Madison celebrates 100 years with alumni football game

Photos and Article By Traci Little

Madison Local Schools is celebrating its 100th Anniversary during the 2024-'25 School Year.

The 100 Year Madison Alumni Celebration took place at the football home opener, last Friday evening, Aug. 30.

Ram Pride was at an all time high as alumni football players, cheerleaders and marching band members (including Ramettes and majorettes) participated in the evening's festivities.

Guests took a stroll through memory lane, located in the high school cafeteria where old yearbooks and photos were featured throughout the decades. Everyone had plenty of food options with the Ram Athletic and Music Club Booster concessions open along with local food trucks on site.

Tickets for the 100-year alumni football game went on sale at the beginning of August. A special 100th anniversary T-shirt was available for purchase, counting as a ticket to the game. Gates opened at 5:30 and the game began at 7 pm.

The fight song echoed throughout the stands as fans took their seat. Football and coach alumni gathered on the track to form a line of recognition as the Ram Band performed the National Anthem and Alma Mater. Players entered the tunnel and took the field-high five from the lined alum.

During the first quarter, Alumni cheerleaders cheered with the current cheerleaders. Alumni from the 50s and 60s were recognized, followed by the other decades throughout the evening. 92-year-old cheerleader, Shirley Bell Smith, helped the school celebrate its 100th anniversary.

During halftime, the alumni band joined the current Rams on the field to bring home "Long Train Runnin'" and "Louie, Louie." Alumni players and coaches were saluted throughout the evening.

Madison Comprehensive led 14-0 at halftime, but River Valley made a strong comeback in the second half, scoring 21 unanswered points in the fourth quarter to secure the win.

The loss refused to dampen the Ram Pride atmosphere. It billowed with immense love, faith, and support that faithful fans have for their school, sports, and classmates throughout the ages. It's a feeling that's sure to last a lifetime.

Columbia Gas helps partners raise awareness of hunger across Ohio

September marks the beginning of Hunger Action Month, and Columbia Gas of Ohio will once again partner with agencies around the state to raise awareness of food insecurity and encourage others to join the fight to end hunger.

"Families in every corner of Ohio are impacted by food insecurity, and it is an issue we can work together to solve," said Bob Heidorn, president and chief operating officer of Columbia Gas of Ohio. "At Columbia, we work every day to meet our customers' basic needs of staying safe and connected.

We are proud to partner with organizations that work to meet another basic need: food security."

During September, Columbia Gas team members will engage with community organizations that are focused on food insecurity. These organizations include Children's Hunger Alliance, Mid-Ohio Food Collective, Second Harvest Food Bank, Connecting Kids to Meals, LifeCare Alliance, Springfield Soup Kitchen and the Foundation for Appalachian Ohio. Throughout September, Columbia Gas will use social media to raise awareness for these organizations and encourage others to share their stories.

In addition to Columbia's work to end food insecurity in Ohio, it wants to help customers who may need assistance with their energy bill. There are several flexible payment programs available to help customers get back on track, and the customer care team is available to help customers find a payment plan. More information on these programs is available at ColumbiaGasOhio.com. Customers can also call 1-800-344-4077 or contact through social media.

The Mansfield Riots of 1900 — Black Sunday

By Bob Carter

Part 15

Right on cue early Sunday morning, Sept. 23, more trouble rolled in on the Erie from the West. A reporter from the Mansfield Daily filed this story: “Another anti-Dowie demonstration occurred in Mansfield yesterday. Dowie elders Ephriam Bassinger from Bluffton and Silas Moot of Lima alighted from Erie train number 12, at 6:30 o’clock Sunday morning and were immediately recognized by a crowd of 50 who were at the depot. The elders endeavor to hire a cab at the depot but the cab men refused. The elders started to walk up N. Diamond St. but in front of Frank’s Brewery they were intercepted by a crowd of 200 people. Moot showed fight and he was pummeled and kicked. He had a badly disfigured right eye and damaged nose. Bassinger was also kicked and roughly handled.”

“The two were taken down N. Diamond St. to the Erie tracks and down the tracks to the Richland Buggy Company’s plant where they were ordered to disrobe. Bassinger willingly obeyed but Moot resisted. His clothes were torn from him. The two were then daubed from head to foot with sticky roof tar. Several quantities were then poured on their hair and on their beards. They were allowed to don their outer clothing and, in charge of 250 people, they were escorted up the tracks to N. Diamond Street followed by an ever-increasing mob. The two victims presented a sorry sight. Tar glistened from their hair and beards. What was once a white collar daubed with black paint hung around Moot’s neck, one trouser leg was rent twain and impeded Moot’s progress and exposed tarred flash. A tattered hat was placed on his head. Bassinger wore a raincoat and a bettered hat.”

