MCT students participate in Ohio National Guard kick-off

Madison Career Tech at Madison Comprehensive High School held its Ohio National Guard kick-off on Thursday, Sept. 15. The morning began at 7:45 am in the gymnasium with the junior and senior SkillsUSA officers presenting the SkillsUSA colors.

The Army National Guard officers worked with the students in various team building activities. Career Tech students from Auto Tech, Business, Carpentry, CBI, Cosmetology, Culinary Arts, Cyber-Security, Early Childhood Education, Electricity, Health Technologies, Precision Machining and Welding worked together as individual teams.

Helping were Ohio National Guard Recruiters Sgt. Weaver, Sgt. McFarland, Private Snow and several others.

Some of the activities and challenges included pull-ups, running with a water jug and balancing on wooden beams and moving them as a group, completing an inflatable obstacle course, and a few other challenging opportunities.

These activities promote cooperative and communication skills. The overall goal is to help students learn to problem solve and work together with their peers. Among the team building rotations was a station where students learned about the Army National Guard and the different career and educational opportunities available to them, should they decide to enlist.

After competing, the students were served lunch and awards were presented.

The leftover food was donated to Harmony House. There were approximately six large pans of hotdogs, multiple bags of chips, several containers of cookies and various desserts.

Early Shelby business went 'round and 'round

By Bob Carter

The Shelby Cycle plant produced thousands and thousands of bicycles and it's fame is rather well known. But earlier business efforts are less publicized.

One very early water-powered mill was constructed on the Black Fork in 1839 by John A. Duncan where Whitney Avenue crosses.

Auditors records of 1839 and 1840 list "Holland Duncan" and also "Duncan & Stikel" indicating a partnership.

According to local historian Robert Sheffler, a Mr. Knapp took over the business and manufactured "Knapp Chairs" from 1853 to 1858. Many of these prized antiques may still be in Shelby area homes.

No record of the chair styles have been found but an old advertisement might be uncovered somewhere.

Antoine and Gustave Longe bought the mill in 1858 and converted it into a woolen factory that they ran during the Civil War. Shelby women including Sheffler's mother, picked lint" for surgical dressings for the wounded soldiers.

After the war, Samuel Sheffler and Barkdull converted the mill into a carriage factory in 1872. By then steam-power had been added. There was always a problem with the Black Fork. Too often it went from flood to low water.

Samuel Sheffler had learned the blacksmith trade at Shenandoah and after a few years as an apprentice he traveled practicing that trade with success and then bought the defunct woolen mill in 1872.

His skill and industry as a carriage builder became well known to those within a 20-mile radius. In the 1880s the business prospered and became the largest employer in Shelby. Some 35 men were employed under Samuel and his sons, Robert and Hamler. A sign on the front of the building advertised Shelby Carriage Works and "Turnbull Wagons." Could it be that one has survived all these years perhaps hidden in an old barn somewhere? The Sheffler industry continued until 1937.

The original Duncan mill building was torn down in 1920. Some of the original heavy timbers were "red beech" not usually used in mill construction. Some measured 24 inches square and were still in good condition.

Water-powered mills were constructed with strong foundations and heavy timber frames due to the constant vibrations of machinery and the water wheel.

The mill may well have been the first water-powered mill in Shelby on that section of the Black Fork. As the stream passed further north, the terrain flattened and places for mill construction were few. A falling stream of water was needed which accounts for much of today's flood problems.

Richland County Farm Bureau members join group to visit D.C.

In mid-September, more than 100 Ohio Farm Bureau members, including Richland County Farm Bureau President, Loren Hulit, traveled to Washington, D.C. to visit face-to-face with lawmakers about issues that could have major implications to Farm Bureau members across Ohio.

This year's trip to the nation's capital included county Farm Bureau presidents and vice presidents along with Ohio Farm Bureau Young Ag Professionals and members of the AgriPOWER Class XIII leadership institute

"To have over 100 Ohio Farm Bureau members, all diverse in their roles in Ohio agriculture, come together to meet with legislators in Washington D.C. is what our organization is all about," said Ohio Farm Bureau President Bill Patterson. "We had a lot to discuss as we visited the Hill, and we always appreciate the opportunity to make our voices heard on behalf of all of our members across Ohio."

Topics covered during Hulit's visit with Congressman Bob Gibbs and Congressman Troy Balderson on Capitol Hill included the 2023 Farm Bill, operational costs associated with inflation and supply chain breakdowns, climate change, and impacts of EPA limiting agriculture technology approvals.

Ohio Farm Bureau leaders also heard from both of Ohio's U.S. Senators Rob Portman and Sherrod Brown, as well as many members of Congress during a Farm Forum, hosted by Congressman Bob Gibbs (OH-07) and Congressman Troy Balderson (OH-12).

