Blood donation remains essentia

A year ago, many things in the world paused due to the COVID-19 pandemic. But the need for blood never stopped. Today blood donations are just as essential, and the American Red Cross urges individuals who are healthy to make an appointment to donate blood.

For patients in the emergency room, fighting cancer or coping with a life-threatening illness, help can't wait. Their health is reliant on the generosity of blood donors.

More donors, especially those with type O blood, are needed to ensure that patients have lifesaving blood products available for emergencies and everyday medical treatments. Schedule an appointment by downloading the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org, calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or enabling the Blood Donor Skill on an Alexa Echo device.

March is Red Cross Month, an all who come to give March 15-26 will receive an exclusive Red Cross t-shirt, while supplies last.

The Red Cross is testing blood, platelet and plasma donations for COVID-19 antibodies. The test may indicate if the donor's immune system has produced antibodies to this coronavirus, regardless of whether an individual developed COVID-19 symptoms. Testing may also identify the presence of antibodies developed after receiving a COVID-19 vaccine. Red Cross antibody tests will be helpful to identify individuals who have COVID-19 antibodies and may now help current coronavirus patients in need of convalescent plasma transfusions. Convalescent plasma is a type of blood donation collected from COVID-19 survivors that have antibodies that may help patients who are actively fighting the virus. Plasma from whole blood donations that test positive for high levels of COVID-19 antibodies may be used to help COVID-19 patients

COVID-19 antibody test results will be available within one to two weeks in the Red Cross Blood Donor App or donor portal at RedCrossBlood.org. A positive antibody test result does not confirm infection or immunity. The Red Cross is not testing donors to diagnose illness, referred to as a diagnostic test. To protect the health and safety of Red Cross staff and donors, it is important that individuals who do not feel well or believe they may be ill with COVID-19 postpone donation.

Each Red Cross blood drive and donation center follows safety and infection control precautions including temperature checks, social distancing and face coverings for donors and staff. Donors are asked to schedule an appointment prior to arriving at the drive and are required to wear a face covering or mask.

Upcoming blood donation opportunities:

ESSENTIAL WORKERS OF RICHLAND COUNTY!

The City of Ontario will host its annual Easter Egg Hunt in Marshall Park on Saturday, March 27. Due to COVID, this year there will be two different times based on age groups for the egg hunt.

Children ages 3 and under, preschoolers and kinder-garteners will start their egg hunt at noon (arrive by 11:45 am). Children in first through fourth grade will have an egg hunt at 12:30 pm (arrive by 12:20 pm). Masks are required and all COVID-19 guidelines will be followed. Participants should meet at the playscape. Look for age group signs. Children should bring a container for eggs and recycle the eggs when done.

There is a chance for a certain number of kids to win a special prize in each area, so be sure to check eggs for a notification before you leave. Prizes will be awarded at the pavilion by the Ontario Recreation Director.

The event will be held rain or shine. This hunt is for Ontario students or residents only.

THE ALTA TELEGRAPHER and station agent John Satterfield (wearing a white shirt and tie) worked seven days a week in 1906 for $59 a month. He worked 90 days and quit. The bigger Lexington station paid $62.

A Small Place on the Map

By Bob Carter

With no welcome or leaving signs, Alta is among the smallest but locally-named crossroad places that is often visited in Richland County.

You see, the Richland B&O Bike Trail and Marion Avenue Rd. pass through it, as does Alta Rd.

Today, the Alta Greenhouse is the only business and a few scattered houses border the beautiful deep valley scene. It's a pleasant view from the hilltop.

Few folks know the place was originally named Summit Siding, by the railroad which passed through it. That's because the tracks at Alta were the highest point on the line between Newark and Sandusky.

An 1,126 foot-long siding to park unneeded rail cars was built in 1861 as was a "Y" for turning locomotives and cars around.

The siding was also used when northbound extra-long trains couldn't make what was called the "Lexington grade" and had to be broken into sections and reassembled on the siding.

Early on, there was a coal chute and water tower. That grade as known as an engine killer by railroaders and today, bikers can attest to easily going south from Alta but having a real calorie burner on the return trip.