“The elders were taken up N. Diamond St. to Fifth in Main. When Central Park was reached it is estimated that there were 3,500 people in the mob. Someone yelled ‘take them to Libby’s’ and the march continued down Park Avenue East, past the Zion Tabernacle, where services were to be held.”

“A long procession of vehicles followed the mob down Park Avenue East. Arriving at the Libby home, it was found that they had left the city. A short stop was made and they were giving a talking to by a local saloon keeper. The elders were then ordered to pray and shutting his uninsured eye Moot offered a short prayer. The elders promised the mob they would leave the city once they were taken to the depot. At the Carriage Works, Bassinger said he would never return to Mansfield.”

“The march resumed and, the elders were taken down the tracks to East Fifth 5th Street, arm in arm with the saloon keeper who had taken charge of them. When the mob reached the corner Fifth and Main, a squad of police under the charge of Mayor Brown and chief Barrett alighted from a streetcar and took the elders in charge. The police and the charges were followed by shouting angry mob to the city prison.”

The Philadelphia North American, Sept. 24. Mansfield Ohio: “Another anti-Dowie demonstration occurred here today when Elder Moot of Lima, and Bassinger of Bluffton, sent to Mansfield by order Overseer Piper of Chicago, received a coat of tar from infuriated citizens. Several Dowie elders have been mobbed and sent out of the city and were warned never to return, but these warnings have had no effect.”

Thus another black eye for Mansfield

IT DID NOT TAKE A MOB LONG to fill up both sides of North Main Street and the Dowie elders were discovered at the Von Hof Hotel.

Autumn Fiber Festival returns to Mansfield in October

The Autumn Fiber Festival is set to return to Mansfield, celebrating its vibrant community of fiber enthusiasts, artisans and craftspeople. Scheduled for Oct. 19 and 20, the festival will take place in the arts and crafts building at the Richland County Fairgrounds, 750 N. Home Rd., Mansfield.

The festival will be open Saturday from 10 am to 5 pm and Sunday from 11 am to 4 pm. Admission and parking are free.

The Autumn Fiber Festival brings together over 50 vendors showcasing a variety of fiber arts, including but not limited to knitting, crocheting, spinning, weaving, felting, rug braiding, applique' and dyeing. Attendees will have the opportunity to explore and purchase natural yarns, fibers, tools and handmade finished goods directly from the artisans who create them.

There will be a vendor marketplace where attendees can discover unique, handcrafted items and materials. There will be live demonstrations and the opportunity to get up close with alpacas, sheep and other fiber animals that provide the raw materials for many of the products on display.

Those attending can purchase tickets to win prizes donated by the vendors. Food trucks will include the Hot Dog Trailer and On the Go Gyros.

For more information, visit autumnfiberfestival.com or follow on Facebook and Instagram for the latest updates.

The Autumn Fiber Festival is an annual event dedicated to promoting fiber arts and supporting the artisans who create and sell fiber-related products. The festival provides a platform for education, community engagement, and the celebration of the rich heritage of fiber arts. This event is organized and orchestrated entirely by volunteers. Proceeds from the raffle and all remaining funds are donated to 4-H and to Matthew 25 Outreach Center. This is achieved through the support of sponsors and the sale of raffle tickets.

Richland SWCD to celebrate 76 years of conservation

Richland Soil and Water Conservation District (Richland SWCD) invites the community to celebrate the past year's accomplishments in conservation on Thursday, Sept. 26.

The celebration will be held at the Area Agency on Aging, 2131 Park Avenue West, Ontario at 11:30 am.

The celebration includes lunch, recognition of the Cooperator of the Year and Volunteer of the Year honorees and organization updates. The cost is $20 per person and reservations are required by Sept. 18. Reservations may be made at <https://richlandswcd.net/>.

Eligible voters may cast their vote for two open Richland SWCD Board Supervisor positions from 11:30 am to 12:30 pm. The candidates are Jean McClintock and Pam McKown. This election marks the first time in the 76-year history of Richland SWCD of having two females run for Board Supervisor positions.