Ohio EPA awards grants to schools

Ohio EPA has awarded Recycle Ohio grants to 94 schools, school districts and diocese in 70 communities to install or retrofit water fountains with water bottle filling stations in 206 school buildings. The grants will help cover the costs of equipment and benefit the state by reducing plastic bottle waste by encouraging students and school staff to carry reusable water bottles.

Ohio EPA's Recycling and Litter Prevention grant program made $500,000 available to public and private K-12 schools statewide to promote the Three Rs: Reduce, Reuse, Recycle. The grants help reduce the use of single-use plastic bottles and keep more plastic waste out of landfills. The communities are receiving grants up to $5,000 per school and $10,000 per school district or diocese.

Local grant recipients are Madison Local Schools $9,920 and; and Dale Roy School, Ashland $3,176.93.

Ohio EPA will offer the grants again in 2023. The next grant cycle begins on Nov. 7, 2022, with the application deadline on Feb. 3, 2023. To learn more about the grants, register online for the Nov. 8, 2023, grant kickoff meeting. The meeting begins at 10 am.

PASTA WITH CHUCK STEAK AND PUMPKIN AND PEPPER SAUCE

This is not a complicated recipe, it just takes a bit of time. We used fresh pasta, but you can definitely with any pasta. If you want to add a bit more broth, this would make a delicious soup as well, skip the pasta!

Ingredients

- 3 onions
- 5-7 Peppers (we used fresh long red peppers we picked up from farmers market, but you can use red peppers too)
- Olive Oil
- Salt & Pepper
- 4 Chuck Eye Steaks
- 5 Sprigs Rosemary
- 1 1/2-2 cups beef broth
- 1 cup pumpkin
- 1/2 cup white wine

Instructions

In a heavy cast iron skillet, add enough olive oil to cover pan and roast the onions and peppers (sprinkle with a little, not too much, salt & pepper). Place in a 350 degree oven for 20-30 minutes until they begin to get carmelized. (Always remember depending on your oven and whether you are using convection or not this time may vary. You just want to cook them until they begin to brown). While onions and peppers are cooking, prepare your meat. Sprinkle the steaks with salt and pepper. When onions and peppers are browned remove from the oven and place steaks on top with rosemary sprigs. Cook for another 20 minutes. Pull from the oven and cover with foil. Let sit for 15 minutes. Discard the rosemary, place the steaks on a cutting board. Place the onions and peppers in a blender with 1/2-1 cup of beef broth. Start with 1/2 cup and add more until you get a smooth consistency. Move to a saucepan and whisk in 1 cup of broth, 1 cup pumpkin, and 1/2 cup wine. Slowly bring to a boil. Then turn off or keep warm depending on when you will be serving. On a cutting board slice up the steaks. Add to a bowl with a scoop of the sauce so that flavors will continue to incorporate. Prepare pasta or serve as soup. Top with some shaved parmesan cheese.

NOTE: If you decide to do soup with this, you can omit the steak. Or if you would like serve the steak on the side over some salad.

What is your stumbling block in your life that hinders you from growing and moving forward towards your goals and dreams?

In my last article, I touched on fear and how to not let it steal your joy. Today, I want to talk about procrastination. What are you procrastinating today and why?

Last week was my birthday and I experienced paddle boarding for the first time. It was absolutely amazing. When I was out on the lake and enjoying the beautiful view, the rippling water and the warm sunshine, it was my happy place. I felt at peace and you couldn't wipe the smile off my face. The only regret I had was that I hadn't tried this amazing sport sooner.

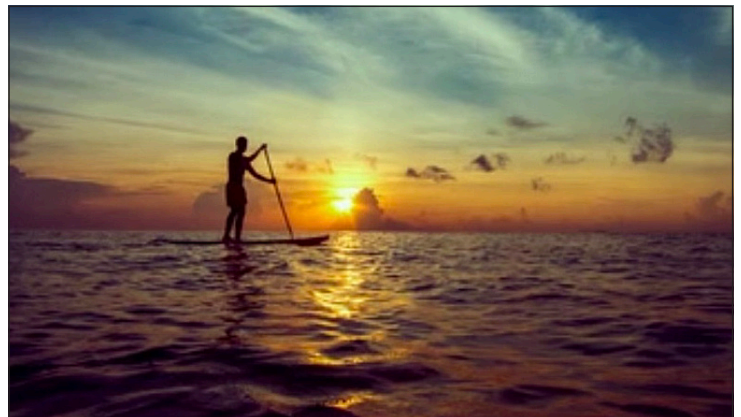

I have wanted to try paddle boarding for over 2 years... but I kept procrastinating.

