State Rep John visits Madison Local Schools

Photos and Article
By Traci Little

State Representative Marilyn John visited the Madison Local School District on Friday, April 29, along with Madison Local School District Superintendent Rob Peterson, Board of Education President Tim Wigton and Board of Education member Mary Kotterman.

Marilyn John and the group visited Madison South at 10:15 am, the middle school at 11 am, and had lunch at the Ramble Inn at the high school at 11:45 am. After lunch, the group toured Madison Comprehensive High School and Madison Adult Career Center.

Representative John accepted the invitation to tour the Madison Local School District to find out all the wonderful things going on. It was also an opportunity to make known the challenges that the school faces and to hear how our local government can help improve these obstacles.

DURING STATE REPRESENTATIVE MARILYN JOHN'S visit to Madison Local Schools, she toured Madison Middle School where she and principal Johnathan Muro visited several classes. Among those visited were a Study Skills class (catching up with learning loss) and Medical Detectives, an innovative program where students are currently learning how to develop a comprehensive understanding of computer coding. They also visited Spanish (an introduction to Spanish that stretches and enriches gifted students), sixth grade band (enrichment of the arts) and a Special Education class. See more photos on Page 5.

REACH offers tours during spring open house

Photos and Article
By Traci Little

The Richland Early American Center for History held its spring open house on May 7 and 8.

The public was invited to tour the 1812 Blockhouse, the 1808 Petersburg Log Cabin and the newest Hawks Nest Forge & Cooperage, all located at South Park, 100 Brinkerhoff Ave., in Mansfield.

Visitors took a step back in time and explored early American cabin life by venturing into the blockhouse where early pioneers gathered for protection.

Passport stamps were available for school children. The 1800s log cabin was moved from Mifflin to the park.

The Blockhouse, originally located in Mansfield's public square, was one of 11 built in the Mansfield area during the War of 1812 as a refuge from Native American attacks, and is the last surviving local structure from that era.

Sunda Peters, a founding member of the REACH historical nonprofit group, has done a lot of work to keep the Blockhouse preserved. In 2010, the restoration project stalled and it was Sunda who came forward to raise funds and gather volunteers. In 2015 she led the creation of the new non-profit, REACH. Sunda has given countless hours and a labor of love towards all that goes into preserving our areas great history.

Visitors entered to win a beautiful herb garden basket valued at $65 by entering their name into a drawing for a small donation of $1 per entry. The basket contained six herb plants, a garden tool kit, garden gloves, glass spray bottle, an herb book, wildflower seed packs, and plaque.

Colonial Days will take place on June 11 at 10 am through June 12 at 4 pm. Come discover what life was like in early America during the 18th and 19th Century from living historical reenactors.

Throughout the day there will be crafts, trades, demonstrations, and activities, including Blacksmithing, Games and Children's Activities, Open Hearth

Cooking Demonstrations, and Civilian and Military Reenact-

Save Money, Make Your Own Paint

By Bob Carter

Back in the Civil War era, log cabins were a sign of being poor or an uncaring home owner.

To keep up with the Jones, some home owners expanded their log cabins and covered the log portion of their homes with wood siding, which left it looking more up to date. Most others built new frame dwellings.

Even then, the new siding needed a coat of paint to prevent weathering. The frugal home owner could purchase expensive store bought paint or could make his own and save a little money.

The following is directions for the do-it-yourself type wishing to make their own paint. It was published in an 1850s Mansfield newspaper:

“A cheap paint — Before the flies come, it’s the time to paint, and we think the farmers will find the following profitable for house and fence paint: Skim milk, 2 quarts; fresh slaked lime, 8 ounces; linseed oil, 6 ounces; white burgundy pitch, 2 ounces; Spanish white 3 pounds. The lime is to be slacked in water, exposed to air, and then mixed in about one fourth of the milk. The oil in which the pitch is dissolved, to be added a little at a time, then the rest of the milk, and afterwards the Spanish white. This is sufficient for twenty seven square yards, two coats.

This is for white paint. If desirable, any other color may be produced. Thus, if a cream colored is desired, in place of a part of the Spanish white, use yellow ochre, or if a yellow, use the ochre alone.”

And there you have it. Make your own paint and cut out the middle man. It might look a bit like Laurel and Hardy but think of the sense of adventure by testing your skill and brain power against ones neighbor who just goes and buys everything at a store.