The small railroad station held the telegrapher's office and nearby was a small grocery store run by "Old Erb," as the old-timers remembered him. Also nearby was Adam Hively's blacksmith shop and a post office in a private home.

In the 1800s, the Griebling water-powered grist mill was to the south.

In the 1940s, there was the Burkhart Lumber Company, which John Morley took over, and the Netter Coal Company. The lumber building burned in the early 1960s and the coal yard closed.

Today, the Alta Greenhouse, started by Sam Clever in 1923, and a small office building at the intersection once used by John Morley is all that remains. The origin of the name Alta means high or elevated.

Eddie Murphy returns to his role as Prince Akeem of Zamunda in Coming 2 America, the sequel to 1988's hilarious Coming to America. Akeem discovers from his right hand man Semmi (Aresnio Hall) that he has a son that he never knew about that is still living in Queens, the place that Akeem and Semmi went to find Akeem's bride in the original film. All three of Akeem's daughters, one of whom, Bella Murphy, is Eddie Murphy's real life daughter, are upset they cannot take the throne.

Other plot lines involve a warlord named General Izzi (Wesley Snipes) who will invade Zamunda if Akeem does not marry his oldest daughter to Izzi's son. Akeem's return to Queens and the ensuing time in Zamunda trying to prepare his son (Jemaine Clement) to become the new prince becomes most of where this movie takes us.

Coming to America is a personal favorite Eddie Murphy movie. Its fresh, funny, has a great cast, direction and a complete fish out of water story that still stands in being very endearing and sweet. This sequel also has that sweetness and retains most of the original cast including James Earl Jones, John Amos, Shari Headley and Louie Anderson while it also introduces new characters played by Leslie Jones and Tracy Morgan.

Unfortunately, the movie feels forced and when it includes some scenes from the original to tie in plot lines it just reminds us of how great that movie was. There are some laughs along the way but nothing substantial. A positive though was the entire cast especially Murphy and Hall step right back into these roles and retain what was loved about those characters. It's too bad the movie didn't have another plot or full storyline that was engaging because it feels tired and like a re-tread.

Coming 2 America is available to watch on Prime Video. It's certainly not the worst sequel ever made and it's great to revisit these characters but the plot, writing and overall arch of the film just felt like it's all been done before and that's too bad because this movie had such potential.

Ohio Air National Guard's 179th Airlift Wing (AW) recently departed for a deployment to the Middle East in support of Operation Spartan Shield.

A majority of the members are from the 164th Airlift Squadron and 179th Maintenance Group. They will be flying and maintaining the C-130H aircraft as part of intra-theater operations across the area of responsibility.

Members of the 179th Airlift Wing, Ohio Air National Guard, will be the lead unit and augmented by active duty and reserve members in their forward deployed environments. The primary mission for members of the 179th AW will be to provide direct support to the combatant commander.

179th AW Commander, Col. Todd K. Thomas said, "Our Airmen are combat tested and prepared to provide a high level of tactical air-land and airdrop capabilities to the deployed commander 24/7." Thomas deploying members left in smaller groups on separate aircraft spanned out over several days. Each group was COVID-19 tested and restricted of unnecessary public movements leading up to their departure to mitigate any possible spread.

Maj. Gen. John C. Harris Jr., Ohio adjutant general, was joined by Maj. Gen. James R. Camp, assistant Ohio adjutant general for Air, and Command Chief Master Sgt. Heidi A. Bunker, state command chief, in seeing the groups off. All members are expected to return by early fall 2021.

Harris said, "Good luck on your mission. God bless you. I don't exaggerate when I say that you're in my family's prayers every single night."

Rotary Club celebrates 100th anniversary with a new scholarship

The Rotary Club of Mansfield celebrated its 100th anniversary by setting up a scholarship fund at the Richland County Foundation. It is called the Mansfield Rotary Centennial Scholarship Fund.

The scholarship will be awarded to nontraditional students to attend Ohio State University at Mansfield or North Central State College. The fund is designed to help returning Richland County adult students over the age of 25 who want to pursue a certificate or a degree.

This scholarship could help address local workforce demands," said Mansfield Rotary President Cynthia Wood.