Absentee voting began Aug. 28 and closes Sept. 25 at 4 pm at the Richland SWCD office. Visit <https://richlandswcd.net/> for candidate and election information.

Monthly used book sale planned for this weekend

The Mansfield/Richland County Public Library (MRCPL) Evergreen Bookshop will be open for the monthly Friends' Used Book Sale on Friday, Sept. 6, noon to 5 pm; and Saturday, Sept. 7, 10 am to 3 pm.

A preview sale will be held for Friends of the Library members only on Thursday, Sept. 5, noon to 5 pm. Memberships may be purchased at Thursday's preview sale ($3 per year for individuals).

This sale is sponsored by the Friends of the Mansfield/Richland County Public Library. Materials (adult, teen and juvenile items) are library discards and public donations offered for sale at low prices. The bookshop is stocked with "new to the store" items each month. All proceeds from the monthly sales sponsor enrichment activities provided by the Main Library and its eight branches in Richland County throughout the year.

The Evergreen Bookshop is staffed by volunteers in downtown Mansfield at 37 N. Walnut St. (near the corner of W. Third St. & N. Walnut St., next to the main library).

Community members join to celebrate Jericho Wall of Remembrance and Recovery commemoration

By Traci Little

The Jericho Wall of Remembrance and Recovery Renewal Dedication and Commemoration took place on Friday, Aug. 30, at 11 am. The wall is located at the corner of Bowman Street and West Dickson, beside First Christian Church.

Community members, advocates, and families gathered together, fostering a sense of unity and shared purpose in the fight against addiction. The memorial art park is dedicated to the remembrance of those who've lost their lives to the casualty of addiction, through overdose, long-term effects of alcohol and drugs, mental illness or suicide.

Their families are left to face the grief, stigmas, anger, and a long series of "if only," thoughts and emotions to wade through. The wall was created to provide some comfort to those left behind. It also is a place of education and support for those who are in any part of recovery (entering it, struggling with it, fighting it, maintaining it, or starting over with it). An offer of hope is extended to them, cheering them on, to never give up the fight.

The ceremony celebrated movement forward over the past year, while remembering the reality of overdose and addiction through the names of seven added to the wall. A special thank you was given to those who have helped make the memorial a reality.

The artists acknowledged included Drew Anderson, Mo Taylor, Talon Baker, Luke Beekman (Names), Rachel Justice, Ray Baughman, Ruthie Akuchie, Terry Fairchild, Shannon Volz and Jayne Stahlke with CAC.

The program opened with a beautiful and moving interpretive dance from a young lady named Kasha Clay, who is a success story from Rubies Womens Group. "This wall has been unanticipated and hopeful from the start," said Pastor Paul Lintern.

Dr. Joe Bocka spoke on addiction recovery. "Dr. Bocka is the point guard when it comes to overdose awareness in the community, which is not an easy thing to do," said Lintern.

Guests walked the wall while Pastor Lintern interpreted the visions of the artists, conveying the who, what and why behind the artwork.

Aurelio Diaz, Mansfield City Councilman Ward 5, read tributes to each of the seven names placed on the wall. "It's been nice to see people from all walks of life come together over the past year to make this happen. It's a testimony that when you dovetail faith and art together, it becomes a powerful thing. Today we pay tribute to loved ones who we've lost, while celebrating the power of recovery, faith, and art," said Diaz.

Reverend El Akuchie, 3rd Ward City Councilman, closed with a powerful and hopeful prayer thanking God for His mighty hand on Mansfield.

The Pavilion will continue to be a work in progress, as the details still needing to be completed come to fruition like signage, courtyard tables, and electrical connection, as the park continues to prayerfully offer opportunities for support and encouragement.

Pavilion Community Supporters include: The Richland County Mental Health Board as the main source of financing for the pavilion, at a cost of more than $28,000.

A special thank you went to the following organizations for contributions to the pavilion: Healing Hearts Counseling Center, Richland County Public Health Center, Catalyst Life Services, Mansfield UMAD-AOP, Hope 419, Family Life Counseling and Family Services ($1000+). Community Action for Capable Youth, 33 Forever, National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI), Mansfield Comprehensive Treatment Center, Richland County Community Alternative Center ($500+).

Other Major Donors include: First Christian Church (land), Seaman Family Foundation (banner), John Carter Electric (In-kind Electric), Burkholder's Construction (architect), Downtown Improvement Advisory Committee (parking lot), St. Luke's Point of Grace and Project One (asphalt parking lot).