Think of the fun you’ll have. You might even save money!

THE ENTERTAINMENT EXAMINER

— By Ian Stumbo —

Doctor Strange in the Multiverse of Madness is the latest film in the Marvel film series and it takes a slightly different route combining your run of the mill superhero film with some nice touches of horror and scary moments.

Doctor Strange (Benedict Cumberbatch) meets a young girl named America who is the key to unlocking the multiverse, a world of different universes. There he comes back into contact with the Avenger Scarlett Witch (Elizabeth Olsen) who he must pair up with until things take an unexpected turn.

I apologize for the vague plot, however it is difficult to write a great description without spoiling much of the movie.

Cumberbatch and Olsen are terrific in their roles and there are some thrilling scenes including one with a tentacle creature and the big finale in the snowy mountains. The director of this film is Sam Raimi and his stamp is all over this. He truly makes this movie what it is and elevates the material. His horror credentials come in with directing The Evil Dead film series and he also directed the Tobey Maguire Spider-Man trilogy so Raimi definitely knows what he is doing in both genres.

This is a fun movie and the horror elements really work with the spooky imagery and Scarlet Witch’s makeup through the third half of this film is awesome. The biggest complaint is the first third of the movie really takes off and things seem to be happening in an order that is too convenient rather than one that make sense. Luckily things start to even out once Strange and America enter the multiverse.

Doctor Strange in the Multiverse of Madness is surely not the best film by far in the Marvel series but an enjoyable entry nonetheless. It offers fine work from the actors (including Benedict Wong and Rachel McAdams back in their supporting roles from the original) and terrific direction by Raimi who takes this film in a whole other direction and the movie is all the better for it.

READERS’ FORUM

Ontario Local Schools is extremely grateful for the community’s support of its schools. With the passage of the district’s 10-year operating levy on yesterday’s ballot, we are excited to continue providing a high-quality education to our students.

This renewal comes at zero tax increase to residents and will allow us to maintain day-to-day operations, including staffing, utilities, technology and supplies. We remain committed to being transparent and fiscally responsible with all district funds.

We especially want to thank all of the volunteers who dedicated their time and energy to sharing information about this issue with our community. We can’t wait to see what the future holds for Ontario Schools.

Respectfully,
Lisa Carmichael

Summer is just around the corner and it is time to get out our summer clothes and try them on to see what fits.

Let me ask you, who tries to do what it takes to fit in last year's clothes and who just goes out and buys new?

If your summer wardrobe is a little snug and you want to trim down and feel comfortable in it, today's article is for you. I am going to give you five ways to help tone up and lose some body fat.

Tip 1: NUTRITION is key to reducing body fat. If you have poor nutrition the next four tips I give you will not matter. Step one, cut the crap! You know what I'm talking about — cookies, ice cream, chips... eat lean and green and get in some yummy berries for your fruit choice. Keep your metabolism revving by having a 100-200 calorie snack every 2-3 hours.

Tip 2: FASTING CARDIO — When you wake up, grab some water and do at least 15 minutes of cardio. You can use a machine or go outside for a run. You can also do a 6-10 minute tabata style or HIIT workout just using your body weight. Then get in a good protein source for breakfast and you will be ready for your day.

Tip 3: STRENGTH TRAINING — Using weights and building muscle revs your metabolism and burns fat. Plus muscle takes up less space than fat so your clothes will fit better.

Tip 4: HYDRATION — Staying hydrated is so important to flush out toxins and hydrate your muscles and brain. If you are feeling sluggish take in some water instead of caffeine, you need at least 64 ounces a day. It is also important to reduce alcohol and sugary drinks.

Tip 5: GOOD SUPPLEMENTS — CLA is an amazing supplement to help change your body composition. I have a collagen based CLA called TRIM (vanilla is my favorite). I take 1 Tbsp. a day and it helps block body fat storage and helps enhance lean muscle growth, a WIN, WIN! Plus the liquid collagen is the best for your joints and skin.

Also, a good probiotic for gut health will help with unwanted bloating for when it's time to put on that swimsuit.

You can find both of these amazing supplements at my site Moder.com/1066074 My link will get you $10 off your first order.

Let's do what it takes to get summer ready!

Thirty-one Clear Fork seniors will receive scholarships from foundation

Thirty-one Clear Fork High School seniors will be awarded $25,000 in scholarship monies by the Clear Fork Valley Foundation.

