The Miss Ontario Pageant program began in 1969, where titleholders would travel throughout the state attending festivals and parades. These beautiful ladies have gone on to do amazing and successful things in their life. Whether it be their wide array of collegiate accomplishments, careers, cultural and artistic pursuits, or the joys of marriage and parenthood.

The bond of this sisterhood is undeniable, as many are still involved with the program in one shape or form years later. Spreading goodwill and kindness throughout the Ontario community has had long lasting, positive effects.

The mission of the Miss Ontario Program is to celebrate, promote, empower and equip the young ladies to go forth in confidence and spread the Warrior Spirit. Last year the program was expanded to now include two new categories for young ladies – Little Miss Ontario (grades 1–3) and Junior Miss Ontario (grades 4 and 5).

On Thursday evening, June 20, the Little and Junior Miss Ontario Mistresses of Ceremonies included former Miss Ohio's Outstanding Teen, the beautiful Cassandra and Miss Ontario 2023, Jaslyn Lopez. Judges included Lauren Beard, Judy Kyees and Brooke Miller.

The National Anthem was sung by 2023 Miss Ontario, Jaslyn Lopez. Throughout the evening the Little and Junior Miss contestants competed in outfit of choice, on-stage questions, and beauty wear, including many performances and entertainment from Cassandra Kurek, Abigail Kern, Rylee Schoonover and Breckelle Miller.

Breckelle Miller held the first ever title of Little Miss Ontario while Rylee Schoonover held the first ever Junior Miss Ontario. These wonderful ladies did so many things for their community during their year of service.

The 2024 Little Contestants included Hadley West, Paisley Keller, Makayla Wonorski, Scarlet Landon, Norah Kleilein, Elleigh Kvochick, Seraphine Iley, Grayson Gilmore, Mila Morrison and Bexley Bowman.

The Mansfield Riots of 1900

By Bob Carter

Part 8

After the four Dowie preachers were safely imprisoned, a conference was held the next morning in Sheriff Pulver's office at the county jail. Present were the four Zion ministers Mayor Brown, Deputy Bell, Chief of Police Clark, Prosecuting Attorney Bowers, attorneys A. A. Douglas and James Stewart and also a few prominent business leaders and others including two reporters.

The Dowies were greatly encouraged to leave the city and protection would be offered. They responded by saying they have been ordered here by overseer Piper on order from John Alexander Dowie and could not leave unless they were given permission to do so.

A long-distance phone call was placed to Chicago and the situation was explained to Piper by attorney Douglas and the four elders' attorney. Douglas said 250 men armed to the teeth could not cope with the mob.

Dowie was across the lake at his summer residence and Piper reluctantly gave in and wired them $100 for clothing and train fare. That wasn't quite enough.

When four cabs drew up at 11:45 on the driveway of the county jail, a large crowd began to gather to watch the ministers depart. Chief of police and Officer Madden were in the carriage with Stevens and Fisher while Captain Kreider was riding with the other two.

The ministers were short of money and $40 was loaned to them. The Pennsylvania ticket office was notified that the men were coming and tickets should be ready for them and the start was made. The cabs went down Diamond Street at a rapid rate.

The sheriff, deputy, mayor, attorneys Seward and Douglas, as well as members of the police force, went in other carriages to the depot. Crowds began to run towards the Union Depot platform.

By the time the station was reached, crowds of men were seen running from every direction towards the platform. Men, women and children swelled the crowd which filled the platform from the depot to the telegraph office and extended upon the track.

The men swarmed around the carriages containing the Dowies but no attempt was made to molest them. Fisher, Giddens and Stevens went into the depot for tickets. Mayor Brown asked the crowd, "Let them go away."

"Yes," was a reply from the multitude as if from one man. "Let them go away." Three cheers were given for the mayor.

The westbound Pennsylvania Fort Wayne to Chicago 12:05 arrived and the four men were escorted through the crowd by Sheriff Pulver and police officers and remained on board with them until the train started. A loud cheer went up as they left.

MANSFIELD MAYOR Huntington Brown dictated that if Dowie preachers came in to town, out they went.

Here again, it always seemed rather unusual that the others had been taken away and painted so quickly.

A reporter went to the Lean Harrow Works and asked the night-watchman if he had recognized anyone or if any members of the mob were employees of the firm. He replied, "No sir, some of them were from New York and the majority were from Chicago."

Well so much for that investigation.

Storming Mad in Chicago, Dowie had this to say to his followers about the nation's president, "Clearly guilty of criminal libel and if they insist on coming back, I think the thing to do is arrest them before people get excited and organize another mob."