Patrons $500+ include: First English Lutheran Church, Oakland Lutheran Church, Southside Christian Church, Susan Smith Walker, Jack Dixey, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Zirzow, Keith and Mary Beth Wright, Joan Kaufman, and Dr. Joe and Liz Bocka.

Other financial Patrons include First United Methodist, Sylvia Neibarger, Michael and Joan Smith, Godsfield House of Prayer, Penny Dean, Greg and Ann Bibler, and Godsfield Interchurch Council, Diana Rupert. A special thank you to the Contractors: Nadler Construction, LLC; Hammett Asphalt, Richland Sealcoat, Seaman Corporation, Volunteers of America, Mankind Murals, Frank Medley, Seiler and Craig Surveying, and Barrister Title Co.

The hope and prayer, as donations continue to flow in, is that God would perform ongoing miracles through The Jericho Wall.

Free book publishing workshop is September 14

The Crawford County Art Center is hosting a free author talk and workshop on Saturday, Sept. 14 from 2-4 pm at 1810 E. Mansfield St., Bucyrus. The art center gallery is located on the west side of the Showplace Rental building.

This event is part of Ohio Open Doors, a statewide effort to bring free, history-focused events to the public.

The workshop, titled "Memoir as History: Writing and Publishing Your Stories," will focus on encouraging people to journal, write, edit and publish their own books.

"Everyone has a story and a unique perspective of living history," CCAC Executive Director Kaylee Powers shared, "and we hope that folks will be able to better share their voice and contribute to our area's rich history and understanding of each other."

Along with getting started on writing and narrative guidance, author Mike Hocker will also be sharing tips and pitfalls of the process including information on e-publishing, print publishing, registering the book with the Library of Congress ISBN system and copyrighting.

Hocker has written his own local history of growing up in the 50s and 60s in Crawford County entitled Save the Batteries. A book signing is also planned.

Reservations are not necessary but are appreciated to allow for a headcount. Call the Art Center at 419-834-4133 and leave a message with your name to reserve a seat.

Not pictured is Lillian Truax. Out of these students, on Sept. 27, the homecoming king will be announced at an all school pep assembly, and the homecoming queen will be announced during the half-time show of the homecoming football game. Homecoming festivities will end with a homecoming dance at the high school on Sept. 28.

Community invited to Earth Stewardship Awards Ceremony

The Earth Stewardship Steering Committee has announced the conclusion of the 28th Anniversary Earth Stewardship Celebration with it's annual awards ceremony. The ceremony will recognize the many projects, organizations, sponsors and participants who have made the Earth Stewardship Celebration a success, including those who participated in the 13th Annual Take Pride Contest.

The 13th Annual Take Pride Contest will have first, second and third place award winners in each of the following categories: Business/Government, Schools, Neighborhood and Non-Profit/Church who submitted before and after photos of their projects. The grand prize award is the People's Choice Award, determined by votes via the Earth Stewardship Celebration Facebook Page. The six winners of the Star Award, which recognizes a project in six different communities in Richland County, will be announced.

The awards ceremony will be held at the gazebo in Central Park in Downtown Mansfield on Friday, Sept. 6, at 11:30 am. The ceremony will be moved to DLX in the case of rain.

The community is invited to join in this celebration to recognize the culmination of the many projects completed throughout the months of April, May, June, July and August, and those who have given of their time, money, and energy to make Mansfield/Richland County a more beautiful place.

Discovery School meets with author Jim Van Allan

The staff at Discovery School did more than set up classrooms as they were getting ready to welcome students back to school this year. On Aug. 20, bestselling author Jim Van Allan worked with faculty and staff as he presented his nationally acclaimed workshop The Energy Bus for Schools to build culture and cohesiveness as the school welcomes eight new staff members and new positions for several others.

After overcoming budgetary constraints, the school has grown and thrived under the leadership of new Head of School, Simon Clark. After winning several competitive grants as well as increased enrollment, the school was able to hire new staff to fill new positions and backfill some positions that had been left empty previously after retirements. Heading into his second year, Clark was looking for a way to keep the strong school culture of Discovery while welcoming growth and new perspectives.

“Dr. Van Allan’s work on positive school culture and building enthusiasm amongst staff members caught my eye, especially with so many new additions to our staff this year,” explained Head of School, Simon Clark. “His work really affirms Discovery School’s commitment to approach education differently by building positive relationships with each other, our students, families, and community.”