A banquet for the recipients will be held at Der Dutchman on Monday, May 16 at 6 pm. Students will not know which scholarship or the amount that they are being awarded until that night.

Receiving scholarships are Braden Ball, Brooke Beer, Destiny Bittinger, Hannah Blakley, Riley Brokaw, Madison Caudill, Maddie Clark, Caleb Dettmer, Adeline Haring, Ellie Hauger, Michayla Hoeflich, Kaleb Hollar, Luke Jeffrey Labaki, Zoe McCue, Emmalee Mellick, Grace Mellott, Caiden Moody, Evan Moody, Jeffrey Moody, Alexander Pore, Hannah Pryor, Ashtynn Roberts, Allison Ross, Alexis Salkovick, Jacob Ross Shoemaker, Zane Shultz, Ethan Staley, Claire Stewart, Alyssa Swank, Sydney Thorne and Grace Wolfgang.

Clear Fork Valley Foundation allows for businesses and residents to create their own Acorn Fund. Acorn Funds allow donors to build charitable endowments the same way individuals build retirement plans – through regular contributions over time.

An Acorn Fund can be established for a scholarship with an initial gift of $5,000. Donors can name their own fund for an individual or family.

The funds will be invested in the market and donors have the option of giving tax-deductible contributions of any amount at any time. Once a fund has reached $20,000 (through donations, not market growth), it becomes an established endowment scholarship fund at the Clear Fork Valley Foundation (CFVF). The fund will be able to make scholarships based on CFVF's distribution procedures. Donors can also choose to award scholarships each year before the endowment is established by donating money to the income (pass-through) portion of the fund.

Donors have the option of playing an active role in the giving of the scholarship or entrusting those decisions to the foundation's scholarship committee and board of trustees.

Day of Prayer events span over Ashland, Richland Counties

Photos and Article By Traci Little

For the first time ever, the Ashland Community Prayer Breakfast was sold out.

Guests enjoyed a yummy hot breakfast at Ashland University and heard from keynote speaker, Alan Robertson of Duck Dynasty. Tables were decked out in duck decor and many wore their favorite camouflage attire.

City of Ashland Mayor Matt Miller and Commissioner Jim Justice gave the Proclamations, followed by special music from Steventhen Holland. Alan Robertson gave a heartfelt and humorous message to the crowd encouraging them to make prayer a focal point of everything we do.

He encouraged everyone that it is possible to mix faith and business together. Long before Duck Dynasty was on the air for the public to see, there were many years of humble obedience in private.

Together, the group took time to pray for military and veterans, national leaders, state elected officials, community social service support agencies and business leaders, law enforcement and members of the fire department, elected officials and employees of Ashland County, educators and pastors and christian ministry leaders.

A special prayer was given for personal spiritual renewal and protection in the country. Guests were encouraged to write down any prayer requests and note if they accepted Christ as their personal Savior for the first time that day. There were about 55 table sponsors represented in the room.

In Richland County, a crowd gathered at First English Lutheran Church in Mansfield to celebrate the National Day of Prayer. The program was put on by the Richland Prayer Network.

Scott Berry opened the program on the organ, followed by a beautiful praise trio (Jimmy Cantwell, Julianna Akuchie and Ashley Howell) that led the group in worship.

The program was moderated by Scott Saunders of RISE FM who kept the day meaningful while respecting everyone's time commitments.

Keynote speaker, Pastor Aaron Rose of Fusion Church of the Madison area, gave a powerful and motivating message. The message personally left me in awe of my Savior, and ready to serve Him with passion and intensity.

Pastor Aaron Rose took time to honor Rev. El Akuchie for years and years of service in the ministry. He spoke of Akuchie's legacy of heartfelt prayers that have paved the way for preacher's like himself to minister to others. "He's raised up sons and daughters in the faith and this is the highest calling," Aaron said. As the mantle passes through multiple generations, I pray that you would continue to cover this county with this ministry that you've provided.

A few highlights from Pastor Rose's message included "What's impossible with man is possible with God," "We need to turn to God in prayer! It starts with prayer, and it's the most we can do!" and "There's still hope as long as the King is on the throne."

The group prayed over some of our local elected public officials and law enforcement. They also prayed for personal repentance, educational institutions, the medical field, national leaders and the judiciary, churches, and the media and arts. Rev. El Akuchie closed the program with a benediction and the praise team sang the group out.

