The Dangers of Early Railroading

By Bob Carter

It was a great day when the railroad was built from Sandusky to Mansfield. The arrival of the first locomotive in June of 1846, on what was then called the Sandusky & Mansfield Railroad was an historic event. But it also spurred a movement to extend the line further south to Newark. This extension was not completed until 1851.

This southern part of the line was built with haste and built with primitive equipment available. In that era, railroading was a dangerous occupation. Breaks on cars had to be set by hand with men walking on cars to do it. Coupling cars was also dangerous as men could be crushed between cars. Engineers and firemen had only whistle and hand signals to communicate with crew.

On May, 10, 1883, the Sandusky Register reported a terrible wreck which occurred near the present day junction of Hanley Rd. and Lexington-Springmill, north of Lexington. A small stream crosses under the B&O Bike Trail at the wreck site.

The Sandusky Register gave this account "The freight train that left here at six o'clock yesterday morning on the Sandusky, Mansfield and Newark Railroad, was thrown from the track near Lexington, by coming into contact with a cow. Being near a bridge which spans a small stream, the engine was precipitated into the water. We are pained to state that the conductor, Mr. James Teegarden, of Mansfield, the engineer Joseph St. Peters, and the fireman, named Mc-Lear, were instantly killed. The latter two were horribly mutilated. Mr. Teegarden, it is said, was thrown into the water, and when the dispatch was sent, his body was still under the ruins. The engineer resided in Newark, and leaves a family. We have not learned of the probable damage to the train."

In September, a year later, the Mansfield Shield & Banner reported another accident near Independence, which is now Butler: "It appears that the Mail Train - Conductor Jackson, coming north was ahead of the freight train on its usual time, and stopped to wood. The "Hocking" freight train - James Hays, engineer - having disregarding the rules as to fast running and passing the station at Independence without stopping - another violation of the rules - came up at full speed and struck the hinder most passenger car in which quite a number of passengers were in it, splitting it entirely in two, injuring more or less most of the passengers in it. The whole blame is attached to the engineer of the "Hocking" who was promptly discharged by the vigilant and watchful superintendent of the road, Mr. J. R. Robinson."

In those early years the SM&N Railroad constructed their own rail cars in Sandusky, which were primarily built with wood.

J. R. Robinson lived in Mansfield in what now is known as Oak Hill Cottage. The railroads engine house was just down the hill where he could keep an eye on things. Engines in that era burned wood, not coal. Stopped to "wood" meant taking on fuel.

Still another terrible accident happened on Dec. 24, 1857 when the engine "Frederick" named for Fredericktown, exploded about a quarter mile from Monroeville. It had waited about half an hour for the Cleveland & Toledo train to cross where their tracks intersected, and had just left the station when the blast occurred. The boiler blew to pieces, some which were found 40 to 80 yards away. Fences on both sides of the track were laid flat and 200 pound chunks of metal stripped through trees. Fragments of the bell were found 120 rods away in a farm field.

A reporter described the scene this way; "The flues of the boiler were twisted into an almost solid mass, the heavy cylinders twitched off, battered, carrying with them the pistons and part of the connecting rods. The truck and driving wheels, with heavy spokes of solid wrought iron, were bent wholly out of shape- in short, the engine was blown into fragments, an utter wreck beyond the possibility of repair."

By some miracle, the engineer and fireman were blown back into the tender and survived. The fireman had a bad cut on his head and both were slightly scalded. The "Frederick" had cost $8,500 new in 1851 and was valued at $5,000 when it blew up.

Railroading was a dangerous business.

Foundation's scholarship honors Doug Castle's legacy

Mansfield Senior High School graduating seniors can apply for the Doug Castle Legacy Fund Scholarship.

Due to a successful fundraiser, the scholarship will be increased to $2,500 this year. It will be awarded annually at the discretion of the Doug Castle Legacy Project Advisory Committee at Richland County Foundation. The scholarship acknowledges and celebrates a student who has demonstrated leadership and commitment to community involvement with a sense of fairness and concern for others.