After a long deliberation, a course of action was decided by Mayor Brown. He ordered that if any Zion elders return they would be escorted out of the city in the interest of law and order! And so that was the word, If they come in, we will throw them out!

THE ENTERTAINMENT EXAMINER
— By Ian Stumbo —

Dev Patel co-writes, directs and stars in Monkey Man. This revenge tale set in India is a good attempt at a John Wick-style revenge film (that movie is even referenced in this one).

Patel stars as Kid, a young man out for revenge in India as he is avenging the death of his mother from the head of the group that invaded their village when he was little.

Kid makes moves in the first part of this film to move higher up and get himself into different underground jobs at a brothel and tries to advance in the ranks to get close to the people he needs to. He also fights at a local fight club wearing a monkey mask. The movie reveals (very slowly) the reason that Kid is out for revenge and it is satisfying, though there is nothing unique.

Patel makes for a fine director and has already shown he is becoming a better actor since his debut to American audiences in 2008's best picture winner Slumdog Millionaire, followed by an Oscar nomination for his great work in Lion.

The action scenes are really well choreographed and Patel makes them as engaging as possible.

Indian culture is also shown in great detail as Patel seems to embrace this while giving the audience a good story.

The biggest downside is that it does start a little slow and it took a while for me personally to see where the movie was going. Even at two hours, the movie does last a little long, but that is a minor complaint.

It will be interesting to see where Dev Patel goes as a director in the future.

Monkey Man doesn't break any ground in terms of revenge stories and really owes a lot to recent releases, though it works for what it is and gives great credit to Patel for giving his all to this movie as an actor and director.

Monkey Man is now available to stream on Peacock.

Mansfield Shakespeare Company's inaugural production will be A Midsummer Night's Dream

The Mansfield Shakespeare Company has announced its inaugural production, A Midsummer Night's Dream by William Shakespeare, will be performed in Mansfield's South Park, 100 Brinkerhoff Ave. Directed by Scott Leon Smith, this timeless comedy of unrequited love and unexpected metamorphosis will be performed on Saturday, July 13 at 7 pm and Sunday, July 14 at 3:30 pm.

The performance is free and donations are accepted, but not expected. Guests are invited to bring chairs, picnic blankets, drinks and snacks.

Director Scott Leon Smith shares his enthusiasm: "Midsummer is Shakespeare's comedy playground. He explores the ridiculous aspects of young love through some of his most endearing poetry. And this exploration takes place in a magical realm where the absurd is commonplace. Only Shakespeare can take mythical heroes, hopeless romantics, mischievous spirits and amateur thespians and stir them into a playful farce that actually ends up being really profound."

When asked "Why Shakespeare and why Midsummer?" Smith replied, "Even though Shakespeare's works are 400 years old, the storylines, situations, and even the jokes are familiar. If you've never seen Shakespeare acted out, you're truly in for a treat. Midsummer portrays situations that most of us have been in or seen a loved one go through like loving someone your parents don't approve of, loving someone who doesn't love you back, or people meddling in your life just for fun. This is one of Shakespeare's most accessible works. It is a madcap story, something that takes us out of the ordinary and drops us into a world of fun and fantasy. We are working to embrace the fun and silliness while still respecting the language, poetry, and story."

The Mansfield Shakespeare Company is a fledgling non-profit organization dedicated to making Shakespeare accessible to the community in a fun and engaging way.

The mission is to produce high-quality cultural experiences for Mansfield and surrounding communities through performances and interactive events that center around the works of William Shakespeare.

LOBSTER RISOTTO

Ingredients

2-3 cups of cooked lobster meat
 1 lb. risotto - arborio rice
 2 cups seafood stock
 32 ounces chicken broth
 2 Tbsp. basil-chopped
 2 Tbsp. tarragon - chopped
 2 Shallots - chopped
 1/2 cup parmesan cheese
 Tbsp. Butter
 Tbsp. Olive Oil
 Salt & Pepper

Instructions

In a stockpot, heat the seafood stock and chicken broth together. In a large saute pan over medium heat, combine the butter and olive oil. When the butter has melted, add chopped shallots and saute 2-3 minutes, until the shallot is translucent. Add rice and stir to coat well. Continue to stir rice until it is beginning to have a nutty aroma, but does not turn brown. Add a ladle of hot stock to the rice and continue to stir. When the rice is almost dry continue to add another ladle of hot stock. This will take 20-30 minutes. (You do want to make sure you wait until liquid is complete absorbed before adding additional liquid.) You will know that rice is done when it is just al dente to the teeth when you try it. (This means just a little sticky). You don't want to add any more liquid or you will begin to get mushy rice. Gently stir in the lobster meat, basil and tarragon. Taste and add salt and pepper. Stir in most of the cheese (reserving some to garnish on top of the risotto when you serve it).