Mansfield Forensic Science Laboratory to receive state grant

State Representative Marilyn John (R-Richland County) announced that more state-funding is coming to Richland County through the new Ohio Crime Lab Efficiency Program.

The purpose of the program, spearheaded by Governor DeWine, is to eliminate evidence-processing backlogs and increase the speed at which criminal evidence is analyzed in crime laboratories across the state.

“It has always remained a top legislative priority of mine to continue funding our first responders and the state funding provided by the Ohio Crime Lab Efficiency Program will further ensure that crime stays out of our communities,” said John.

The Mansfield Division of Police Forensic Science Laboratory will receive $250,000 as a part of the grant program. This funding will address current and anticipated backlogs of digital and drug evidence with new digital evidence processing software and controlled substance instrumentation.

This funding was made possible of the American Rescue Plan and will go a long way to curb violent crime in our communities throughout the state.

May recognized as National Foster Care Month

Submitted by Brigitte Coles Community Engagement Specialist

May is National Foster Care Month and Richland County Children Services (RCCS) believes that every child deserves a loving home.

There are over 407,000 children and youth in foster care across the country, and 34 percent were placed with relatives or kin.

Kinship care, in its various forms, is important in meeting the needs of children involved in the child welfare system.

This year, National Foster Care Month focuses on how relative and kin connections keep families strong. When children cannot remain safely with their parents, we should prioritize placements with kin. Kinship care helps to maintain family connections and cultural traditions that can minimize the trauma of family separation.

Take time this month to raise awareness on how prioritizing kinship care, identifying connections rather than just placement options, and maintaining community ties makes a difference in the lives of children and youth and can shift the foster care system to one that truly supports families.

Whether it's promoting a collaborative relationship between birth parents and foster caregivers or providing parents with the right combination of supportive services to enable reunification, keeping families together is the primary goal in a successful child welfare system.

The goal of Richland County Children Services (RCCS) is always reunification. RCCS has on average 140 children in custody. Families are needed for all age children, but especially for older youth.

Foster care involves the temporary care of children ages newborn to age 18, all races, sibling groups, various religions, and children with special needs.

RCCS encourages all individuals to invest in the lives of children and to provide them with unconditional love, support, guidance, and every available resource to ensure their health and well-being.

RCCS believes every child needs a permanent home. Many of our foster parents adopt the children who are placed with them. Others help children prepare for placement with an adoptive family or relative.

We need more heroes to help make a difference in a child's life! We need foster parents for sibling groups, teenagers and African - American foster care families. If you are interested in becoming a foster parent, contact Richland County Children Services 419-774-4100 or visit richlandcountychildrenservices.org.

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY STUDENTS in grades 9-12 were recognized for achieving a 3.67 GPA this school year for Ontario High School. Among those recognized were McKenna Gorbett, Jansen Hildreth, Ellie Maurer, Priya Das, Shelby Zimmerman, Jaslyn Ly and Haley Carpenter. Scholarship criteria included GPA, ACT score, high school activities and community service. Businesses assisting the Ontario Academic Boosters during this school year were Directions Credit Union, First Federal Bank of Ohio, Gates State Farm Insurance, Kleshinski, Morrison and Morris, LLP, Kroger, McDonalds, Mechanics Bank, Ontario Federation of Teachers and Paul's Drive In.

Municipal Separate Storm Sewer System earns compliance

Richland Soil and Water Conservation District (Richland SWCD) hosted a reception at Hawkins Corner in Ontario Wednesday, May 4, to celebrate the good news of earning compliance from the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency (OEPA) for the Municipal Separate Storm Sewer System (MS4) program in the areas Richland SWCD administers. Richland SWCD administers the MS4 program on behalf of the Richland County Commissioners, and for the four MS4 townships of Madison, Mifflin, Springfield and Washington.

The MS4 program is a mandated yet unfunded program the OEPA requires to be implemented in Richland County's four urban areas. These urban areas are determined by the Census Bureau and defined by the U.S. EPA of having a population of 10,000 or more and a density of 1,000 within a square mile. This program involves six minimum control measures that have many different requirements, are complex, and detailed. The measures are Public Education and Outreach on Storm Water Impacts; Public Involvement/Participation; Illicit Discharge Detection and Elimination; Construction Site Storm Water Runoff Control; Post-Construction Storm Water Management in New Development and Redevelopment; and Pollution Prevention/Good Housekeeping for Municipal Operations.