Both colleges have students with families who enroll in their 20s and 30s. They want to go back to school but the tuition is a financial burden. The scholarship will be paid directly to either OSU-M or NCSC and can be used for tuition, books, fee's, or student needs.

Other projects funded by the Rotary Club to observe its anniversary were an old-fashioned street clock in the Carrousel District and a patio and furniture for addiction recovery patients at Catalyst Life Services.

The Rotary Club of Mansfield has three other endowed funds at the Richland County Foundation to ensure a long-term, stable source of funding. The first fund, the Walter Willis Scholarship Fund, was created in 1984. It was named to honor Walter Willis who served as the club's secretary/treasurer for 53 years. He also was a major initial contributor to the fund. His interests in economics, forestry, and natural resources are the focus of the college scholarship.

The McGowan Courage Award Fund was established in 1990 by an anonymous donor and was generously supported by Earl Goetz. It provides funding for $1,000 grants awarded annually to the recipients of the McGowan Courage Award. The award honors high school students who despite facing significant physical, psychological, family, or other challenges manage to succeed in school. The students are nominated by teachers and staff at Richland County high schools. The fund and award are named in honor of Salvation Army Brigadier Bill McGowan, who was a longtime Rotarian and one of the award's originators in 1968.

1991-'92 Rotary Club President Tom Doty set a goal to start a fund to financially support various Rotary Club community projects. Tragically, he died in office. Club members responded by supporting his dream and in 1993 established the Rotary Club of Mansfield Tom Doty Community Fund. The donor advised fund has grown over the years and funded several local projects including a playscape at North Lake Park.

Anyone can donate to the fund online at richlandcountyfoundation.org, click the donate button and select the Mansfield Rotary Centennial Scholarship Fund. Or you can write a check to the Richland County Foundation and note the fund on the memo line.

March of Prayer continues

For the third time in as many years, every evening in March will be filled with prayer and worship in the Mansfield area, by a variety of congregations hosting two-hour services according to their style and traditions. Under the theme, "Mansfield is Godsfield" and "Richland is God's Land," each service will be held 6–8 pm.

"This is an opportunity for people to enter one another's houses of worship and pray for all that is on the heart," said Rev. Paul Lintern, coordinator.

The styles of music and prayer will vary as much as the people who live and worship here, but the love of God and the promise in Jesus Christ remains the same, setting to setting," he added.

Although it was not planned as an annual event, each vear seemed to call out for an additional "March."

"Two years ago, the 31 days ended up stretching 49 evenings until Easter, and astounded everyone who par-

"Last year, we were set to go 65 days, all the way to the National Day of Prayer, and we did, although the last 45 days were online because of the Covid outbreak.'

This year, continued restrictions on and by congregations will have some limits, but appropriate precautions will be taken by each worship site, according to their circumstances.

This year, BibleWalk Museum will host two nights, and the St. Luke's House of Prayer will host seven services, each with different guest leaders.

EIGHTH GRADE students in Mrs. Sorensen's literature class at Ontario Middle School have been discussing the topic of theme. They narrowed down the options of themes in their latest short story, decided which theme was most prevalent and created a mind-map giving a minimum of five supports or pieces of evidence from the story for their choice. They discussed in class their choices and shared the strongest piece of evidence they believed they had to support their theme choice by writing it down on their large post-it and placing it on their theme's chart. New legislation would provide $125 million in relief to Ohio businesses

State Senators Mark Romanchuk (R-Ontario) and Steve Huffman (R-Tipp City) introduced new legislation providing an additional $125 million of federal pandemic relief to bars, restaurants and lodging businesses across Ohio.

"Our small business owners, our restaurants and bars have suffered for months from the pandemic," said Romanchuk.

"It is imperative that we get these needed dollars to them, as so many of these businesses are on the brink of closing forever."

To date, more than $2.5 billion in funding has been approved by the General Assembly to be distributed to Ohio's communities and schools as they emerge from the COVID-19 pandemic.

"The funds included in this bill provide direct relief to our businesses in our communities who are emerging from a difficult time," said Huffman.

"I trust my colleagues in the Senate will move quickly on this legislation to continue providing relief to those who need it most."

Testimony on Senate Bill 108 began March 9 in the Senate Finance Committee, and a companion bill will be introduced in the Ohio House of Representatives.