The staff participated in activities on intentional listening, non-verbal communication, defined values, and considered how they want the school to look, feel, and sound. From there, they had time to think about actions that would bring those ideas to life for the school, starting with the first day.

“I feel like the Energy Bus philosophy will help me be a better collaborator with my coworkers this year, and help me build better relationships with all the students, too. Since I interact with and support everyone in the school as the Intervention Specialist, that teamwork is so important!” said Lori Anderson, an eight-year veteran teacher at the school.

This marked the kickoff for staff as Discovery School began its 50th year of educating students by looking at the growth of the school since its founding in 1975 and defining that continued vision for the next 50 years and beyond. For more information on the school, visit www.discovery-school.net.

NAACP to hold election of officers

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) #3190 will hold the election of officers and at-large Executive Committee members on Saturday, Nov. 16, from 11 am to 3 pm.

The National office of the NAACP will facilitate all voting through an electronic voting platform. Members will be sent a link to their email or cell phone number. Each email or phone number will be allowed only one vote and all voting will take place online.

Those needing assistance to vote or access to the Internet can go to the UMADAOP office, 215 N. Trimble Rd. between the hours of 11 am and 3 pm on Nov. 16.

To vote in the election, voters must be a member in good standing 30 days prior to this scheduled election.

Anyone who is interested in running for office or obtaining additional information about the upcoming election is invited to attend the general membership meeting on Sept. 16, at 6:30 pm. Monthly meetings are held at the UMADAOP office, 215 N. Trimble Rd. or contact the NAACP office at 419-522-9894.

Will Kepple named Education Fellow

Will Kepple of Mansfield is among nine Ohio Wesleyan University students selected as a 2024-'25 Education Fellow. Kepple plans to study Adolescence to Young Adult Education. The four-year fellowships are awarded each fall by Ohio Wesleyan's Department of Education to first-year students with a high potential for success at the university and a stated interest in teaching at the preschool, elementary, middle or high school level.

The fellows also are selected in recognition of having demonstrated both leadership in high school and a passion for making the world better by educating its future citizens.

The benefits of being named an Education Fellow include receiving an OWU scholarship, mentoring from both upper-level Education Fellows and professors, and an invitation to participate in forums, field trips and other career-related events.

Lacee Bethea: From Lexington soccer to Bowling Green to professional in Portugal

By Kris Leiter

Welcome back to another edition of our Hometown Hero Series. This article will focus on Lexington Soccer phenom Lacee Bethea, a 2020 graduate of Lexington High School. Lacee just recently entered the professional sport of soccer in Portugal.

It was a blessing to interview this young lady and we had some good laughs while I learned much more about the game of soccer, a sport that has always intrigued me. Technology made the interview possible as she is almost 4,000 miles away.

I always thought it would be cool covering a sporting event in another country. The only other country I have graced in my lifetime was Canada.

Lacee was a soccer phenom for the Minutemen and lettered all four years of high school. She played for long-time Lexington coach Buck Morton. Morton has been synonymous with Lexington sports as far as I can remember.

While still in high school, Lacee also played for the Ohio Premiere traveling club from 2018 to 2020.

Her accolades speak for themselves as a four-time First Team All OCC; three-time First Team All Ohio District; First Team All Ohio 2019; and sixty goals and 33 assists for career at Lexington and tied school record for assists.

She played for Columbus Eagles FC: WPSL- in the 2022 season. She was Ohio Valley Conference First Team as a forward WPSL in 2023.

She won the Ohio Valley Conference Championship while playing at Bowling Green State University (2020-'23).

She was a 2020 and 2021 MAC Champion in the regular season and tournament and had two NCAA appearances. She was MAC MVP in 2021 and a member of the MAC All-Tournament team in 2021. She was part of National United Soccer Coaches' Team Of The Week 2021 and was named most improved player at BGSU by coaches and teammates.

Well, that's quite a résumé! I can't even imagine the amount of time, dedication and practice that athletes put into their given sport. For fans who watch a sports match, these athletes make it look so easy. I was curious with all those accolades, who the influential people are in her life that helped her achieve her skills and work ethic.

Lacee says, "My mom, Michelle Bethea, and my dad, Chioke Bradley, had a lot to do with my upbringing. My dad made me practice with the Mansfield Senior football team when I was growing up." My mom would drive me to practices all days of the week and hours on end."