In 2018, the OEPA issued a notice of violation to Richland County for noncompliance in the MS4 program. Recent communication from OEPA confirmed the program is back in compliance.

Richland SWCD Director Erica Thomas stated, "To stay in compliance with these requirements is truly a team effort. If not for the partnerships formed with private and public entities, the support of the Richland County Commissioners and the MS4 townships, staff assistance, and help from interns and volunteers, we would not be standing here today."

Certificates noting this accomplishment and support of individuals, partners and elected officials were shared.

For more information on the MS4 program visit <https://richland-swcd.net/services/npdes>, call 419-747-8077 or email MS4Tech@richlandswcd.net

Four KCCC students earn Building Trades Elite Status

The Knox County Career Center Building Trades program recognized four students who earned the status of "Building Trades Elite." "Building Trades Elite" (BT Elite) is a program generated by Colby Clippinger, KCCC Building Trades instructor, and the KCCC Building Trades Advisory Council that began in 2019-'20. The program's criteria centers around attendance, discipline, industry credentialing, and extracurricular activities. A point system is set up where students earn points for attendance, grades, industry credentialing, and extracurricular activities. Students can lose points for being tardy, absent, and for discipline issues. In order to earn "BT Elite" status, students must earn 250 points and must maintain 250 points or higher until graduation to keep the "BT Elite" status. The "BT Elite" program is completely company-sponsored according to Clippinger. Students who earn "BT Elite" status are awarded a hoodie and an interview shirt. The companies pay for the hoodies and interview shirts. The hoodie has the Building Trades Elite Crest on the back along with the company sponsors. The student's name and "BT Elite" are on the front of the hoodie. The interview shirt has "BT Elite" and the student's name on the front. Clippinger commented, "We appreciate the companies who have partnered with us on the "BT Elite" program. The "BT Elite" program creates a well-rounded and ready-to-hire student."

Seniors Dylan Kern, Jacob Stichert, Weston Ross, and Bradin Palm (not pictured) earned "BT Elite" status last week and received their hoodies and interview shirts. 18 students from the Building Trades program have now earned "BT Elite" status since its inception.

"These students have obtained another level. The program has done what it was supposed to do and creates recognizable students that are ready to go into the trades," added Clippinger.

KCCC & the Building Trades program would like to thank the companies who sponsor "BT Elite": J & B Acoustical, Ohio Contractors Association, ProTech Basement Solutions, LiUNA! Local 1216, Kokosing, Corna Kokosing, Brennstuhl Construction, Modern Builders, Gray Mechanical, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America Local 735 and Rietschlin Construction.

Hospice of NCO receives grant for therapy bears

The board of directors at The Energy Cooperative's Operation Round Up Foundation, Newark, has approved a grant in the amount of $2,250 to fund the purchase of Therapy Bears for Hospice of North Central Ohio's 2022 Camp Hope children's bereavement camp.

The camp is scheduled for June 17, 18, 24 and 25 at Pleasant Hill Outdoor Camp in Perysville.

The camp was created by HNC-O in 1996 to provide a place for grieving children who have lost a loved one through death with a safe environment to heal and tell their story.

Becky Pfister, HNC-O Lead Social Worker/MSW stated, "Each year at Camp Hope we offer a variety of activities, crafts and small group time for the campers to share their own story, learn coping skills and create memories. This year, through this grant, we will be able to provide each camper with a special stuffed animal, which they will stuff, and into which they can place notes or other small tokens of remembrance of their loved one.

Chair Beth Barker, of The Energy Cooperative's Operation Round Up Foundation added, "The Energy Cooperative has had the fortune of witnessing gallant efforts in various ways throughout many of the communities we serve, including Hospice of North Central.

In June, Operation Round Up is honored to partner with Camp Hope Children's Bereavement Camp. Concern for Community is a cooperative Principle we don't take lightly, and Camp Hope is yet one more incredible way they're exhibiting this compassion

Ralph Tomassi, HNC-O Chief Development Officer stated, "The Energy Cooperative's Operation Round Up Foundation continues to make a positive impact on the quality of life in their service areas.

The Energy Cooperative's Operation Round Up Foundation was established by its Board of Directors in 2005.

The program "rounds up" members bills to the nearest dollar and then disseminate to local charities in the cooperative's service areas.