Priority may be given to a student interested in pursuing a degree and career in K-12 education.

Applications are due by April 15 and are available in the Mansfield Senior High School Guidance Counselor office.

Doug Castle was a local educator whose 50-year career spanned all aspects of education and athletics in Richland County. He had a special place in his heart for the underdog because as a poor Appalachian kid from Little Kentucky, he was not considered 'college material' until a caring teacher and coach encouraged him to try and it changed his life trajectory.

When he died of brain cancer in 2018, his family established the Doug Castle Legacy Fund at the Richland County Foundation to carry on his work and support a scholarship opportunity for a hard-working student who wants to make a difference in the community and college could be that path forward.

"My dad used to talk about how it made all the difference to have a 'Russell Patterson' to believe in him, mentor him, tell him that he was 'college material' and he became that guy who spent his entire life paying it forward," said daughter, Dr. Beth Castle. "He was a class leader, an athlete and got good grades but as a self-described poor hillbilly kid, there was no one telling him he could do more."

"So, when he became principal of Simpson (former middle school) he led with a philosophy that every student mattered, he knew their names on the first day of school and treated everyone with fairness, if he had to punish, it was the behavior and not the student. College helped him understand more about the unequal systems which helped him relate to his students with this radical fairness and equality. Maybe not always, but that's certainly what I learned from him, and we want to play some small part in helping another Mansfield student get to college."

Doug began his teaching career in 1965 at John Simpson Junior High School and took an active role in coaching football, basketball, and track. Castle retired from Mansfield City Schools in 2000 after years of leadership including as principal of Simpson, and then worked as the Galion Middle School principal for the next five years. For many years he was also the director of the Mansfield Mehack Relays and then the Gorman Wrestling Tournament. Ohio State University Football Coach Jim Tressel hired Castle to work as an Academic Encourager for the young men on the football team.

Castle developed an administrative philosophy based on being fair and keeping a sense of humor. He was a staunch believer in disciplining children in a way that would not destroy their dignity or self-respect. He valued every student.

To donate, visit richlandcountyfoundation.org, click the donate button and select the Doug Castle Fund or send a check to the Richland County Foundation and note the fund on the memo line.

I am excited to talk to you this week about a summer bucket list.

How many of you create a summer bucket list? I know you probably have a vacation planned or family reunion to go to, but I want you to dig a little deeper for this list.

I encourage my clients to put 5 to 10 items on a list. I encourage five goals if at the beginning of a fitness journey and 10 for those that are more advanced.

I want to encourage you to challenge yourself and pick fun ideas that push you out of your comfort zone. It can be a little scary to do something new and challenging, but the self confidence that comes from it is amazing!

We need to constantly grow as humans, we don't want to get stuck in the rut of work, pay bills, run the kids everywhere, sleep and repeat.

Enjoy this life, challenge your body and go try something new. Challenge yourself, enjoy yourself and love yourself!

I will share some of my summer bucket list with you:

- Paddle board for the first time
- Kayak for the first time
- Go hiking more
- Do five, 5k races
- Attend an Aerial class and a CirqFit at Evolves Studio

This is the start of my list, I plan to add more. Getting healthier and more fit can be fun. What have you been wanting to try?

I encourage you to create your list and make a plan and lets not just enjoy our summer, lets experience it!