"My brothers, Chioke, Myles, Keontez and Mekhi Bradely, were very influential as well in my career choice. My brother Myles attended Bowling Green with me to play football, which was an experience I will never forget."

"Also, all of my brothers have been blessed to play Division I sports with Keontez playing at Arizona State and Mekhi, who is currently wrestling at Cleveland State University."

"We have been blessed in our family as well with my uncle, Keontez, currently playing for Arizona State as a sophomore."

I'm amazed by the talent we have right here in the Richland County area.

As I chatted with Lacee, in what was my first international interview, I remembered the dial-up world of America Online and the announcement of "You've got mail." Things are so much easier now.

I was intrigued as I chatted with Lacee about her journey as a professional soccer player. Thank goodness for Lacee having a lot of patience. I always learn something new every time I chat with people.

I've heard of Portugal, but Lacee brought me up to speed on the culture, lifestyle and her soccer career.

Portugal borders the country of Spain, with Spain being to the right. In approximate size comparison, it would be close to the state of Indiana. It's approximately a 3,800-mile flight from Lacee's hometown of Lexington.

So, how does a young lady from the quaint village of Lexington, with just under 5,000 people, end up playing for an international team.

"When I was playing at Bowling Green, I figure if I wanted to play professionally, I thought it would be a good idea to start looking for an agent. So, I created a player profile, as well as posting my information on the job seeking-platform Linked-In with my video."

"On my birthday, I received a call from my agent and he told me about an offer from Club de Albergaria. I was so excited and thought this must be good luck!"

"In Portugal, there are three divisions; my team is in the first division. This is similar to college sports in the United States. The only difference is at the end of the season, the lowest team in the first division plays the highest team in the second division and they battle for what they call 'regulation.' The team who wins the regulation game receives the spot in the first division."

"During the season, there is a game called a 'regulated game.' It matches the lowest placed Division I team, or 12th place team in Division I and the top team in Division II to play each other."

"It's kind of like a challenge match, to see if the top tier Division II team is more competitive, and if they are, they will swap into Division I."

So, I was curious as any sportswriter would be, how does the salary structure look?. So, as easy as it sounds, it's quite different than the United States.

Lacee says, "As for salary, our wages in women's soccer are actually determined by the men's soccer pay structure every year."

There can be challenges going from country to country, and Lacee chuckled as she told me her story just getting to Portugal. There are customs and checkpoints and sometimes you never know when a country may have government restrictions.

"When I was getting ready to go to Portugal to join my team, there were visa restrictions going on at that time, and I was in Finland visiting my boyfriend."

"So, I booked a flight from Finland back to the United States to apply for my visa. The government had then come to an agreement with the Federation that I did not actually need a visa any longer, but I would only need a residence permit."

"I was able to spend one more week with my family before I flew to Portugal and had to say goodbye to everyone again."

So, I asked her about her teammates, that come from different countries.

"We have 23 players and there are players from countries such as Canada, Germany and of course Portugal."

"As for the game itself, there are 11 players on the field, like American football."

"The United States is the only country in the world that actually uses the word soccer. Other countries call it by what it's true origin is from Spain, football."

As for the style of play, it actually differs from the United States. "The United States plays a more tactical style, utilizing more plays and diagramed plays with strategy. The European-style is focused more on the technical aspect with footwork and juggling as the primary focus.”

So, since I’m also a foodie, I asked Lacey about her meals. We got to eat, right?

“The food here would be Brazilian cuisine, with meat as the primary entrée and then fries and rice are served with every meal...as in EVERY meal. I miss places like the Texas Roadhouse.”

I asked Lacey what advice she would give to anyone wanting to pursue a career in sports.

“Market yourself a lot. Attend camps if you are able. There are a lot of people in the professional ranks who attend these camps. I went to the Kent State college combined camp. There were 20 different Division I colleges representatives in attendance. It’s intense for eight hours.”

“I ended up going to Bowling Green, as they had an offer I couldn’t refuse. Weigh your options. Don’t always take the first offer. Sit down and look over all the data before you commit. They will be honest with you and tell you where you stand in terms of skill sets.”

“Confer with your coaches to get good advice on going to the next level. Utilize social media such as Linked-In and YouTube. Create a player profile and send it out. Exposure is so important in getting people to see you.”

You can watch Lacey’s games this season on Canal 11...it’s free.