NOTE: Seafood Stock — We boil the lobster shells and discard the shell after boiling for 1-2 hours. This will make a perfect stock to use in the risotto. If you don't have time and don't want to do this, you can just substitute chicken stock or 1 cup of white wine and 1 cup chicken stock. We would generally use wine in our risotto, but with the seafood stock, we had some beautiful flavor. (If using thicker sliced bread, you will probably need two loaves depending on size of loaf)

Richland Early American Center for History, The Intercity Amateur Radio Club join together for field day

Photos and Article By Jenna Wolford

Richland Early American Center for History opened for visitors this past weekend, June 22 and June 23, from 1-3 pm, in South Park, 100 Brinkerhoff Ave, in Mansfield.

The Intercity Amateur Radio Club was set-up in the cabin, block-house and pavilion. The club conducted a field day to talk to other ham radio operators across the country.

Their mission is exclusively for educational purposes, including the dissemination of information — instructional and motivational and to encourage, advance and enhance the value of the amateur radio service to the public.

Club members seek to provide emergency communications service to the public interest with convenience and as a necessity as defined by the Federal Communication Commission in rules and regulations governing the Amateur Radio service.

Roland Massatti, (Call sign - K8wua) of Austria has been with the club since 1955 when he was in high school.

Patty Earnest (Call sign KD8FNQ) reminded me that it's not just a hobby for men. Patty is a veteran and served from 1980 - 1984 in the Army who uses radio communications.

A graduate of Northmor in Galion and a Pioneer graduate of 1979, she knew the opportunities she sought after were not possible here in Ohio. She wanted to do three things: travel, get an education and learn a trade, so she enlisted in the U.S. Army and had the wonderful opportunity of doing all of those things.

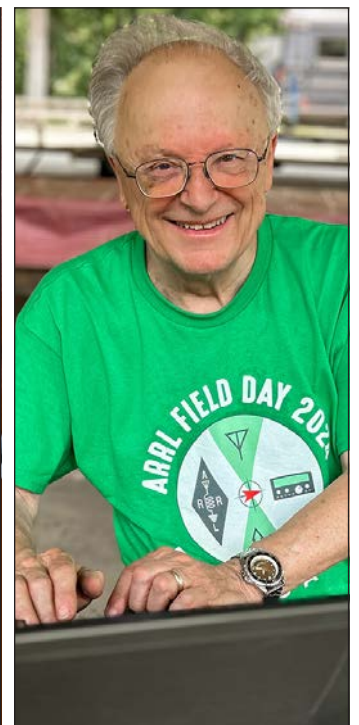

She received her associates degree in sociology in Germany. She was a radio teletype operator in the Army. Her CB radio operating abilities attained from age 9-19, were a skill that was definitely an asset in the Army. She loved her time in the military and enjoyed getting around and seeing many of the historical sites in Germany.

The Intercity Amateur Radio Club works closely with EMA, and have also used their services for local events like the Miss Ohio parade, marathon races at Mohican, the Great Ohio Bicycle Adventure, Shiloh Ox Roast and checking to make sure local tornado sirens are working properly. They meet at the Richland County Fairgrounds and have a monthly get together. Learn more at <https://iarc.club/>.

The next South Park open weekends will be July 13 and 14 and July 27 and 28. Johnny Appleseed's 250th birthday will be celebrated on Sept. 21 from 10 am to 4 pm. American Heritage weekend is scheduled for Oct. 5 and 6 from 10 am to 4 pm. # Red Cross partners with new Twisters film

As the busy Fourth of July holiday week gets closer, the American Red Cross asks donors to be a powerful force for good by giving blood or platelets now and in the weeks to come. Donors are critically needed right now after a sharp decrease in donations since late spring. All blood types are needed, especially donors giving type O blood and those giving platelets.

The Red Cross has teamed up with Universal Pictures for the theatrical release of Twisters to help avoid a summer blood shortage. All who come to give blood or platelets July 1-31 will get a Fandango Movie Ticket by email.

Plus, those who come to give July 1-14 will also receive a Twisters and Red Cross umbrella, while supplies last. Those who come to give blood in July will also automatically be entered for a chance to win a 2025 Ram 1500 Big Horn®.

In just the first five months of the year, the Red Cross has responded to 20 tornado related disasters across 13 states.

To donate download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org, call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or enable the Blood Donor Skill on any Alexa Echo device to make an appointment or for more information.