- 1 Tbsp. mustard
- 1 Tbsp. paprika
- 1 cup red wine
- 1 cup beef broth (you may need more broth as it cooks)
- 2 Tbsp. brown sugar
- 1 Tbsp. soy sauce
- Pretzel Roll or Hawaiian Sweet Roll (or roll of your choice)
- Provolone cheese (optional)

Instructions

Heat olive oil in bottom of pan you are using (I have a crock pot that I can put on the stove top so this is what I use). Cover the meat with salt and pepper and brown in the oil, turning to get both sides. Remove from the pan. Add garlic and onion and sauté until tender, but not browned. Add the tomato paste, vinegar, Worcestershire, mustard, and paprika, stir around so flavors are well combined. Be careful not to burn so reduce heat while doing this. Add the wine and broth and bring to a boil, add brown sugar and soy sauce. Add meat back in and make sure it is well covered with the liquid, if not add more wine and/or broth. Put crockpot on low and cook away (or put in oven on low and cook for 1-2 hours checking frequently to make sure there is enough liquid). Shred up and put on sandwich roll. Serve with some coleslaw and you are all set.

Mansfield Classical Academy offers unique learning opportunities

Photos and Article By Traci Little

Mansfield Classical Academy exists to cultivate wisdom, truth and virtue. The goal is to equip children to think and lead to the glory of God alone. This Christ-centered, classical university style community seeks to serve the Lord in all they do.

MCA strives to enable children, under the Biblical mandate of parent-led teaching, to become free, logical and imaginative thinkers in preparation for a lifetime of leadership in their homes, congregations and communities. At MCA, value is placed on the accountability and excellence in education, while illuminating the Creator in all studies.

Mansfield Classical Academy is a K-12 classical university styled school. With the focus and structure around the scholé style, tutors and staff are committed to a classical course of studies. This is a path that has been proven beneficial since ancient times.

The word scholé (pronounced skoh-LAY) comes from a Greek word that means “restful learning,” with the connotation of contemplation, conversation and reflection. The long tradition of classical Christian education has emphasized the seeking of truth, goodness and beauty and the study of the liberal arts and great books. They follow a core sequence of studies, which includes Latin, logic, writing, and rhetoric as well as great books, mathematics and science.

MCA seeks to educate children with excellence in a restful and flexible environment. Mansfield Classical Academy enables parents to fulfill their mission as the primary educators and influencers in their children’s life. Therefore, students spend more time learning at home. By engaging students through the process of critical thinking and creative learning, students are able to reach beyond a normal classroom learning style.

In order to provide families with flexibility and independence, MCA operates in the State of Ohio, not as a private school, but as a homeschool cooperative. Operating in this way allows them more freedom to make scheduling and curriculum choices that are in accord with their aims. By providing instruction and support to like-minded homeschool families that does not operate as a private school, parents are responsible for their own homeschool record keeping. MCA can help walk through any of these simple requirements.

It was fun to walk through the different classrooms and see the kids so at ease and truly enjoying learning. One child was especially thrilled to be able to recite her memorized poetry piece, “The Swing,” by Robert Louis Stevenson. Children and teens explored art on their own, being inspired by scripture and ideas from real life experiences.

Children read and wrote down verses and were encouraged to paint and draw ideas from their scripture reading. Classical education embraces the concept of educating the whole child above standardized test scores. It gives children a virtuous education, full of content-rich curriculum. Teachers are hired that are specialized in their area of expertise. They are passionate about their subject of choice, and children respond well to this excitement and drive!

Classical education strives to go back to the basics of learning. A return to fundamental, foundational principles happens through learning Latin at all grade levels. This creates a far-reaching foundation for education. The importance of learning Latin, logic, rhetoric, mathematics and science is of extreme importance. Introducing great books, conversation, poetry and art are valued. Pursuing who God is through the Bible in this Christ-centered environment, is woven through everything they learn.

MCA meets weekly on Mondays and Thursdays from 9 am to 4 pm at 378 Park Avenue West, Mansfield. To find out more about the school visit <https://mansfieldclassicalacademy.square.site/>

This unique school in Mansfield, seeks to serve the Lord for His glory alone, as their emblem conveys. Teachers and staff welcome parents to reach out with any questions and would love to have your family join them.

A classical, university style learning experience equipping children to think and learn to the glory of God.

