation. Health emergencies don't pause for a pandemic or holiday celebrations. The Red Cross needs the help of blood donors across the country and here in Ohio now to ensure patients continue to have access to lifesaving blood.

As the U.S. experiences a new surge in COVID-19 cases, the Red Cross is becoming increasingly concerned about the nation's blood supply – including convalescent plasma. A convalescent plasma donation collects plasma from COVID-19 survivors because antibodies to the disease in their blood may help patients who are currently fighting the virus. Increased hospitalization of patients with coronavirus this fall and winter has caused the Red Cross to distribute a record number of COVID-19 plasma products to hospitals treating patients who are battling the virus.

This holiday season, Martina McBride is reaching out to all eligible individuals. "If nobody has ever asked you to give blood before, I'm asking you to give blood – especially during this trying time," she said.

As a thank-you, now through Dec. 15, Suburban Propane is offering blood, platelet and plasma donors a chance to win an Outdoor Living Experience, powered by Propane, to enable a winner to enjoy socially distanced celebrations with family and friends this holiday season. The prize includes a propane-powered pizza oven, fire pit, outdoor heater and stipend towards propane.

Eligible individuals are urged to make an appointment to donate blood now to help patients in need. Find a donation opportunity using the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org or calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767).

The Red Cross is testing all blood donations for COVID-19 antibodies which helps provide insight to donors concerning possible prior exposure to this virus. Donors can expect to receive the results of their antibody test within one to two weeks through our Red Cross Blood Donor App or on the donor portal at RedCrossBlood.org. As part of this effort, plasma from whole blood donations that test positive for COVID-19 antibodies may now help current coronavirus patients in need of convalescent plasma. Each week, whole blood donors with COVID-19 antibodies are helping to contribute between 350-500 units of potentially lifesaving convalescent plasma for patients in need.

The Red Cross is not administering diagnostic tests intended to diagnose illness. As such, to protect the health and safety of our staff and donors, it is important that individuals who do not feel well or believe they may be ill with COVID-19 postpone donation.

Each Red Cross blood drive and donation center follows high standards of safety and infection control, and additional precautions — including temperature checks, social distancing and face coverings for donors and staff — have been implemented to help protect the health of all those in attendance. Donors are asked to schedule an appointment prior to arriving at the drive and are required to wear a face covering or mask while at the drive, in alignment with Centers for Disease Control and Prevention public guidance.

RJ Bartley raises funds for "Buddy Bench" in memory of student Jenna Habinek

Jenna Ann Habinek was a fourth grade student at Madison's Eastview elementary when she lost her battle to Leukemia in January of 2020.

She was diagnosed with Leukemia around Thanksgiving. In just a short time, Jenna passed away.

Jenna's classmate, RJ Bartley, whom she shared a birthday with and were together since the first grade, decided that he would fundraise to provide a bench in Jenna's memory.

He mowed lawns and did odd jobs to help raise the money for the bench. His mom, Cadi Tolley, helped him make a Go Fund Me account online for this cause.

In about three months time, RJ was able to raise over $500 mowing lawns and selling candy bars.

Local business owner Grant Milliron pitched in and added $100 to put RJ over the top. He raised enough for the bench which cost a little over $600.

Everything was put on hold when Covid shut down the schools, so principal Melissa Wigton picked the project back up this year. Mrs. Wigton was able to find a company online from Indiana that created a personalized bench out of recycled plastic with the school colors.

Wigton and RJ decided to call it a "Buddy Bench" since Jenna was a good friend to all. She would find kids who needed a friend and would befriend them.

The bench now sits on the Eastview playground under a tree.

Mapes, Wiles named SkillsUSA Regional Officers

By Karen VonStein
Career Tech Assessment Coordinator
 Resident Educator Coordinator Skills USA Advisor

Three Madison Comprehensive High School students and four voting delegates attended the SkillsUSA virtual meeting to participate in the Regional Officer Election process held at the Mid-Ohio Educational Service Center on Nov. 10.

At the completion of the meeting, two Madison students received the news that they had been elected as regional officers. These two students will be assuming the office previously held by Clayton Stankovich, a senior in the Electrical Maintenance Program. Chosen to represent Madison at the regional level are Mikayla Wiles, a junior enrolled in the Welding Program and Dylan Mapes, a junior in the Precision Machining Program.

Clayton Stankovich was elected in November of 2019 and represented Madison as voting delegate all the way through to the state level. During the Regional Officer Training Institute in Washington, D.C. in January of 2020, Clayton was voted in as the North West Regional President of SkillsUSA.

In May of 2020, Clayton ran for state officer at state competition. Seeing his composure, character and dedication as he ran for that office, Jackie Walker, director of SkillsUSA Ohio, then asked Clayton to virtually attend the national convention as voting delegate.