There are many reasons we procrastinate: perfectionism, fear of failure, fear of criticism, low self esteem, a tendency to self-defeat.

For me it was lack of self confidence. When you don't have faith in yourself its difficult to try new things. I sat there on my paddle board in the middle of the lake and thought about how much I loved doing this and how I wasted two years of enjoying it because of procrastination. No more! My new plan is to move forward, pushing through any fear and self doubt I have to reach my goals and dreams.

What have you been wanting to try or experience but have not because you have procrastinated for whatever reason? Take the steps today to live your best life! I want to encourage you to not just live your life, experience it to the fullest!

AAA credit rating announced for Ohio

State Senator Mark Romanchuk (R-Ontario) announced that Fitch Ratings upgraded Ohio's long-term Issuer Default Rating (IDR) from "AA +" to "AAA" reflecting the state's financial resilience and budget management.

"This fantastic rating is a result of Ohio's excellent stewardship of taxpayer dollars and strong economic policies driving growth and innovation," Romanchuk said. "I am proud of our state's fiscal responsibility over the last several years being cemented with this upgrade in rating."

This is Ohio's first "AAA" rating with Fitch, which began rating Ohio's credit in the 1990s and is the highest rating for Ohio's IDR by one of the three main rating agencies since 1979. A higher credit rating allows Ohio to achieve a lower cost of borrowing which ultimately achieves success on behalf of all taxpayers.

Fitch upgraded Ohio's General Obligation bond rating to "AAA" from "AA +", appropriation-backed bonds to "AA +" from "AA" and Ohio School District Credit Enhancement Program Rating from "AA" to "AA."

This Week's Pet Looking for A Forever Home

Lily

Lily is very unsure of new people, and it takes her a long time to warm-up. She took about six months to warm-up to most of the volunteers, although she seems to be more willing than she used to be to become friends with humans. Lily immediately is friends with all dogs; she loves playing and running with them. She will also pin another dog if she thinks they are getting too rough. She does much better with new people if there is another dog; because of this, we highly suggest whomever adopts her should already have a playful dog in the home.

Also, interested adopters should come and visit her once or twice a week for a couple of weeks before deciding they are going to adopt her.

All of the volunteers have fallen head over heels in love with this gorgeous, silly, funny, affectionate dog. She just takes a while to become comfortable with people. Please come take a chance on Lily!

Those interested in applying for Rose can visit the Richland County Dog Warden/Shelter online or request an application at richlandcountypets@yahoo.com. Meet and greets can be scheduled after an approved application. Those interested in meeting any dogs housed at the shelter, the kennels are open 11-4:15 Monday-Friday and 10-2 on Saturday.

The dog shelter received a very generous donation, which has allowed the adoption price to drop to $79, which includes spay/neuter, license, microchip and some vaccines. The shelter is located at 810 N. Home Rd., Mansfield.

Volunteers are always welcome and can stop at the shelter to register as a volunteer. Volunteers help walk dogs, fill Kongs and other tasks.

The shelter uses a lot of bleach, detergent and dog treats and welcomes donations.

Mike Holzworth

This Day in History — On Sept. 22, 1862, President Abraham Lincoln issues a preliminary Emancipation Proclamation, which sets a date for the freedom of more than 3 million enslaved in the United States and recasts the Civil War as a fight against slavery. When the Civil War broke out in 1861, shortly after Lincoln's inauguration as America's 16th president, he maintained that the war was about restoring the Union and not about slavery. He avoided issuing an anti-slavery proclamation immediately. Instead, Lincoln chose to move cautiously until he could gain wide support from the public for such a measure. In July 1862, Lincoln informed his cabinet that he would issue an emancipation proclamation but that it would exempt the so-called border states, which had slaveholders but remained loyal to the Union. His cabinet persuaded him not to make the announcement until after a Union victory. Lincoln's opportunity came following the Union win at the Battle of Antietam in September 1862. On Sept. 22, the president announced that enslaved people in areas still in rebellion within 100 days would be free. On Jan. 1, 1863, Lincoln issued the final Emancipation Proclamation, which declared "that all persons held as slaves" within the rebel states "are, and henceforward shall be free." The proclamation also called for the recruitment and establishment of black military units among the Union forces. An estimated 180,000 African Americans went on to serve in the army, while another 18,000 served in the navy. After the Emancipation Proclamation, backing the Confederacy was seen as favoring slavery. The proclamation was a presidential order and not a law passed by Congress, so Lincoln then pushed for an antislavery amendment to the U.S. Constitution to ensure its permanence. With the passage of the 13th Amendment in 1865, slavery was eliminated throughout America (although Black people would face another century of struggle before they began to gain equal rights in the U.S.A. a century after the passage of the 13th Amendment).