Advantage Credit Union creates scholarship

Advantage Credit Union created the Marilyn Archer Scholarship to honor the memory of Marilyn Archer. Marilyn fought a valiant four-year fight against cancer and died at the age of 52.

She worked for the Credit Union as a volunteer for 20 years and as a staff member for 10.

She gave to the credit union in many ways that made the road easier for those that followed without anticipation of personal profit or recognition.

It is the hope of the family and the credit union that this scholarship will inspire future leaders with the gifts she possessed of common sense and a volunteer spirit.

The scholarship is for $1,000 to go toward college expenses.

A few board members select the winner, based on a 500-word essay, scholastic and extracurricular activities, along with transcripts, and statement of desire. All students in Richland County are eligible, along with those who are members or the son or daughter of a member. If a student is not a member, a free savings account will be opened for them, which makes them a member for life.

The credit union to provide products for young adults that help them build credit and make smart loans that give them a chance to get established. Another plus is that once a member, always a member, so if one moves away from the area, they'll be able to take the hometown, local benefits with them.

Along with the completed application, submissions must include a high school transcript, list of extracurricular activities (clubs, sports, etc.), statement of desire: What are your future educational goals/dreams and how will this scholarship assist you in achieving them?; and a 500-word essay in response to "Describe how you would explain the value found in credit union membership to your fellow high school seniors."

Applications are due by 5 pm on Friday, April 29. To receive an application visit https://www.advantage4.org/upload/marilyn_archer_scholarship_2022.pdf

Alzheimer's Association programs can help with tough decisions

The Alzheimer's Association Northwest Ohio Chapter is offering three programs that will help families learn more about dementia, make challenging decisions together and communicate more effectively.

The virtual programs, being offered free to the community, are:

"Legal and Financial Planning," 5:30–7:30 pm on Monday, March 21

"Effective Communication Strategies," 12–1 pm on Thursday, March 24

"Understanding Alzheimer's and Dementia," 5–6 pm on Monday, March 28

These programs will be presented on Zoom and pre-registration is required. To register, call the Alzheimer's Association's 24/7 Helpline at 800-272-3900 and provide an email address.

Instructions about how to join the webinars will be emailed to registrants.

"The early days of learning that a loved one has dementia are overwhelming, and there are new challenges that arise as the disease progresses," said Pam Myers, Alzheimer's Association Northwest Ohio Chapter program director.

"Our programs provide education about dementia, practical advice about legal and financial considerations, effective ways to communicate as a loved one changes."

"Legal and Financial Planning" on March 21 helps families make practical plans for the future. This interactive two-part program covers making legal plans that fit family needs, required legal documents and what they mean for families, how to find legal and financial assistance, practical strategies for making a long-term plan of care, tax deductions and credits, and government programs that can help pay for care.

"Effective Communication Strategies" on March 24 helps families and caregivers gain a greater understanding of the ways that people living with Alzheimer's and other dementia rely on attitude, tone of voice, facial expressions and body language as their ability to use language is lost. Learn how to decode the verbal and behavioral messages delivered by people living with dementia, and identify strategies to help connect at each stage of the disease.

"Understanding Alzheimer's and Dementia" on March 28 describes why Alzheimer's is not a normal part of aging. Learn about the impact of Alzheimer's, the difference between Alzheimer's and dementia, disease stages and risk factors, current research and treatments available for some symptoms, and Alzheimer's Association resources.

"These programs will address many of the questions families may have in the initial days of living with Alzheimer's: facts about the disease itself, how to make tough legal and financial decisions, and how to communicate with your loved one," Myers said. "It's never easy to tackle these first tasks, but our educational programs will support you through the necessary steps."

Those who are concerned about themselves or a loved one can contact the Alzheimer's Association Northwest Ohio Chapter at 419-537-1999 to schedule a care consultation and be connected with local resources that can help.