At Madison, Clayton has enjoyed much more in the way of success as he strives to be valedictorian and holds the office of President of the National Honor Society.

Mikayla Wiles is a very active and prominent member of Madison's junior class. She is involved in flag-line. Mikayla is a ballet dancer. She is a member of the Highway Hellions Car Club and the junior career technical Welding Program. She sure knows how to light up a room with all of her talent and activities.

Likewise, Dylan Mapes will represent Madison well in the up-coming year. His artistic talents will create a portrait of Madison's potential for the future as he climbs the ladder of success. His involvement in Precision Machining and his recent endeavors entering into the leadership roles of SkillsUSA will not only allow him to visualize his future but also give him the leeway to help create it.

While we will be saying goodbye to Clayton as leader of the Northwest Region President in January 2021, we see a future that is shining bright for Madison's SkillsUSA Chapter, as we race toward our future with strong leadership, class, and creativity thanks to Mikayla and Dylan.

Virtual tour takes fans behind scenes of "Shawshank Prison"

Home to The Ohio State Reformatory, Destination Mansfield announced the launch of a new virtual tour of the legendary castle-like prison. The site, catapulted to international fame as the backdrop to the The Shawshank Redemption, can now be experienced from any device, computer or smart TV any time, from anywhere in the world. Virtual guests visit the warden's office, darkened hallways, storied bedrooms and cell blocks, through basements and attics, and into historic movie and music video filming sets. Tours are booked at mrps.org/virtual-tours.

As part of community-wide efforts to slow the transmission of COVID-19 and to ensure the safety of visitors and staff, The Ohio State Reformatory limits the number of guests allowed inside. While in-person tours are currently offered, many potential guests may not yet be comfortable traveling so the virtual tour was created to allow Shawshank Redemption fans to experience the prison firsthand — no matter where they're located. Virtual visitors hear tales of the paranormal from the historic prison, which ghost hunters report is one of the most haunted sites in the U.S.

For just $5, guests receive a 24-hour, all-access code. Audiences enjoy 360-degree views of the entire 250,000-square-foot prison and two museums — with the same perspective as if they were visiting in person.

Along with the tour, guests enjoy views of the prison's architecture, do time in "The Hole," step inside maximum-security cells and wander former prison residences.

RPH Commissioner calls on citizens to help fight pandemic

Richland County and Ohio have been experiencing an unprecedented surge in coronavirus cases, unlike anything yet reported during the pandemic.

Richland County has been at Level 3/Red in the Ohio Public Health Advisory System for seven straight weeks, indicating very high exposure and continuing spread of COVID-19 (coronavirus). Richland County again increased its high incidence designation, reporting more than 355 positive coronavirus cases per 100,000 residents with 431 new cases over the past two weeks.

The increase in cases has placed a substantial burden on Richland Public Health's workload. Health Commissioner Sarah Humphrey is calling on all citizens to help in their efforts to control the spread throughout the community.

"With the amount of spread happening in the state right now, public health need has exceeded the available manpower to call every positive case immediately and walk them through the protocols they should be following," Humphrey said. "We need citizens to be proactive and informed on their own. If you've tested positive, have symptoms, or think you've been in contact with a positive case, please stay home.

Take personal responsibility to not expose your friends or co-workers, even if you have tested and are awaiting your results. The virus travels through sharing breathing space with other people and the only way the pandemic will end is to stop allowing the virus to pass from one to another."

Those who have received a positive test result from a doctor, shouldn't wait for public health to call to start isolation. The health commissioner is also asking citizens to think about who they were in close contact with in the 48 hours before symptoms started. Those are the people that should be notified of exposure. Anyone not comfortable doing this, can call the health department and the call to contacts can be made confidentially.

Richland Public Health has a website for additional information on what to do if a test is positive or if someone has been exposed: richlandhealth.org/quarantining.

Five Things to Do If You're Sick or Have Been Exposed to Someone Who is Sick:

Keep your distance. Stay in your bedroom and use a bathroom separate from the one used by other members of your household, if possible. Wear a face mask when around others and try to stay at least six feet away. Have someone else in the home prepare meals and leave them outside your bedroom. Don't share bedding, towels, dishes, or water bottles with others. If something is shared, wash it with soap and water before each use by a separate person.

Do not leave your home (unless necessary for medical care). Ask family, friends, or community groups to help with needs by leaving supplies outside your door.

Limit visitors to those who are necessary. Have them wash their hands when they enter and leave; wear a face mask and stay at least 6 feet away. If they have symptoms of fever, cough, or difficulty breathing, ask them not to come.

Wipe down high-touch areas every day with a disinfectant. This includes door-knobs; light switches; phones; remote controls; appliance, sink, toilet, and cabinet handles; countertops, etc.