Western Elementary celebrated Right to Read Week. Ryan Parker, a former student of first grade teacher Mrs. Shelly Knapp, read The Foot Book to her students via zoom. Students also worked on an expository writing to show how they make "Seuss Juice" and enjoyed Flashlight Friday while reading their favorite Dr. Seuss books in class.

RIGHT TO READ WEEK · LEXINGTON WESTERN

TRISHA HUGHES' THIRD GRADE students dressed in green for Right to Read Week. The class identified the main idea and supporting details in Dr. Seuss' book Green Eggs and Ham.

TRISHA HUGHES' third grade students explored concepts of solids and liquids within "hands on investigation." During Dr. Seuss Week, students made and played with "oobleck."

WESTERN'S TITLE TEACHERS Christy Thomas and Chris Kmetz planned a week of fun activities to celebrate reading. They created a Dr. Seuss hallway with decorations. Teachers assisted with hall decorations and decorated their doors.

STEPHANIE COFFMAN'S THIRD GRADE students were treated to the reading of Bartholomew and the Oobleck, by mystery reader Megan Garver. Students drew their own visuals and took notes on their thinking on a section of the text. The students then took turns sharing them with Megan.

STUDENTS IN AMY NORTH'S SECOND GRADE class used Dr. Seuss as an intro to biographies. They also worked on comparing and contrasting texts. They played Dr. Seuss Biography Bingo and had to use a key word and state a fact about Dr. Seuss that they learned from one of their texts. They enjoyed a week learning about the purpose of entertainment as an author and the love of reading.

A MAIN IDEA detective scene was enjoyed in Jodi Rutschilling's third grade class as part of their Dr. Seuss Right to Read Week.

Ohio School Boards Association supports passage of House Bill 67

The Ohio School Boards Association (OSBA) reacted to the passage of House Bill (HB) 67 by the Ohio House of Representatives. The bill, which passed by a vote of 93–1 and advances to the Senate, would provide graduation flexibility and targeted testing waivers to students and schools for the 2020-'21 school year.

However, because a vote on the bill's emergency clause failed 57–38, the bill will not take effect until June, long after tests have been administered. For bills designated as emergency measures, the Ohio Constitution requires twothirds support of the members of each chamber. If an emergency clause is approved, the bill itself also requires a two-thirds majority vote to pass.

"We commend the Ohio House of Representatives and Reps. J. Kyle Koehler and Adam Bird for their swift actions to introduce and pass this critically important legislation," said Jennifer Hogue, OSBA director of legislative services. "We are disappointed, however, that there were insufficient votes for the bill to be passed as an emergency measure. The needs of our students and educators are immediate, and the General Assembly must include an emergency clause for the bill to take immediate effect. This will ensure Ohio's children have the flexibilities needed to their complete the school year amid the COVID-19 pandemic. It will also help school leaders comply with federal testing requirements by lengthening the state's assessment windows.

"We urge the Ohio Senate to take immediate action on this legislation to provide certainty to students, families and educators," Hogue added. "The Senate must include an emergency clause in the bill for it to take immediate effect, and the House must concur with those changes. Doing so will have an immediate impact for our schools."

LOOKING BACK: This Week in Tribune-Courier History

Richland Mall Director Joe Gentille, left, is shown presenting a check representing contributions collected from the fountains in the mall to William Wilkinson, director of the Richland County Association for the Mentally Retarded, Inc.; others receiving checks in equal amounts are M. Eugene Winters, center, director of the Hearing and Speech Center; and Russ E. Gimbel, Director of the Friendly House. The contributions, coins collected from the fountains, and dropped by shoppers in the Mall, amounted to $150. According to Gentille, they are collected by the Mall maintenance department, soaked in muriatic acid to remove calcium and other water deposits, counted in Woolworth's counting machine, individually wrapped and deposited in a special checking account in the bank for distribution to area charities. "We intend to continue this practice of donating the coins to all charities as we collect them. None of the money is kept by the Mall. All of it is given in contributions. It is a big job, but we are proud to do it. It is a true expression of the charitableness of our shoppers and we encourage them to continue their thoughtful donations," Gentille said.