ANNA WHITAKER AND JEN RANEY were named March Ontario Middle School MVPs by February MVP Kelley Caporini. Caporini said, "When you think of an MVP, you might think of someone who is the star of the show. When I think of an MVP, I think of someone who is a very important part of a team. At OMS, we have two ladies who are definitely MVPs! As a matter of fact, our team could not function without them. They come to school everyday at their regular time, even if we are on a 2-hour delay so that lunch can be on time. They change their game plan when school is canceled. When our students come to school hungry, they make sure they get their bellies full. This year has brought a lot of changes and new responsibilities, but they both have stepped up to the plate and knocked it out of the ballpark. Anna Whitaker and Jen Raney are the MVPs of our kitchen and I'm proud to thank them for all they do and honor them with the March MVP of OMS."

Constitutional carry signed in Ohio

The NRA's Institute for Legislative Action (NRA-ILA) applauds Ohio Gov. Mike DeWine for signing Senate Bill 215, NRA-backed legislation that allows law-abiding gun owners to carry a firearm without a permit from the state.

"Any right requiring a fee or government permission slip isn't much of a right at all. That's why the NRA worked tirelessly with state leaders and legislators to pass this landmark legislation in Ohio," said Jason Ouimet, NRA-ILA executive director. "The NRA commends Gov. DeWine for signing this important piece of legislation that protects the Second Amendment rights of all law-abiding Buckeyes."

Constitutional carry allows anyone who is legally allowed to possess a firearm to carry that firearm without a permit from the state. It does not expand access to firearms or allow any new categories of people to carry. Currently, it is legal for law-abiding citizens to carry a firearm if the firearm is visible. Now those same citizens can carry that firearm under a jacket or in a purse. Ohio is now the 23rd state to allow law-abiding individuals to carry a concealed handgun without a government-issued permit.

March 17, 1776 — British forces are forced to evacuate Boston following General George Washington's successful placement of fortifications and cannons on Dorchester Heights, which overlooks the city from the south. During the evening of March 4, Major General John Thomas, under orders from Washington, secretly led a force of 800 soldiers and 1,200 workers to Dorchester Heights and began fortifying the area. To cover the sound of the construction, American cannons, besieging Boston from another location, began a noisy bombardment of the outskirts of the city. By the morning, more than a dozen cannons from Fort Ticonderoga had been brought within the Dorchester Heights fortifications. British General Sir William Howe hoped to use the British ships in Boston Harbor to destroy the American position, but a storm set in, giving the Americans ample time to complete the fortifications and set up their artillery. Realizing their position was now indefensible, 11,000 British troops and 1,000 Loyalists departed Boston by ship on March 17, sailing to the safety of Halifax, Nova Scotia. The bloodless liberation of Boston by the Patriots brought an end to a hated eight-year British occupation of the city. History.com

Red Cross testing blood donations for COVID-19 antibodies

For a limited time, the American Red Cross has resumed testing all blood, platelet and plasma donations for COVID-19 antibodies. Plasma from routine donations that have high levels of COVID-19 antibodies may be used as convalescent plasma to help meet the needs of COVID-19 patients with weakened immune systems.

At the same time, the Red Cross blood supply remains vulnerable, and individuals are urged to schedule a blood or platelet donation. In the days and weeks ahead, it's critically important the Red Cross maintains a readily available blood supply so hospital patients can receive the care they need. To make an appointment, use the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767).

The Red Cross first tested donations for COVID-19 antibodies earlier in the pandemic to provide convalescent plasma for patients. When infection rates decreased and new treatment options became available, the Red Cross discontinued the program. With the surge of new variants, hospitals began to seek out more treatments for their most vulnerable patients, and new clinical trial data has shown that convalescent plasma may benefit immunocompromised patients. The Red Cross is resuming this program to ensure doctors have every tool available to support treatment.

Antibody testing will indicate if the donor's immune system has produced antibodies to this coronavirus following vaccination or infection, regardless of whether they developed symptoms. Donations will be tested using samples pulled at the time of donation and sent to a testing laboratory where they will also undergo routine infectious disease testing. A positive antibody test result does not confirm infection or immunity.