Limit contact with pets. If you do interact with pets, wear a facemask, and wash your hands before and after.

Ways to prevent COVID-19:

Stay home if you're sick, even with mild symptoms

Be mindful in your interactions with others. Limit your chances of exposure by maintaining social distancing of at least six feet from non-household members

Wear a mask in public

Consider necessary travel only

Follow good hygiene standards:

Wash hands frequently with soap and water for at least 20 seconds

Use hand sanitizer frequently

Avoid touching your face

Cover coughs and sneezes

The 1992-93 Ontario Occupational Work Experience (OWE) class has 16 students involved in its activities. The OWE class is a state-funded program that allows junior and senior students to attend school during the morning and then receive credit for work at a job station in the afternoon.

Classroom activities are related to the world of work so that students can be better prepared for what awaits them after graduation.

Speakers and field trips to area businesses enhance the students' understanding of the skills needed to be successful in their work.

"The Ontario OWE program has been in existence for almost 20 years and has received tremendous support over the years from local businesses and industry," said Ontario OWE instructor Joe Balogh.

Nov. 19, 1863 — At the dedication of a military cemetery at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, during the American Civil War, President Abraham Lincoln delivers one of the most memorable speeches in American history. In fewer than 275 words, Lincoln brilliantly and movingly reminded a war-weary public why the Union had to fight, and win, the Civil War.

The Battle of Gettysburg, fought some four months earlier, was the single bloodiest battle of the Civil War. Over the course of three days, more than 45,000 men were killed, injured, captured or went missing. The battle also proved to be the turning point of the war: General Robert E. Lee's defeat and retreat from Gettysburg marked the last Confederate invasion of Northern territory and the beginning of the Southern army's ultimate decline.

Grant focus is childcare

The Women's Fund of the Richland County Foundation recently held its grant awards program virtually due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

For the second year in a row, the WF awarded $25,000 to Richland County Youth and Family Council for the childcare initiative. This year's grant will help fund a mentor and resources to provide support to in-home childcare providers in Richland County. RCYFC matched the $25,000 both years for this project.

Other grants were awarded to Avita Health Foundation to buy clothes and personal hygiene items for women who are victims of violent crimes; Catalyst Life Services for materials to educate women about the disease of addiction; and North Central State College Foundation to provide women with up to $200 a year to pay for childcare.

Since 1998, the Women's Fund has granted over $446,000 to programs and nonprofit agencies to empower women and girls. Women's Fund Chairwoman Kristine Lindeman said without the generosity of donors, we would not be able to make these grants.

The WF is conducting a fundraising campaign called "Lifting Women Up." They want to grow the endowment to $2 million to make a larger impact in their grant making.

The Women's Fund was established in 1996 as permanent endowment to support programs that benefit women and girls in our community. The fund has grown to over $1.5 million and has now awarded over $446,000 in grants impacting hundreds of lives.

The Women's Fund also announced the JoAnn Dutton Volunteer Community Service Award. The award was named in honor of JoAnn Dutton, former executive director of the Mansfield YWCA. It celebrates and honors women who devote a significant amount of time and energy in a meaningful way to local charitable organizations.

Brigitte Coles was presented the award for her work on projects including We ACT, Mend Mansfield, coordinated donations for many organizations, and collaboration to provide COVID-19 pop-up testing.

The Richland County Foundation, a not-for-profit 501(c)(3) organization, was established in 1945 as a way for individuals to pool and invest their gifts for the long-term good of Richland County and its residents.

The foundation helps people in Richland County give back to their community by investing their gifts for charity wisely so that grants can be made to improve the quality of life for all the county's citizens. Working together with donors, the foundation meets important needs today and plans for a strong future.

Columbia Gas of Ohio warns of scams

In conjunction with National Utility Scam Awareness Week Nov. 16-20, Columbia Gas of Ohio is reminding the public to be aware of scammers targeting residential and business utility customers.

One of the most common scenarios involves threats to shut off the gas without immediate cash payment on a bill. Scammers will sometimes ask for payment via pre-paid debit cards or gift cards as well. While anyone with a phone number is susceptible, scammers often target small businesses, seniors and those who don't speak English as a first language.

Other common red flags of utility scams include unsolicited requests for personal and banking information, constant pressuring to pay or program offers that seem too good to be true.

Additionally, Columbia Gas employees and contractors always carry ID badges and will gladly show you upon request. Ask them for ID before granting access to your home or business.

The best way to avoid falling victim to utility scams is to always exercise caution.

Anyone who receives a suspicious phone call, email or any other communication from someone claiming to be Columbia Gas of Ohio, should call the customer care center immediately at 1-800-344-4077.

Drop-offs will be done as a drive-thru event and volunteers will collect boxes from cars.

Each year, shoe boxes are sent to children around the world. Many times a