COVID-19 antibody test results will be available 1-2 weeks after donation in the Red Cross Blood Donor App or donor portal at RedCrossBlood.org. The Red Cross is not testing donors to diagnose illness, referred to as a diagnostic test.

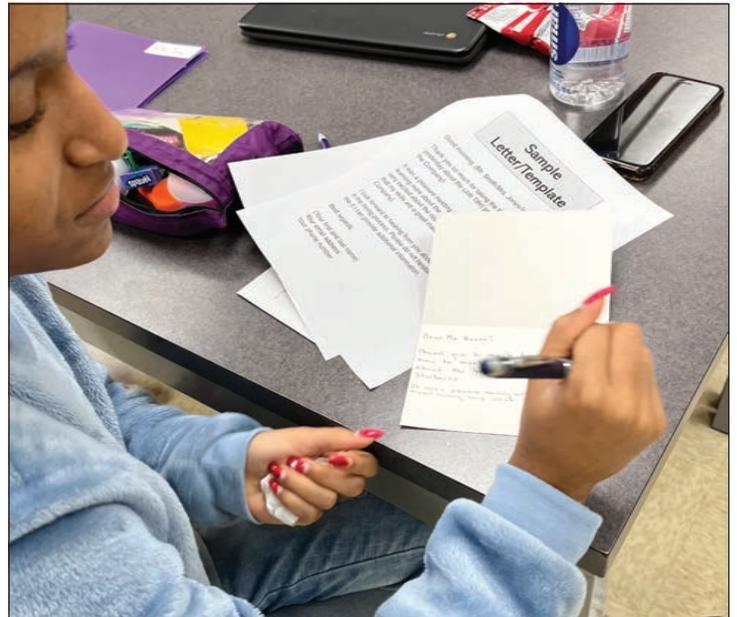

All who come to give blood or platelets in March will get a $10 e-gift card, thanks to Fanatics. Plus, donors will also automatically be entered for a chance to win a trip for two to the 2022 MLB® All-Star Game® in Los Angeles, California, when you come to give March 1-31. The package includes two tickets to 2022 MLB® All-Star Saturday, the 2022 Home Run Derby, and the 2022 MLB® All-Star Game®, round-trip airfare to Los Angeles, four-night hotel accommodations (July 16-20, 2022), plus a $750 gift card for expenses.*

Each Red Cross blood drive and donation center follows a high level of safety and infection control and additional precautions — including face masks for donors and staff, regardless of vaccination status — have been implemented to help protect the health of all those in attendance. Donors are asked to schedule an appointment prior to arriving at the drive.

Donors can also save up to 15 minutes at the blood drive by completing a RapidPass®. With RapidPass®, donors complete the pre-donation reading and health history questionnaire online, on the day of donation, from a mobile device or computer. To complete a RapidPass®, follow the instructions at RedCrossBlood.org/RapidPass or use the Red Cross Blood Donor App.

To donate blood, individuals need to bring a blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification that are required at check-in. Individuals who are 17 years of age in most states (16 with parental consent where allowed by state law), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also must meet certain height and weight requirements.

The American Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides comfort to victims of disasters; supplies about 40% of the nation's blood; teaches skills that save lives; distributes international humanitarian aid; and supports veterans, military members and their families. The Red Cross is a nonprofit organization that depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to deliver its mission. For more information visit redcross.org or CruzRojaAmericana.org, or visit on Twitter at @RedCross.

STUDENTS IN MRS. RHODES' Career and College Readiness class at Ontario High School completed a mock interview for a barista position at Starbucks with the hiring managers being the administrators. Each student completed an application prior to the interview, and each student brought their resume and cover letter with them to the mock interview. After the interview, students wrote a thank you card and a thank you email to the hiring manager. (Top photo) High school principal Chris Smith meets with Abigail Kern.
